FUNERAL CORTEGE — Massed ranks of Marin County's law officers turned out in this morning's tribute to slain Judge Harold J. Haley. The funeral procession also included long lines of patrol cars, as well as autos of county and cities' dignitaries. Some 60 uniformed officers marched in San Rafael preceding the hearse which carried Haley's casket to the church for Requiem Mass.

'MAN AMONG MEN'

Haley Praised By Man He Jailed

Judge Harold J. Haley today was described as a "man among men" by a San Anselmo man who had been sentenced to a year in jail by Judge Haley.

Neils H. Hansen, 48, of 404 San Francisco Boulevard, in a letter to the Independent-Journal, said he "was able to see the kindness in Judge Haley's eyes even as he pronounced my sentence."

Hansen said in his letter that at the time he stood before the judge for sentencing, the judge "could have destroyed me as a human being . . . Instead, he had a way of letting one know that he cared, and his caring gave me strength."

Hansen stabbed two men during a tavern scuffle in 1968. Judge Haley sentenced him to state prison, but suspended the sentence and placed him on five years of probation and a year in jail.

Hansen described the judge's death as a "very personal loss. I wanted so much to prove to him that his judgment was sound" for not imposing a prison sentence.

"He was kind," Hansen said, "He beat me emotionally on my backside with a two-by-four but he smiled at me.

"Tough as he tried to be, he couldn't hide the twinkle of kind understanding in his big heart.

"I haven't looked at the records," Hansen said, "but I suppose he sent many men to prison. But if those men didn't understand and see the twinkle of kindness, they must have been blind because I know men and Judge Haley was a man among men."

Hansen, who signed his letter "a once upon a time criminal," said he had thought of Judge Haley many times since his day in court. "I don't see his name on a courtroom door, but in the ledger of my heart."

Any man up for sentencing, if he ever felt kindness himself, Hansen said, "could look into Judge Haley's eyes as he pounded the gavel and get down on his knees and say 'thanks . . . Your Honor.'

"If ever a man deserved that title . . . it was His Honor, Judge Haley."

Several Weeks Needed To Choose New Judge

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Appointment of a successor to Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court will take from four to six weeks, Gov. Ronald Reagan's office reported today.

Prospective candidates will be screened by a committee of Marin citizens, with its recommendations made to the governor, his staff said.

Such committees, under the system adopted by Reagan, usually include three persons, a judge, an attorney selected by the local bar, and a lay member. The membership of such committees is not disclosed.

Municipal judges are one traditional source of candidates for superior court, but this source appeared to be ruled out this time for two reasons.

First, only one incumbent municipal judge is staying on the bench. He is Peter Allen Smith, a Democrat. Governor Reagan has appointed mostly Republicans as judges, which would diminish Judge Smith's candidacy if he were interested in the job.

Political party affiliation, of course, is not the only consideration. Judge Haley, for example, a Republican, was appointed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a Democrat.

The second barrier to Judge Smith's appointment would be that his appointment would leave all three lower court positions filled with freshmen judges.

Nixon Urges Congress Action To Avert Peril Of 'Ecology Disaster'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Warning of possible "ecological disaster," President Nixon sent Congress an unprecedented report today calling for sweeping changes in American life to protect mankind against its own assaults on the land, air and water.

"We must seek nothing less than a basic reform in the way our society looks at problems and makes decisions," Nixon said in his message forwarding the 326-page report by the White House Council on Environmental Quality. "...In dealing with the environment we must learn not how to master nature but how to master ourselves, our institutions,and our technology."

The report did not predict doom. Nor did it single out scapegoats or propose panaceas. The solutions it suggested were within the framework of American capitalism, and the report specifically rejected the theory that economic growth must stop if the environment is to be saved.

But it said Americans—6 per cent of the world's population consuming 40 per cent of its resources and energy—must begin paying the price of their wants and wastes. Through governmental programing, policies and incentives, the report said, long-term environmental considerations must be weighed in decisions affecting the location of a person's home, his means of transport and even the size of his family.

"Paying taxes and falling back on government programs is not enough," the council said. "People may ultimately have to forego some conveniences and pay higher prices for some goods and services." It said even the price of water may have to increase so waste can be discouraged.

The report went far beyond pollution of the air and water. Warning that unchecked population growth crowds cities and compounds pollution problems, the council suggested steps to

Mourners Line Up, Pay Haley Tribute

Law Officers Form Path For Cortege

By C. P. McCARTHY

Flowers, guitar music and a priest speaking words of joy contrasted today with the quiet of the mourners at the funeral for Judge Harold J. Haley.

Rev. John P. Tierney, pastor of St. Sylvester's Catholic Church, urged hundreds of persons who had jammed inside for a funeral Mass of the Resurrection to rejoice with Judge Haley "on his entrance into eternal life."

CORTEGE FORMS

The funeral cortege formed at Keaton's Mortuary at Fifth Avenue and E Street in San Rafael where dozens of law enforcement officers stood in two lines to salute Judge Haley as the casket was carried to the hearse.

The bells in the tower of the First Presbyterian Church, across the street from Keaton's, tolled as the hearse pulled slowly away — preceded down Fifth Avenue by a line of 25 police cars, their flashing red lights emphasizing the silence of their sirens.

In a limousine behind the hearse rode Judge Haley's wife, Gertrude, and his three daughters, Patricia Davis, Carol Atkinson and Joan Fennone.

ARMED POLICEMAN

A policeman armed with a rifle stood watch atop San Rafael City Hall on Fifth Avenue, which was closed to traffic this morning until the funeral procession had passed.

Judge Haley's parish church in Peacock Gap was already crowded as the hearse and line of cars made their way out San Pedro road, through the hills and along the bay the Judge had known all his life.

The casket was met at the door of the church by Father Tierney, and Reverends Thomas I. Kennedy, pastor of St. Raphael's Church, and John J. O'Connor, director of Catholic Social Services in Marin.

Judge Haley was a longtime parishioner of St. Raphael's.

Among those already in the church as the casket arrived were San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, Judge Joseph A. Ralligan of the State Court of Appeals in San Francisco and

PROBE CONTINUES

Some Questions Still Unanswered

Questions to be answered are: Whether Judge Haley would have died if the gunmen had been allowed to make their getaway with hostages; if lack of communication between San Quentin guards manning a roadblock and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos's office affected the case; the effect of San Quentin policy never to let convicts loose on the community even with hostages; who fired the first shot?

Sheriff's Inspector Ronald Retano is in charge of the overall investigation; he was in the field on the case following Judge Haley's funeral today.

Two key surviving participants, Asst. Dist. Atty. Gary Thomas, a hostage, and Ruchell Magee, one of the convicts in the escape plot, are still hospitalized.

Thomas was in "fair" condition today at Marin General Hospital, "considerably better than he was, but not out of the woods yet," according to his surgeon, Dr. Bradford Simmons. Thomas' spine was severed by a bullet; he is permanently paralyzed from the waist down.

Magee was moved under heavy guard yesterday from Marin General Hospital to the San Quentin prison hospital, where he is in fair condition.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park today reiterated his opinion that Judge Haley was as good as dead the minute three convicts and an outside accomplice took over the courtroom Friday.

"I'm almost certain the two men (Haley and Thomas) would have been executed," Park said, but he was less certain of the fate of three women hostages, Maria Elena Graham of San Rafael, Joyce Rodoni of Point Rayes Station and Joyce Wittmer of Mill Valley.

The four men who took the hostages were James D. McClain, 37, San Quentin inmate on trial for a prison guard's stabbing; William A. Christmas, 27; Ruchell Magee, 31 — both fellow inmates and witnesses in McClain's trial, and an outside accomplice, Jonathan P. Jackson, 17, of Pasadena.

McClain, Christmas and Jackson died in the shoot-out. Thomas, whose wife Maureen is Judge Haley's niece, has told officials he grabbed a gun inside the escape van and shot three of the plotters.

The van's stopping by a roadblock manned by prison guards apparently was the fault of a communications breakdown.

Peruvian Airliner Crashes, Killing 49 U.S. Students

CUZCO, Peru (UPI)—A Peruvian airliner crashed and exploded in the Andes Sunday, killing 49 U.S. high school students and 52 other persons. There was one survivor.

The plane had just taken off from the tourist city of Cuzco when the pilot reported engine trouble,

Among the dead were high school students from throughout the United States who arrived in Peru a month ago under sponsorship of International Fellowship, Inc., a cultural exchange organization of Buffalo, N.Y.

The students were returning to Lima from Cuzco after visiting one of South America's most dramatic tourist sights, the ruins of Macchu Picchu, the ancient mountain top capital of the Inca civilization outside Cuzco, 365 miles southeast of Lima.

The pilot of the Lockheed Electra propjet of LANSA Airlines radioed Cuzco airport that he was having trouble with one of the four engines and was returning to Cuzco.

The plane apparently lost altitude as it made a turn and smashed into a hill near the village of San Jeronimo, 11 miles from Cuzco. It exploded and burst into flames.

Juan Loo, a student pilot, survived. He was found in a tree, critically injured.

It was the worst air crash in Peruvian history. The worst previous crash had been that of a Brazilian Varig jet that crashed otside Lima Nov. 27, 1962, killing 93 persons.

LANSA said 100 persons were aboard the plane, 92 passengers and eight crewmen.

Indian potato farmers and government national guards men gathered bodies from the rocky hillsides of the Andes today and a Peruvian government Civil Aeronautics investigation team flew to Cuzco.

Witnesses said the bodies and wreckage were scattered for 600 yards and most of the bodies were badly burned. Bodies of some students were clad in brightly-colored ponchos and other clothing bought as mementos of the trip.

The Minstry of Transport said the crash occurred at 2:46 p.m. (3:46 p.m. EDT).

The American students had been studying Spanish in Lima schools and made the trip to Cuzco to visit Macchu Picchu. They had been staying in Peruvian homes while in Lima and were scheduled to return to the United States Sept. 2. They were part of a group of 120 American students in Peru in connection with the program. Not all made the trip to Cuzco.

The American students had arrived in Cuzco Thursday and on Friday they took a four-hour train trip to the ruins of Macchu Picchu, outside Cuzco, an 11,270-foot high city where Indians still herd llamas through the streets.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Against Mergers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., warning of a breakdown in the nation's transportation system, called today for suspension of all railroad mergers and action to stop the trend toward transportation conglomerates.

The chairman of the Senate Antitrust subcommittee urged the Interstate Commerce Committee to "suspend all railroad merger proceedings except in cases of extreme financial emergency." He said the ICC should recommend dissolving the merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads as a long-term solution to the bankrupt Penn Central's financial crisis.

Travel Curbed

MOSCOW (UPI) — Authorities imposed travel restrictions and antiepidemic measures today because of a cholera threat in the Soviet Union's southern regions.

The Health Ministry informed western embassies that a number of major cities from Odessa to Baku were closed to tourist travel.

Performers Call Disneyland Strike

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — About 20 members of the American Guiid of Variety Artists maintained a weekend picket line in front of Disneyland to support demands for pay raises from the "Magic Kingdom."

Penny Singleton, AGVA president, said the group had not heard from management. Miss Singleton, a former actress who played Blondie in the Dagwood and Blondie movies, said the walkout was for "decent livable salaries."

The strike was called Saturday after two-month-old contract negotiations broke down Friday. A Disneyland spokesman said the pickets affected certain live shows but had no impact on the park's operating hours or other attractions.

Trust Fund

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Philanthropist John Hay Whitney has estblished a $15 million trust fund to finance new housing units at Yale University.

The university said it is one of the largest donations ever made by an individual to Yale.

The gift, Yale said, would help ease overcrowded conditions in the school's resident colleges and relieve the pressure on private housing in New Haven resulting from the admission of women last year. The fund will finance resident units for some 600 men and women undergraduates.

Kunstler Booked

TORONTO (UPI) — Chicago Seven lawyer William Kunstler was booked on assault charges stemming from an earlier appearance as he arrived here Sunday to deliver a speech.

Kunstler was released on a $500 bond on his own recognizance and was to appear in court today.

Three assault charges were placed against the lawyer by two members of the rightwing Edmond Burke Society after a fracas broke out during his appearance June 22 at the University of Toronto.

Kunstler Sunday night, after his arrest, said the reason he returned to Toronto to face the charges was that by not doing so other speakers and audiences might feel intimidated in the future.

Suspect Guarded In Oakland Killing

OAKLAND (UPI) — Police maintained a hospital watch today on a man they say shot and killed Mrs. Dorothy Bridges, 47, Oakland's first female high school principal.

The body of Mrs. Bridge, who became Castlemont High School's principal July 9, was found Saturday in her backyard.

Fugitive Returned In Homicide Case

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Warren Marchialetti, 19, Los Angeles, was returned here from Las Vegas, Nev., after authorities who arrested him on a burglary charge learned he was wanted in Los Angeles in connection with a homicide.

Marchialetti, arrested Sunday on the burglary charge, was booked in city jail. Police said it was discovered Marchialetti was beng siought by Los Angeles police in connection with the slaying of Robert Dumas of North Hollywood last July 31.

The suspect waived extradition Friday.

Cambodians Battling Cong In Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Cambodian defenders battled Viet Cong infiltrators today two miles from downtown Phnom Penh in the Communists' closest penetration to the capital yet. The din of battle awoke the city before dawn.

Field reports from Saigon said Viet Cong and North Vietnamese units shelled 25 Allied installations overnight and ground fighting, plane crashes and mine and booby trap explosions killed -0 Americans and wounded 41.

It was the heaviest one day casualty toll in more than two weeks.

Spokesmen said U. S. troop strength in Vietnam dropped by 350 men last week to 406,350 as part of the Nixon administration's 50,000-man withdrawal to be completed by Oct. 16.

Three Americans were killed today when an Air Force C123 cargo plane crashed into the South China Sea as it came in for a landing at Cam Ranh Bay, 185 miles northeast of Saigon.

Cambodian field commanders said today the defenders of Phnom Penh engaged the Communist troops shortly before midnight a half mile from the far end of a bridge across the Tonle Sap River into downtown Phnom Penh. The span is 1-1-2 miles from the city's center.

A series of explosions rattled windows and caused buildings in the capital to tremble shortly after 11 p.m. Sunday night. Residents ran onto balconies and shouted to passersby, asking whether the city was under bombardment.

Newsmen werre barred from crossing the bridge but an officer in a jeep returning from the scene of the fighting said Cambodian Marines were firing on the infiltrators with 75mm recoilless rifles a half-mile away.

It was the second time in four days Communist troops had attacked government positions near the capital. In action late last week, an estimated 300 Communist troops attacked Cambodian defensive positions four miles from the center of Phnom Penh.

The Cambodian command said previous defeats of the infiltrators confirmed that Phnom Penh's defenses were alert and adequate. Nevertheless, security was tightened. Government checkpoints screened traffic at all major intersections and travel near Mekong River docks was prohibited.

Train Wreck In Spain Kills 38, Hurts 183

BILBAO, Spain (UPI) — A train packed with holidaymakkers on the way home from the beach smashed head-on into an empty train near Bilbao in northern Spain Sunday night, killing nearly 40 persons.

Police said 38 bodies had been spotted or recovered from the wreckage and 183 persons were injured.

Rescuers used blow torches and crowbars today to pry through the wreckage in search of more victims.

A railway spokesman said the wreck was apparently caused by a signalman accidentally switching the empty train onto the track used by the loaded one. The collision occurred near a tunnel slightly more than a mile from the Plencia train station just after 8 p.m.

Volunteer worker Domingo Murcia said it looked like "Dante's Inferno."

There were several children among the dead, and confusion everywhere," Murcia said. "The trains were nothing but a mountain of junk."

Hitler Regarded Stalin Highly, Ex-Nazi Says

NEW YORK (UPI)—Adolf Hitler regarded Josef Stalin as the best man to handle the Russians and had the Nazis won the war, Stalin may have been kept on as leader of the Soviet people, according to one of Hitler's closest confidants.

"In general, he (Hitler) regarded Stalin as a kind of colleague," says Albert Speer, Hitler's architect and later his Minister of Armaments and War Production.

In his book, Inside The Third Reich (MacMillan), published this month, Speed writes that Hitler felt more and more respect for Stalin as the war ground on.

Hitler remarked "with jesting tone of voice that it would be best, after a victory over Russia, to entrust the administration of the country to Stalin, under German hegemony, of course, since he was the best imaginable man to handle the Russians," Speer writes.

"Did Hitler think that his real enemy lay in the west?" the author asks. "Did he feel solidarity with, let alone sympathy for, Stalin's regime? I recall a good many earlier remarks of his which could possibly be interpreted in that sense and which might be seen as the motivation for his conduct at this time."

—Herman Goering, a dope addict and a glutton who describes Hitler's dinner menu as "too rotten for my taste."

—Heinrich Himmler, the SS chief who thought the Allies would demand his services as police chief of Germany once they won the war.

Speer, who was sentenced to 20 years in prison for his part in the building of the Nazi war machine, recalls that Hitler once told him: "There are two possibilities for me: To win through with my plans or to fail. If I win, I shall be one of the greatest men in history. If I fail, I shall be condemned, despised and damned."

Alioto Greets Visiting Congolese President

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — President Joseph Desire Mobutu of the Congo was greeted Friday by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto and other dignitaries as he arrived for a brief visit.

Mobutu, 39, and his wife were taken by motorcade to the St. Francis Hotel, where he met during the afternoon with executives of Kaiser Industries.

Rock Festival Ends Early In Pot Smog

GOOSE LAKE, Mich. (UPI) —The Goose Lake rock festival closed early today with final amplifier blasts piercing the marijuana fog and last warnings to the crowd of about 200,000 to avoid police on the way home.

"Don't take your dope with you, the police are waiting outside," announcers urged the crowd. "Share it."

The crowd cheered and across the darkened amphitheater youths leaped beside huge bonfires, twirled sparklers, yelled and threw rockets and fire crackers into the air.

Some of the young people had left for their Midwest and Canadian homes earlier in the day. But most spread their tarps and sleeping bags to end the sun and drug-drenched festival with a third night of rock music.

They left behind mounds of empty beer and pop cans, wine bottles, popsicle sticks, watermelon rinds and other debris. Garbage pickup was provided by the park.

Governors Reject Road Fund Power

LAKE OF THE OZARKS, Mo. (UPI) — The National Governors conference today rejected a plan to give states more power over federal transportation money.

The governors voted 23-12 to strip trat proposal from the report of its transportation committee, headed by Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington.

Fears were expressed by some governors that their states would lose highway construction money to mass transit systems.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe had endorsed the general language of the proposal and said no state would lose money. Instead, he said, some states might be allowed to spend more money for highways, if Congress went along with the idea and those states wanted to spend the money available for airports or mass transit on roads.

Evans said no state would lose money under the plan and that it would meet a fear that money now going into the highway trust fund, financed by gasoline taxes, might eventually be used for purposes other than transportation.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas offered a motion, which carried on a show of hands, to recommit that section of the report for further study and clarfiication.

Some governors grumbled today that a communications gap was developing between the states and the disciples of "new federalism" in the Nixon administration.

They may have felt snubbed. Neither President Nixon nor Vce President Spiro T. Agnew was expected to appear at the 62nd annual national governors' conference which opened Sunday at this central Missouri lake resort.

Both addressed the 1969 conference to extoll the virtues of the new federalism program, which the President had outlined a month earlier with its proposals for sharing federal revenue with the states without strings on its use, for welfare reform and for job training.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri, a Democrat, told a news conference Sunday that Agnew, who first was named by Nixon to deal with the governors, apparently had been moved to new assignments. He said Nils Boe, director of the White House Office of Intergovernmental Relations and former governor of South Dakota, lacked the power of men who dealt with the governors during the Johnson administrations.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado, conference chairman and a Republican, said he did not agree completely about difficulties in reaching the administration. But he did say there was "difficulty in structure" but that the governors' conference also was weak in its relations with Congress.

One senior Republican said privately Boe did not speak with the authority of three officials who represented the Johnson administration in relations with the states. The three were Buford Ellington, Price Daniel and Farris Bryant, all former governors when they served as directors of what is now the Office of Emergency Management.

"But I can't call the vice president of the United States every time I have a problem involving the Department of Health, Education and Welfare," this Republican governor said.

Speculation was heard at the conference that the Nixon administration may want to create a new mechanism for dealing with relations between the state and national governments.

Hijack Fear Means Extra Dulles Stop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A New York to San Juan airliner with 120 aboard made an unscheduled stop of more than an hour at Dulles International Airport today when a 34-year-old passenger made a remark which raised fears of a hijacking.

The passenger, identified by the FBI as Angel DeVila Jr. of 1158 Colgate Ave., the Bronx, N.Y., was taken from the Eastern Airlines plane moments after it landed and questioned by FBI agents. (Eastern spelled his last name with two L's). No charges apparently were placed against him immediately.

He was not armed. According to an Eastern spokesman, a stewardess on flight 923 overheard him make several remarks about Cuba and reported to the pilot.

It was the pilot's decision to divert to Dulles, the spokesman said.

According to an official of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), the pilot reported to the traffic control center that the man was quoted as saying the plane "would never make their destination."

There were 112 passengers and a crew of eight aboard the airliner when the episode began over the Atlantic.

20 U.S. Students Safe After Czech Incident

SCHWANDORF, Germany (UPI)—Twenty American high school students returned to their German studies today after being involved in a weekend border incident.

The students, living with families in this Bavarian village near the Czechoslovak border for a four week intensive course in the German language, were detained a little more than 11 hours by Czech border guards when they unknowingly strayed across the frontier along with their tour leader and three West Germans at about 5 p.m. Saturday.

The group, affiliated with "Phoenix International Classrooms Incorporated," were turned over to Bavarian border police at 4:15 a.m. Sunday at a road crossing point at Warzenried, a few miles distant from the main West German-Czechoslovak border check point of Furth-Im-Wald.

News of the border incident spread fears among the students' parents back home. A U.S. consulate spokesman in Munich reported calls from worried parents in Denver and Minneapolis at 4 a.m. Sunday.

But the students passed over the incident lightly and one of them described it as "kind of fun."

The student, John R. Mahoney, 18, of Robbinsdale, Minn., said from the home of his Schwandorf hosts the group did not know the edge of a wood marked the border with Czechoslovakia and a white warning sign had been knocked over and therefore was not noticed by the group.

"We thought the border was the big barbed wire fence. We walked up and looked at it but we never went too close," Mahoney said.

He said on their way back "two soldiers came up to us. We didn't understand what they were saying but they wanted us to go with them."

He said the soldiers took them to an outpost and then took their names, addresses and birthdates. Mahoney said the guards were "very nice. They gave us little souvenirs and built us a fire and kept gathering wood to put on it. I thought it was kind of fun."

Ethnic Relations Seminar Slated

A special College of Marin noncredit seminar, Ethnic Relations in Industry, to be taught by Robert A. Clark, will be offered on Tuesday nights from 7 to 10 p.m. for 12 weeks¼ beginning Sept. 22.

Clark, assistant placement and financial aids officer at the college, said that enrollment for the class, in which ethnic employment issues will be analyzed, will be limited to 10 students and 10 employers.

Bill Is Added To Assembly Tax Package

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — In an effort to get Gov. Ronald Reagan's stalled tax program moving again, Assembly floor managers have added a third bill to the package.

With AB 1001 stopped in the Senate for lack of one vote, and AB 1000 awaiting technical approval in the Assembly, a dormant bill which has already passed the Senate was revived, to delay the effective date of the change the amount of withholding-tax "forgiveness" contained in the other bills.

The original package had Aug. 1 as the date the sales tax increase would go into effect, and the newly-revived bill changes it to Sept. 1.

This represents a difference of about $40 million in revenues, which would throw the whole package out of balance.

To overcome this, the bill would also reduce the forgiveness feature under witholding by $40 million, from $435 million to $395 million.

California Reports Nation's Hot Spots

NEW YORK (UPI)—The highest temperature reported Friday by the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Hawaii and Alaska, was 117 degrees at Blythe, Imperial and Thermal, Calif.

Assembly Committee Again Kills Bill Against Emissions

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — For the second year in a row, the Assembly Transportation Committee killed a Senate bill intended to rule the internal combustion engine off California highways.

The bill, SB 66 by Sen. Nicholas Petris, D-Oakland, went a step further than his last year's bill, which referred specifically to the internal engines that power approximately 12 million vehicles owned and driven by Californians.

SB 66 would have ruled off the road by 1975 any engine that put any emissions of any kind in any quantity into the atmosphere.

The Air Resources Board opposed the measure, and its spokesman said the effect of SB 66 would be to discourage research into reducing emissions from conventional engines as well as into steam, gas turbine and natural gas engines.

He said it would limit propulsive power to electric motors, but another witness countered that even the batteries that power electric motors give off emissions and they too would be banned by the bill.

Mourners In Long Line To Pay Haley Tribute

The archbishop gave absolution of sins following the Mass.

The police departments of every Marin city were represented, as were the Marin County Sheriff's office, California Highway Patrol, San Quentin guards, Alameda police and Sacramento sheriff's deputies.

The three priests, dressed in white robes of joy, led the casket up the center aisle of the church and the service began.

During the Mass, Father Tierney described the slain judge as a man "who held Christ first in everything he did" and as a man "who listened attentively to the voice of truth."

In a biblical reference the priest spoke of "Harold, the rare person, the rare man, who could say 'Yes, Master, I believe.' "

Father Tierney said the "festive, even triumphal tone" of the Mass's liturgy did not drown out the voice of Judge Haley; the flowers and candles surrounding the altar did not block the sight of Judge Haley, and the crowd packed into the church did not erase the memory of Judge Haley praying alone after Mass.

The judge was described by the priest as a man who respected mankind, who was "kind and careful" not to offend. He quoted the judge's last recorded words, "Remember, there are human lives at stake."

prison official Park said. The guard's car radios use a different frequency than the sheriff's department.

Sheriff Mountanos said he had ordered his men to allow the gunmen to escape with the hostages, with a tail of unmarked deputies' cars.

Park explained that prison guards are indoctrinated never to let prisoners escape with hostages, for two reasons:

"Our obligation in a prison setting is not to allow" dangerous men to escape into the community, and "if you let a hostage deal" succeed, "you're going to have to deal with it forever more."

"When our officers report to an outside agency" as on Friday, "they are under command of the outside agency," Park said. But if — as they reported after Friday's violence — they get no orders to the contrary, the guards are trained to follow their standard procedures.

Park said, "as far as I'm concerned," the prison guard did not fire the first shot. But he noted many conflicting eyewitness accounts.

Exact sequence of the shooting — whether the gunmen triggered the shotgun against Judge Haley's head first, whether San Quentin guard John Wells fired first to halt the van, still are being straightened out in Retano's investigation.

That Judge Haley died and not one of two other superior court judge's was the result of the play of fortune.

The superior court clerk said today that the case was to have been handled by Judge E. Warren McGuire, but he was too busy. Next in line was Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, but he was on vacation. The fateful case fell to Judge Haley.

Two Juveniles Returned To Hall

Two Marin juvenile Hall escapees were returned to the center yesterday afternoon when a San Rafael woman spotted the pair in her yard and phoned police.

Police said they found Kenneth D. Brown, 15, of 9 Laurel Place, San Rafael, and Carl D. Anger, 15, of 81 Graceland Drive, San Rafael, in the backyard of the Joan Constance Erwin residence, 1440 Lincoln Avenue.

Officials at the center said Brown escaped Aug. 1 from the hall's preplacement section and Anger ran from a counselor Saturday while on a garbage detail outside the center.

Both will face hearings in juvenile court for the escapes.

Novatan Hurt In Fall Off Roof In Petaluma

Michael Weigner, 30, of 1690 Hill Road, Novato, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Hillcrest Hospital with injuries suffered is a fall from a roof Friday.

The Petaluma fire department said Weiger fell from a roof at 811 Stony Point Road north of Petaluma when he was struck by a sliding five-gallon bucket.

Panel Vetoes English Pub Zoning Plea

Commercial zoning for an English pub at the entrance to Muir Beach lost by a 3-to-2 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission today.

Charles Felix, who owns a half-acre parcel at the corner of Shoreline Highway and Pacific Way, wanted to build a small English-pub type of restaurant. "It will be a tudor type of house, with parking among the trees," said Felix.

But he met an almost solid opposition from residents of the Beach community of 170. Mrs. J. Paul Oppenheim of Muir Beach said the residents met about three weeks ago and opposed any type of commercial enterprise. She was backed by three other speakers and four who wrote letters, all opposing commercial zoning.

Commissioner Eugene R. Trombley moved for approval, backed by John F. West. West explained that commercial will come eventually and it is better to plan a commercail zone now than "Let it develop willy nilly." Furthermore, said West, planned commercial zoning allows strict control over what type of enterprise will be permitted.

However, they were outvoted by Hugh Dougherty, Edward Hageman and Jack G. Nixon.

"Cars are already illegally parked on Shoreline Highway," said Dougherty. "Because of the small size of the community, there is no reason that commercial is necessary."

Both chairman Walter F. Freitas and commissioner Margaret B. Azevedo were absent this morning. Nixon served as chairman.

Panels To Discuss Park Land Swap

Members of Mill Valley's parks and recreation and planning commissions will meet at Sycamore Park at 7:30 p.m. today to inspect the property which the city is considering trading for the park.

Trans-Marin Properties had proposed swapping about an acre of the park for a slightly larger parcel near La Goma Street and Miller Avenue. The firm would build an apartment development on the former parkland.

Commissioners will meet at 8 p.m. at City Hall to discuss the trade and a preliminary feasibility study of the city's small craft harbor.

Directors of the Tiburon Sanitary District will hold a specal meeting tonight to consider a resolution opposing the district's inclusion in an improvement district being formed by the Marin Municipal Water District to finance a pre-engineering study of waste disposal in Southern Marin.

Secretary Robert A. Sterling said the meeting will take place at 6:30 p.m. at the treatment plant at Trestle Glen and Tiburon boulevards.

Two-Panel Parley To Discuss Creek Plans

The Bel Marin Keys Community Services District board will meet with county and flood control representatives at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday to discuss improvements to Novato Creek.

COURT

Ernest C. Zunino and Robert A. Smallman are opposing one another in the November general election for the seat being vacated by Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.

And Judge Hadden W. Roth has resigned, effective on Sept. 1, opening the possibility that Reagan will appoint one of the two candidates to Roth's position so the other can run unopposed in November.

The Governor's office noted today that an appointment to replace Roth would not be announced until after Roth has left the bench.

Quentin Inmate Dies Of Brain Hemorrhage

Plans Begun On Mideast Peace Talks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt met with top advisers in Cairo today to plan for peace talks with Israeli, and a cease-fire stilled guns on major Arab-Israeli fronts despite a Palestine guerrilla call for "a second Vietnam" against the Jewish state.

There was guarded optimism that peace talks under the auspices of U. N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring could begin soon. The time, place and level of representation remained to be worked out.

Israel's ambassador to the United States, Yitzhak Rabin, headed back to Washington from talks in Tel Aviv with Premier Golda Meir. He said he thought the details of the Jarring talks would be determined in the next few days.

Diplomatic sources have said that Foreign Minister Abba S. Eban may represent Israel. Nasser met in Cairo today with his foreign minister, Mahmoud Riad, and Mohammed Hassan El-Zayyat, Egypt's chief U. N. delegate.

Jarring worked at U. N. headquarters in New York, awaiting word from the Israelis and Arabs on how soon, where and at what level talks for peace can begin.

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union has rejected the idea of a big power Middle East arms embargo as part of the current Arab-Israeli peace effort, diplomatic sources said today.

The Russians said that an arms embargo—if at all—could not be considered by them before a political settlement is reached in the embattled Middle East region, the sources said.

The problem of halting the flow of arms to the belligerents in the Middle East has been one of the key issues in the past international efforts to scale down the fighting in the area and to force the contestants in the conflict to try to come to negotiated terms.

Guerrillas Kill U.S. Adviser In Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI)—The body of Dan Mitrione, a U. S. adviser to Uruguay's police was found today 10 days after he was kidnaped by the Tupamaro guerrilla organization that had demanded the release of all political prisoners in the country as ransom.

President Jorge Pacheco Areco, who had refused the ransom demands, responded to Mitrione's murder by asking Congress to give him dictatorial powers as a means of saving another American and a Brazilian diplomat, also kidnaped and held by the Tupamaros.

Congress was scheduled to meet this afternoon to act on Pacheco Areco's request, which would drastically alter the traditional social democracy of this smallest nation in South America.

The Tupamaros announced Saturday they would execute Mitrione because the government had not responded to the ransom demands, but there has been no further word on the other two kidnap victims—U. S. agriculture consultant Claude Fly and Brazilian Consul Aloysio Dias Gomide.

Police said Mitrione's body was found in the back of a stolen car parked on a Montevideo street. He had been bound, gagged and shot twice in the head, police said.

The Tupamaros announced their ransom demand a week ago after kidnaping Mitrone and the Brazilian on July 31. Fly was kidnaped last Friday. Police sources estimated the number of political prisoners in Uruguay at 150, most of them suspected members of the Tupamaro group.

An anonymous telephone caller told a Montevideo radio station Sunday afternoon that Mitrione was "executed" because the Uruguayan government refused to release all of its political prisoners — a number estimated 150 — as ransom.

The caller said the terrorists would kill the other two hostages unless Uruguay met the demands.

Mitrione and Dias Gomide, 41, were kidnaped July 31 and Fly, 65, was seized Friday.

Mitrione put up a struggle and was shot in the chest before he was finally subdued by 10 kidnapers.

ECOLOGY

"improve training and employment opportunities for women, opening up for them many acceptable roles other than rearing children."

The report called for national land use policies to replace fragmented local systems and curb exploitation, and national energy policies to stop pollution and preserve dwindling fuel supplies. It said industry must rely more on recycling old metals, paper and other products, and less on virgin production.

To stop automotive air pollution, the council called for faster development of mass transit systems, new low-emission types of car engines, and antipollution devices for used cars. To help cleanse the water, it said households and industries should pay for their wastes like they pay for utilities.

Phosphates should be removed from detergents so lakes do not die, the council said. Noise standards should be developed for all federally supported or guaranteed construction. The age of the supersonic transport (SST) should await research on whether its noise harms man and whether its vapor trails might change the weather.

The council urged quick congressional passage of President Nixon's proposals to set quality standards for air and water, and said they must be vigorously enforced, particularly against industry. It also called for passage of other pending administration proposals including one to put environmental programs under a single new federal agency. It said government anti-pollution programs would cost billions, with the expense continuing as new problems arise.

"Many individuals cite selfish profit seekers for environmental degradation, rather than laying much of the blame where it belongs, to misplaced incentives in the economic system," the report said.

"...If there were a way to make the price structure shoulder these external costs—taxing the firm for the amount of discharge, for instance—then the price for the goods and services produced would reflect these costs...A price structure that took environmental degradation into account would cause a shift in prices, hence a shift in consumer preferences and to some extent, would discourage buying pollution-producing products."

It said taxes often have the same anti-environmental effects. Property taxes, the council said, encourage fast write-offs, not quality construction, and "other taxes encourage land speculation and the leapfrog development that has become the trademark of the urban-rural fringe."

In his message, Nixon said the report "represents the first time in the history of nations that a people has paused, consciously and systematically, to take comprehensive stock of the quality of its surroundings.

"It comes not a moment too soon," the President said. ". . . Man has been too cavalier in his relations with nature. Unless we arrest the depredations that have been inflicted so carelessly on our natural systems—which exist in an intricate set of balances—we face the prospect of ecological disaster.

"The hopeful side is that such a prospect can be avoided. . . There still are large gaps in our environmental knowledge, but a great deal of what needs to be done can be identified. Much of this has already been begun, and much more can be started quickly if we act now."

The Council on Environmental Quality was formed this year, and directed by law to submit an annual report on the condition of the environment. Today's report, 241 single-spaced pages plus 85 pages of appendixes, was its first.

JEAN H. LYNCH

Funeral arrangements were pending today for Jean Henrietta Lynch, 52, of San Francisco, found dead Friday at a rented house in Stinson Beach. Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley is in charge of arrangements.

Miss Lynch, who had been sunning herself on a mattress in the back yard, was discovered at 6:30 p.m. by neighbors who became worried after she failed to move for several hours.

Cause of death apparently was due to natural causes, according to the Marin County coroner's office which scheduled an autopsy.

A native of San Francisco, Miss Lynch had worked for the San Francisco Press Club as a hostess in the dining room for the last 12 years.

She is survived by her father, Willis R. Lynch of San Francisco, and a brother, Jack, of Concord.

U.S. Judicial System Needs Big Overhaul Job, Burger Tells Bar

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said today the federal judicial system must be overhauled to reduce crime and cope with new laws generated by changing times.

"Today I place this burden squarely on you, the leaders of the legal profession, in common with all judges," Burger told the opening session of the American Bar Association's 93rd annual convention.

The judicial process have remained essentially static for 200 years, he told the lawyers, and Thomas Jefferson would need only "a quick briefing" to step into a federal court today and do very well.

In the first speech ever given by a chief justice on the "state of the judiciary," Burger said "The most simple and obvious" way to deter criminal conduct is "to give the courts the manpower and tools, including the prosecutor and defense lawyers, to try criminal cases within 60 days after indictment and let us see what happens."

"I predict it would sharply reduce the crime rate," he said.

Congress, he continued, is inclined to enact new laws—to meet legitimate needs—without recognizing how the courts will be affected.

"This is dramatically illustrated in the current budget of the Office of Economic Opportunity," he said. "Congress has granted . . . $58 million for legal services. That $58 million is a sound commitment to an underprotected segment of our people whose rights have suffered because they could not afford a lawyer . . . We should applaud Congress for taking that step. But cases cannot always be settled by lawyers and the burden thus falls on the court."

The entire cost of the federal judicial system is $128 million, he told the lawyers, while one C5A aircraft costs $200 million.

The chief justice recommended an infusion of trained administrators or "traffic managers" to allow judges more time to hear cases.

"We are almost half a century behind the medical profession in this respect," he said.

Burger suggested creation of a judiciary council of perhaps six members, one-third from each government branch, to report to the President, Congress and the Judicial Conference on matters affecting the judiciary. The judicial conference is the administrative arm of the federal system. He said the council could, among others things, repot on the impact of proposed legislation on the courts; study proper allocation of jurisdiction between state and federal courts, and conditions whether federal courts should continue to try automobile collision cases when the parties live in different states.

Other recommendations:

—The entire structure of administering bankruptcy and receivership matters should be studied.

—The whole process of appeals should be re-examined to remove cumbersome and costly factors.

—Crime prevention should include the needs of the prison system and probation and parole services.

Burger said, "A sense of confidence in the courts is essential to maintain the fabric of ordered liberty for a free people."

This confidence could be destroyed, he said, if Americans come to believe inefficiency will delay and prevent a judgment, if people "who have long been exploited come to believe that courts cannot indicate their legal rights from fraud and over-reaching in the smaller transactions of daily life."

Confidence could also be destroyed, he concluded, if people come to believe that the law "cannot fulfill its primary function to protect them and their families in their homes and on the public streets."

Closed Bank's Official Says No Losses Suffered So Far

EATONTOWN, N.J. (UPI)—A vice president of a bank ordered closed by federal officials because of a missing $3 million said today the institution had not yet suffered a loss.

Eugene Landy, vice president and reportedly the largest stockholder of the Eatontown National Bank said bank president Douglas J. Schotte had opened accounts for 15 brokerage firms and signed cashier checks totaling $5 million issued to the firms payable by the bank.

But Landy said because the accounts were never authorized by the bank it could not be held responsible for the checks, dated between July 11 and Aug. 5.

All the brokerage firms involved were members of the New York Stock Exchange, he said.

The bank was ordered closed by federal officials Friday when an audit disclosed $3 million was missing.

Over the weekend 23 agents of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) moved into the bank to check records.

The FBI also has begun an investigation, apparently because of the possibility of embezzlement. But no charges have been made and police refused to discuss who, if anyone, was suspected.

The FDIC insures the 13,000 depositors of the bank to a limit of $20,000. George W. Hill, assistant chief of the FDIC, said instructions for depositors to get their money back would be released about midweek. Reimbursement was expected within 10 days of the bank's closing.

Depositors remained calm on hearing the news, although, of course, some expressed disappointment. "The people who are hurt most are those who deposit their checks and then write checks," Charlene Foster, 21, said. "They can't send those checks out now."

2 Sentenced To Watch Autopsies

SEATTLE (UPI)—You may be watching an autopsy if you drive recklessly in Judge Gil Duckworth's jurisdiction.

The judge, who has sentenced two youths to watch human autopsies because of bad driving, said Sunday he considers it an extreme measure.

But he added that ordinary fines and jail sentences are often ineffective.

One youth, so sentenced, said it made him ill but changed his mind about driving recklessly.

"I think it changed this young fellow's view considerably," said the judge who has been on the bench for 16 years.

Our Ancestors Really Ones To Blame For Creek Project

The Army Corps of Engineers flood control project on Corte Madera Creek in the vicinity of College of Marin campus is an ugly thing to behold.

Below Kent Avenue where the giant concrete flume is largely completed, it is a visually shocking successor to the rather picturesque, tree-lined tidal creek which it replaces.

Upstream, where construction activities are in full swing, the view is even more shocking. What only a few short months ago was a very beautiful tree-lined stream is now a barren tumble of upturned earth. No sign of the former beauty is left. It is as if some fairy-tale giant had run his plough through the area and just turned everything under.

IT IS EVEN MORE shocking to behold than the completed concrete flume downstream.

Who is to blame for all this?

It would be simple to blame the Corps of Engineers or the College District trustees, as some do. Simple, that is, in the dictionary sense of the word: "uneducated, mentally retarded, half-witted, credulous, naive, unsophisticated."

The plain fact is that the old natural creek, or what was left of it, just could not carry peak flows of water. Periodic floods were inevitable.

Every flood brought grave personal loss to those who live in areas subject to flooding.

THE HISTORY OF GRANTON Park in the past generation has been tragic. One family after another bought homes there because when they shopped the Marin market it seemed to be the most they could get for the money — which usually was all (or slightly more) than they could afford.

When the first flood came, what a shock! Some lost their automobiles. Most lost household articles. Yards were covered with a layer of mud and silt. Waters rose six or more feet above the street. It would be terrifying to the newcomer.

Then would come the realization that he had contracted to make payments on this flooded property for the next 20 or more years. What a prospect!

In such a situation there is only one thing to do. The damage must be repaired. Signs of the flood erased by cleaning and painting. In the spring the place goes on the market for whatever it will bring; it must be sold.

Someone else got a "bargain" and the cycle would start again.

Fortunately, the trustees of the College foresaw the growing need for additional property and began a program of acquiring Granton Park property whenever it became available. (When the College bought it with taxpayers' money, however, they never seemed to get much of a "bargain.")

WHEN THE CORTE MADERA Creek flood control project is complete, we should see no more floods in along the waterway, thank God.

But we will have forevermore to look at the unattractive concrete flume and be reminded of the beautiful tree-lined creek it replaced.

Why couldn't we have left nature alone?

The creek flooded naturally. In order to retain it in its natural state, it would have been necessary to forbid development anywhere in the whole bottom of the lower Ross Valley from Sir Francis Drake on the north to Magnolia and Kent avenues on the south.

Unfortunately, the Indians, the Spanish and the Mexicans had no planning restrictions when they occupied Marin. And the Anglos built here for 80 years before a planning commission was established.

In short, we should blame our ancestors and not the Corps of Engineers for the ugly concrete flume which is replacing picturesque Corte Madera Creek.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Reader Rips Cartoon On Farm Subsidies

On what is your reputaion based? Honesty of reporting? Impartiality? Fairness? If you subscribe to these tenents, then why did you publish the cartoon of the be-minked, diamond-studded farmer and his wife standing in front of a government building labeled $35 billion crop subsidy program?

What do you know about this program? Could you inform the readers of your paper about this bill from beginning to end in a succinct viable fashion? Please tell me on what you base your facts, your impartiality, your fairness? I and the rest of your readers have a right to know. We are paying the taxes to finance this program that you picture as being totally unworthy . . . if it is worthy, then it is so only for your contempt.

The farmer has to — by law of our country — take over half his land out of production. How would you like to take over half your equipment out of production? You would still have to pay taxes on all your equipment — and the taxes would rise and less and less equipment would be used to publish your paper. At mind you, at the same time, you would have to charge less for your paper instead of more. Ah! But this is not the case. YOU have EXPANDED! You have INCREASED THE PRICE OF YOUR PAPER! Why?

I recall my uncle having to sell his wheat for 25¢ per bushel in 1933. The price of wheat is approximately $1.08 per bushel. This is the equivalent of depression prices. Yet he has to pay more for labor and equipment. I know of no farmer who buys new tires. When he needs one for his tractor, he gets a re-tread for he can't afford to spend $200 for a new tire.

If farming is so all-fired profitable, then why are so many young men leaving the farms?

If subsidies did not exist, then a fantastic segment of our economy would collapse. The farmers I know— and I know many for I was born and reared in the heart of the wheat country — are barely keeping their heads above water.

Why don't you run a cartoon of the subisidies given the airlines, the shipping lines and the aircraft factories? Spread your cleverness and omniscience around a bit!

You descredit a segment of our working population — a segement that consumes more per capita than any other in the United States by a cheap tawdy inaccurate cartoon.

I don't think anyone minds the truth — but dammit — YOU LIE!!!

Planning Chairman In Fairfax Praised

We, as property owner, taxpayers and residents of Fairfax feel that the chirman of the planning commission is doing a fine job. In watching him in meetings, it is obvious that he is sincerely interested in the welfare of Fairfax and its residents.

Let's face it, up to now Fairfax has not been the jewel of Marin County! Any planning commission will make enemies no matter what its decisions.

Many of the unhappy complainers appear to be out-of-towners owning property here. Their only interest is money in their pockets. They don't have to live here.

Is our planning commissioner being used as a scapegoat for someone's political ambitions? Ir is his exit and replacement going to help someone gain financially by having "friends" on the commission? When all the facts are weighed, don't you honestly feel that a town like Fairfax needs an intelligent, qualified man like our present chairman?

There is no "blatant" conflict of interest here, only a genuine interest in his hometown, where he and his family reside. Why must we slap honest well meaning men in the face with trivia! . . .

What Title For New Auditorium?

Though I am a Frank Lloyd Wright fan, I do wonder what "short title" is to be affixed to the new Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

San Francisco has its "Cow Palace." New York City has its "Garden."

Is Marin to have its "silos," or perhaps its "elevators" (grain), or perhaps its "barn?" The building may be more functional than we think. Visiting farm folk will ask "Where are the ladders?"

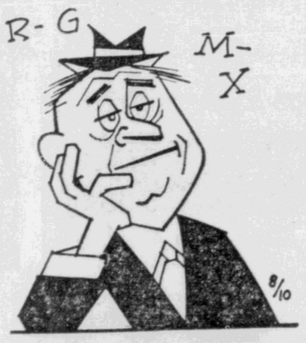
TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

If you are puzzled by the ratings now indicated by initials on current movie releases, you may find enlightenment in this explanation by the irreverent editors of the Harvard Lampoon. "G" stands for gratuitious; "M" for mediocre; "R" for regrettable, and "X" for high box-office returns.



Of all the rollicking tidbits in Tom Wood's book, "The Bright Side of Billy Wilder," I like best the account of the filming of one scene in "Irma La Douce," in which a miniature poodle named "Coquette" had to lap up the entire contents of an overturned bottle of champagne at a single sitting. To entice the dog, a prop man supplied some lukewarm chicken soup with which to fill an empty bottle of Mumm's best Cordon Rouge champagne. After the dog had lapped it up greedily without a stop, Billy Wilder picked up the bottle, examined it carefully, then confessed "I didn't know 1957 was such a good year for chicken soup."

THE DRUMMONDS

When Reds Ready To Negotiate At Paris, Their Rhetoric Will End

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — You will soon be seeing conflicting reports on the Paris peace talks.

Some will be hopeful, some hopeless. These guidelines will help keep things straight:

1 — Ignore subtle shifts in Communist rhetoric. A soft phrase one day, a harsh word the next mean next to nothing. That's not the way the Communists signal their intentions.

2 — Bear in mind that when the Communists want it known that they wish to begin serious negotiations or are ready to break a deadlock, they disclose it succinctly and visibly: The signal is loud and clear. Then will be the time to pay strict attention.

THESE GUIDES to understanding the Paris talks do not come from the ivory tower. They are based on solid negotiating experience since the end of World War II.

In all the diplomatic dealings which the United States has had with the Communists — the Austrian treaty, the Korean armistice, the nuclear test ban — two things have invariably been evident: When the Communists don't want to negotiate, they use muddy and meandering language as a diplomatic ploy. When they want to negotiate, they put aside diplomatic verbiage and come out with the straight truth.

Dr. Fred Charles Ikle, social science head at Rand Corp., documented these points in recent testimony before the Senate subcommittee on national security and international operations.

HE POINTED OUT, for example, that in the Korean war, when the Communists were ready to begin armistice negotiations, "Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik clearly and simply said so in the United Nations and there were no precursors to his announcement to be discovered between the lines of Soviet or North Korean propaganda statements. Indeed, prior to the Communist proposal for armistice talks, all the rhetoric and verbiage from China and North Korea pointed in the opposite direction."

There are numerous other instances which reinforce this. There were long periods during which the Communists shunned serious negotiations to end the Allied occupation of Austria, to bring about the underground nuclear test ban and to control the strategic arms race. The long preliminaries were full of double talk; when the Soviets were ready for business, plain talk.

THERE IS GOOD reason to assume that when Hanoi wants to negotiate a settlement of the Vietnamese war — if it ever does — we don't have to speculate about Communist intentions. They'll say so and quietly get down to serious talks.

Some Americans appear to accept the view that the North Vietnamese wouldn't negotiate because chief negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge had been withdrawn from the U.S. side. Not plausible. They didn't negotiate when he was present, and they said they wouldn't negotiate while he was absent.

Some Americans appear to believe that the North Vietnamese wouldn't negotiate just because they didn't like our proposals for negotiation. Hardly plausible. We have offered to discuss any proposals they offer and vice versa. We get plenty of words, no negotiation.

SOME AMERICANS are prematurely hopeful that the appointment of Ambassador David Bruce to replace Lodge will quickly get productive talks going. Hardly plausible. The Communists are not interested in the personality of the U.S. negotiator.

When will the North Vietnamese negotiate? When they decide that the South Vietnamese are going to be able to defend themselves effectively and that they — the North Vietnamese — can do better for themselves at the conference table than at the battle front.

Is Russia's Fate Tied To Ukraine's Productivity?

By PHIL NEWSOM, UPI Foreign News Analyst

". . .the fate and power position of the Soviet Union will be decided by what happens in the fields and pastures of the Ukraine. . .and not in Prague or Peking or Washington or the moon," declared the Zurich, Switzerland, newspaper Neue Zurcher Zeitung.

Josef Stalin forced the reluctant peasants into the collectives and exploited them for the benefit of Soviet industrialization.

OFFICIAL CENSUS figures show that as of July, 1970, the Soviet population stood at 242,-.8 million, an increase of around 40 million since the census of 1959.

Yet despite the addition of millions of mouths to feed and grandoise schemes to increase Soviet agricultural output to a needed 200 million tons per year, Soviet farm production increased by only half the planned figure in 1968, and in 1969 actually declined.

In the decade of the 1960s, the Soviets poured billions of rubles into agriculture, "Yet," wrote the respected London Economist, "a ruble put into Soviet farms still proves a distinctly poor investment."

It accounts for the massive new effort being poured into agriculture by Khrushchev's successors under the personal direction of party leader Leonid Brezhnev and probably for the delay until next March of the Communist party congress.

MANY REASONS may be ascribed for the failures of Soviet agriculture and the failure of Soviet industry in general to meet Khrushchev's pie-in-the-sky promise that Soviet per capita production would equal or surpass that of the capitalistic West by 1965, and the more sober promises of Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin.

One may be drawn from latest available figures comparing the Soviet worker's productivity as compared to his American counterpart.

These figures showed that as of 1967, the Soviet industrial worker produced only 40 to 45 per cent as much as his American opponent. Soviet agricultural workers produced only 20 to 25 per cent as much and Soviet construction workers 60 per cent as much.

Soviet agriculture accounts for 20 per cent of the country's output yet uses up between 33 and 40 per cent of its manpower.

The low yield per man hour, unharvested crops in the fields and a golden trail of grain running between the railroad tracks from leaking boxcars are testimony both to inefficiency and lack of incentive. The latter is a quality the Soviet system never has been able to instill in its workers.

THE REASONS apply both to agriculture and industry.

Once more to quote the London Economist: "Today the educated youth of Russia looks out at the dreadfully inefficient factories in which it works, run by unenterprising old bureaucrats, and the result is what Brezhnev calls 'an irresponsible attitude toward the implementation of state plans.'"

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Personalized License Plates Bill Uses Ecology, A Magic Formula

By JACK COOPER

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Assembly passed and sent to the governor SB 262, by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco.

Section 9 of the bill says that it "shall be known and may be cited as the Marks-Badham Environmental Protection and Research Act."

Now awaiting action on the Senate floor, having already been passed by the Assembly is AB 522 by Assemblyman Robert E. Badham, R-Newport Beach.

Section 9 of this bill says that it "shall be known and cited as the Badham-Marks Environmental Protection and Research Act."

SECTION 10 of both bills proclaims that each "is an urgency statute necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect."

Which means that a bill is in force as soon as the governor signs it, instead of sometime in the middle of November as is the case with measures of less weight and substance.

Something mighty significant going on here, you say?

Well, maybe.

BOTH BILLS set up a fund to be used to be spent on "All phases of research into the sources, dynamics and effects of environmental pollutants generated by motor vehicles . . ."

It is when you learn whence comes the money to fund this program that you begin to realize you are getting back on some familiar old ground.

Because the money is to come from the revenues produced by the sale of personalized license plates which the state will sell you for either $25 under the Marks bill or $35 under the Badham bill.

This, of course, is in addition to the fees you pay now. The annual renewal fee is $10 and to keep your personal plates when you change cars, you will have to pay a $12 transfer charge.

THUS, IF THE governor signs either of these bills, you can pay $25 or $35 to have your personal plate for about three or four months, at which time you can pay another $10, and if you trade in the old heap in February you can put another $12 on top of that.

Badham estimates his bill will pull in from 5.5 to $12 million dollars a year, and Marks, more modestly predicts 2 to 6 million dollars.

Texas, which has had these vanity plates for three years, has sold only 40,000 sets in that time, at $15 a set, for a gross of $600,000, and Texans are not noted as shrinking violets.

IF THE TEXAS production cost is $6 as it is expected to be in California, that state netted $360,000 in three years. At a net of $30 a set under the Badham bill, we calculate it would take 400,000 vain Californians to make his $12 million revenue estimate stand up. Or 30,000 to make Mark's low estimate of $2 million.

None of which is probably the point, anyway. Marks and Badham (or Badham and Marks) have carried personalized license plate bills for some time around here, and until somebody invented ecology, they usually lasted about 30 seconds when they hit the Senate Transportation Committee.

It is being written on a very black Friday afternoon.

Since 11 o'clock this morning everyone in the Marin County Civic Center had been buffeted by a storm of death and the everwidening waves radiating from it.

The whole terrible story — the death of Judge Harold J. Haley and all the others — started only a few feet from where I was, in the courtroom next door.

I was sitting in for the I-J's regular courthouse reporter, Mrs. Mary Leydecker, covering the murder trial of a Novato youth and worrying whether things were going on elsewhere in the bustling Hall of Justice that I also should know about.

LITTLE DID I know.

I was just getting ready to leave the courtroom to send in the morning developments of the trial I was covering, and to glance in on the four-day-old trial in Judge Haley's courtroom, when a court reporter entered from behind the bench, looking pale and worried.

She sat awhile in the jurors' box, then told Judge Thomas F. Keating that armed prisoners had taken over the court next door. But, she thought, bailiffs had it under control by then.

The handful of men in Judge Keating's court, including the judge, made for the door. Defense Counsel Robert D. Carrow suddenly halted in his tracks.

BACKING AWAY from the door, he softly said, "There's a man looking at me with a gun."

Judge Keating cautiously peered out, then softly said, "There's a man looking at me with a gun."

Judge Keating cautiously peered out, then announced he could see a line of armed men with Judge Haley, Deputy Dist. Atty Gary Thomas and others being herded down the hall at gunpoint.

Folks in Judge Keating's courtroom first scattered, then huddled, and after hurried whispered consultation, it was decided that the safest thing to do was to lock all doors, turn out the lights and hide in the side room in which prisoners are held pending their appearance in the courtroom. Reverberations of the first gunshots hastened the hiding.

I was frantic to telephone my city desk; the judge let me use the court clerk's phone, but warned I would be locked out of the holding cell until I identified myself.

Sprawled on the floor beneath the clerk's desk, in semidarkness, I talked to a rewrite man. Doors at both ends of the courtroom were being rattled, I couldn't see by whom.

After spilling out, sotto voce, what few skimpy details I knew, and hearing more gunfire, I joined the crowd in the holding cell. We waited and worried awhile, then came out —to learn of the tragic finale to the morning.

THIS AFTERNOON, the Hall of Justice first surged with a high tide of newsmen and a few thrillseekers. Then, far earlier than normal, it began to empty.

The steps of the few remaining county workers and the reporters faced with the task of untangling all the grisly threads are echoing hollow in a ghost town.

JUDGE HALEY was a man who tried very hard to give justice to McClain.

Justice?

S.F. Arguments End In 2 Deaths

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Fred Weston, 27, was shot to death on a busy Fillmore District street Sunday and police arrested his long time friend for questioning.

Detectives said Jerome Gillum, 23, pulled a gun and fired while the pair was arguing.

Weston was hit by four bullets.

The victim of another San Francisco slaying was Carl Burns, 24, who police said was killed after an argument at 1270 Egbert St. Detectives said they were hunting for an unidentified guest at the house.

Management To Attack Supervisors

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will face bitter criticism tomorrow from management employees who got no salary raises this year.

The employees contend they are being forced to join unions or bargaining units. Employees represented by such units were given raises.

The supervisors' all-day meeting will start at 9 a.m. on the third floor of the Civic Center.

Other items on the supervisors' agenda include a tour of the Fairchild Semiconductor plant at Northgate Industrial Park at 11:15 a.m. and a report on illegal dumping of concrete debris on the Tom E. Nowell property just northeast of the county heliport in Richardson Bay.

Tomorrow's agenda is relatively brief because the supervisors had originally planned to visit Washington, D.C., this week, and many hearings set for tomorrow were postponed. The Washington trip was canceled.

Desalination Plant Moved To New Site

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A large-scale experimental desalting unit to cost about $4 million will be built in Orange County instead of San Diego as originally planned, Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel has announced.

Hickel said Friday the plant would be constructed on a site adjacent to the Santa Ana River under an agreement with the Orange County Water District.

The district is providing the site, utilities, buildings and other facilities. Water produced at the plant will be used in the district's water program.

A total of $4.4 million was earmarked in the Office of Saline Water's fiscal 1971 budget for the experiment which is intended to pave the way for large-scale desalting plants.

The unit will combine two existing desalting processes— the vertical tube evaporator (VTE) and multi-stage flash (MSF) desalting.

It was originally to be built at the OSW's test site at San Diego but there were problems due to lack of available land.

Tiburon Owners Sue For Damage Caused By Flood

Owners of eight homes in the Bel Aire Estates neighborhood in Tiburon have filed suit in Marin Superior Court against the county, City of Tiburon and private land developers over a drainage problem.

The public agencies and Reedland Woods Unit 1 subdividers Spero P. Spiliotis and Lorraine Spiliotis, along with Lytton Savings and Loan Association as developers of Reedland Woods Unit 2, are being sued for $20,000 damages to each plaintiff.

The suit contends that the storm of last Dec. 20 caused flood damage and depreciated value of their homes, when drainage from the Reedland Woods units overloaded drainage installed by Bel Aire Estates builders.

The plaintiffs are Paul Breitkopf, Peter and Despina Bournazos, Heny and Orrie LeClerc, Marie Rickets and Carolyn Senske, Holis V. Roberts, Anthony and Roma Tucciarelli, Mary Jane Winterhalter and Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Schucker.

SECRET'S OUT: ANTS REALLY AREN'T BUSY

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Science finally has caught up with ants. They're lazy, not busy, industrious workers.

Dr. George Wheeler, University of California entomologist, declared Sunday that "individual ants spend a great deal of time just loafing.

"And, worse than that, the worker ants, who are all females, spend a lot of time primping," he added after research at the school's desert research center.

"Whenever we view an anthill we get the impression of a tremendous amount of activity, but that is merely because there are so many ants and because they all look alike," he said.

KKK Chief Airs Beatnick Warning

BENSON, La. (UPI)—Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton, recently released from federal prison, advised 300 Ku Klux Klansmen to "whale the living tar" out of "hipnick beatnicks," hauling down the American flag.

The Tuscaloosa, Ala., KKK leader, who recently served nine months in prison for refusing to turn over Klan membership records to a congressional committee, criticized the national television networks for promoting insurrection, sex perversion and the collapse of law and order.

"If you are the loyal American you profess to be," Shelton said, "anytime you see one of those hipnick beatnicks pulling the American flag down, I don't care who they're around, whale the living tar out of them."

Shelton was the main attraction at a weekend "Klanvocation" sponsored by the Louisiana Klan.

Strike Begins Against Firm Near Salinas

SALINAS (UPI)—Picketing has started in a dispute between the Teamsters Union and the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee over which will represent California agriculture employes.

The strike by Cesar Chavez' UFWOC against Freshpict Foods, Inc., in the Salinas area came as an association of firms who supply workers to farms announced Sunday it was recognizing the Teamsters as bargaining agent.

Previously more than 30 vegetable growers in the Salinas Valley had signed with the Teamsters as bargaining agent for their employes. The walkout started when about 250 Freshpict employes refused to join the Teamsters.

Chavez' organization said the men previously had joined his group.

Freshpict, a major produce grower which was one of the 30 signing with the Teamsters, said it was illegally being made the victim of a jurisdiction dispute and obtained a court order against the strike.

Chavez' organization said it would appeal and that the walkout would continue since the court order technically had not been served.

At Fresno, the Natonal Farm Labor Contractors Association's president Guinn Sinclair announced his group had voted to recognize the Teamsters.

The association, he said, includes 425 of the 850 licensed labor contractors in California and had been asked by the Teamsters to enter into a collective bargaining agreement that would involve 80,000 workers

"Based upon what the Teamsters told us, we had no alternative but to agree with them that they do represent the farm workers now," he continued.

Any agreement with the Teamsters, Sinclair said, "would in no way interfere with the grape contracts signed by Cesar Chavez."

The moon is in its first quarter. The morning stars are Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus and Jupiter.

On this date in history:

In 1776 a committee of Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson suggested the United States adopt "e Pluribus Unum" as the motto for its great seal.

In 1833 Chicago, with a population of about 200, was incorporated as a village.

In 1943, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill met in Quebec for the sixth conference on World War II.

A thought for the day: novelist Dorothy Fisher said, "A mother is not a person to lean on, but a person to make leaning unnecessary."

EAST GOES UP

Bob Wolff, playing the South cards for he United States, took the ace of diamonds, drew two rounds of trumps and led a diamond from the dummy. East stepped up with the king of diamonds and led a low spade.

Declarer won in dummy with the jack of spades and returned a spade. East took the ace of spades and got out safely with a spade. By the play up to this point South felt sure that West had started with five diamonds and five clubs.

WHAT DIFFERENCE?

You may wonder what difference this makes. South must limit the club loss to one trick, and he cannot fail since West has the ace-quee-nine of clubs. Any finesse will work.

East had shown up with the ace of spades and the king-queen of diamonds. In view of has the ace-queen-nine of clubs. have the ace of clubs. But West had also kept silent with two five-card suits. Surely West could not have both the ace and the queen of clubs.

FANS HORRIFIED

After deep thought Wolff led the jack of clubs. West played low, and declarer played dummy's king while a few dozen American rooters watched in horror. Then he returned the low club from dummy.

It would have been a triumph for Wolff if East had held the queen of clubs. He would have won this trick, but then he would have been obliged to lead a spade or a diamond. Either way, dummy would ruff while declarer discarded his last club.

Instead, West took two club tricks. "You can't win 'em all," Wolff said philosophically, as his partner smiled sympathetically.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs or four hearts.

There is no sensible bid for this kind of hand in Standard American bidding systems. It is too strong for two hearts, but not strong enough for three hearts, and the distribution is wrong for four hearts, but not strong enough for three hearts, and the distribution is wrong for four hearts. Perhaps the best course is to bid a short suit and raise hearts at your next turn.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Physicians Required On Vessels With More Than 12 Passengers

Do all ships at sea have a physician on board? No. Maritime requirements specify that any vessel on long runs carrying more than 12 passengers must provide a ship's surgeon. Therefore, to keep within regulations, many freighters provide accommodations for 12 or fewer passengers.

Ships without passengers (excluding navy vessels), regardless of the size of the crew, seldom carry physicians. However, they have ample medical and first aid equipment. When a major emergency arises, they radio for help. By tradition, the nearest ship carrying a physician responds. If the personal attention of a medico is needed, such as an operation, a rendezvous is arranged and the two vessels race toward each other.

ON MEETING, the sick crewman and his baggage are hoisted aboard and the vessels return to their courses. Meanwhile, he receives medical or surgical care and is put ashore at the next port of call with hospital facilities.

Cruise liners with hundreds or thousands aboard may have one surgeon for the passengers and another one for the crew. They have X-ray facilities, an operating room, pharmacy, orthopedic devices, and a number of cabins for hospital care. Sick call is held daily in the sickbay.

IN THE PAST, scurvy and lead poisoning, due to the endless painting that goes on, were the scourges of sailors. Today seasickness and an erysipeloid skin infection are the most common ailments. But most of the hazards faced by the crew occur on land, not at sea. Sailors on shore leave resort to excessive drinking and brawling resulting in bloody noses and occasional broken bones. These are busy times for the ship's surgeon who usually remains in the sickbay.

But despite these shenanigans, hand injuries are perhaps the most common accidents among the crew; cuts, bruises, and burns also occur.

LACKS CONFIDENCE

A reader writes: I've been having strong feelings of insecurity and find myself worrying over things I say and do. Is this part of the menopause?

REPLY

Many persons become emotionally disturbed at this time of life even though the menopause is not directly responsible for the symptoms. This is particularly true if they have a nervous temperament, have not learned to become self-reliant, or have a lack of confidence. Stay calm and concentrate on turning this defect into an asset.

CHOLESTEROL AND ARTERIES

H.S. writes: Does a high cholesterol level necessarily mean arteriosclerosis?

REPLY

No, but an association may exist. Persons who develop heart attacks as a result of hardening of the coronary arteries frequently have a high blood cholesterol level.

NAUSEA FROM VITAMINS

M.T. writes: No matter what types of vitamins my doctor prescribes, they make me sick. I have an expensive collection of these unusable products. Do you know why they cause distress?

REPLY

Vitamin tablets, to some people, are distasteful and nauseating. In a way, these people are lucky because they must resort to a balanced diet, as nature intended.

Corte Madera Planners Tell Tonight's Agenda

Two hearing on requests for a use permit to operate a mortuary at 601 Tamalpais Drive will be held tonight by the Corte Madera Planning Commission.

The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock in the town council chambers.

Nicholas P. Daphne of San Francisco is seeking permission to open a mortuary. A hearing on his conditional use application will follow a hearing on a proposal to amend the municipal code to allow mortuaries as a conditional use in shopping center zones.

Other hearings are set on an application to add six feet to a previously approved freestanding sign for the Cinema I Theater and on a request for relocation of a Co-op Market freestanding sign.

Colin Beaty of San Rafael has requested informal discussion on proposed use of a building at 305 Montecito Drive for an English-style pub.

Best-selling print in Marin

Unlike most popular prints, each edition of the I-J is strictly an "original" . . . fresh with the impress of today's news.

To compose it, our writers and editors draw from the world-wide palette of UPI wire services. They also examine all of Marin and Southern Sonoma County, putting the facts, with local color, in detailed perspective.

And to enrich the total picture, I-J newsmen add a full spectrum of features, cartoons, comment, entertainment. They paint in schools, the Civic Center, the field of sports, world of women, vital statistics, even the weather. They squeeze the tube for every bit of information!

Result: with the I-J, you're an art collector! Got your own gallery! Art of Information; Art of Perspective; Art of Humor; Art of Citizenship.

All from an original print.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

In tests using 53 well-maintained 1964-69 Orange County Department of Transportation vehicles

...and switching them from a major competitive premium gasoline to Chevron with F-310*—

F-310 reduced

Hydrocarbon emissions 12.4%

Carbon monoxide emissions 27.5%

A significant test involving 1964-1969 vehicles of two major makes reveals further new proof—Chevron gasoline with F-310 significantly reduces hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions from dirty engines.

Results showed an average reduction in hydrocarbon emissions of 12.4%. Carbon monoxide emissions were reduced an average of 27.5%.

Fifty cars and 3 trucks were selected by officials of the Orange County, Calif., Department of Transportation from its county fleet of over 1,000 cars and trucks, to represent a cross-section of high and low mileage vehicles of various model years—all well-maintained and previously using a major brand premium grade competitive gasoline.

*Registered Trademark for Polybutene Amine Gasoline Additive.

All cars were switched from the competitive gasoline to Chevron with F-310 as they were, with no adjustments to the engines, carburetors or emission control devices.

The test was conducted between March and July, 1970, by Scott Research Laboratories, an independent research laboratory, with the cooperation of Orange County. Exhaust emission measurements were made on each of the 53 test vehicles before the change-over to Chevron Supreme with F-310, and again after approximately 2,000 miles of routine driving.

The results of this scientifically conducted test are highly significant—further dramatic proof that Chevron with F-310 reduces exhaust emissions of unburned hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide.

Other tests are now in progress as part of a continuing series to demonstrate the contribution of Chevron with F-310 toward cleaner air.

F-310 also keeps clean engines clean.

F-310 Polybutene Amine Gasoline Additive was developed to reduce exhaust emissions from dirty engines. The degree of improvement, of course, depends on the condition of the car. In a new car or a car with a clean engine, F-310 will keep the clean engine clean—keep total exhaust emissions at a minimum. That, too, is a genuine contribution to cleaner air.

Chevron with F-310. There isn't a car on the road that shouldn't be using it.

A NEW pair of toe shoes is required for every performance and Johanna Baer, eight, of Marinwood has been going through about 12 to 15 pair a month rehearsing for the San Francisco Conservatory of Ballet's tour of Japan and the Philippines. She left Friday for Hong Kong and will return at end of the month. She is wearing the royal blue costume she wears for the part of the duck in "Peter and the Wolf."

JOHANNA BAER

Over 10 Toe Shoes Later She's Dancing In Japan

By BETH GAEDDERT

With the exception of "special holidays" eight-year-old Johanna Baer dances everyday.

"But if it's just Valentine's Day, forget it!" she says.

The past three weeks she has been rehearsing for eight hours a day her parts in 16 full ballets the San Francisco Conservatory of Ballet took on tour of Japan and the Philipines Friday.

As a member of Ballet Celeste (the Conservatory's junior company) Johanna will spend August performing in Hong Kong, at Expo '70 and in the Philippines.

Johanna, who started ballet lessons in San Francisco on her fifth birthday, has already made dancing tours of Canada, Oregon, Utah and Nevada, and at the age of six she was chosen to perform the child leads in the Bolshoi Ballet's productions at the San Francisco Opera House.

The only child of Mr. and Mrs. William Baer of Marinwood, Johanna Elizabeth sat in the living room of their home last Wednesday after the last day of rehearsals before the tour and talked about her first ballet lessons and why she soon changed schools.

"That was terrible. We learned how to walk," she said and illustrated by jumping up to imitate a teacher saying, "Now point your toe and then put your foot down."

Since she was six Johanna has known that she wanted to be a prima ballerina.

"Oh yes I want to be a prima ballerina" she says in a rather deep but still childlike voice. "The most important thing is technique — you have to work and work and work and work," she said pounding a tiny fist on her thigh.

Besides dancing Johanna has done over 50 radio and television commercials, industrial films and has modeled for several national advertisements. In a recent commercial for Grodin's department store she sang and surprised her mother who teaches music theory, voice and piano to young children.

"I thought, at least I could sing. She can dance — now she does both!" Mrs. Baer said.

Since she has been rehearsing so much lately she has gone through 12 to 15 pair of toe shoes a month. "And that's at $12 a pair," her mother adds. Her commercials apparently help pay.

Johanna was also taking piano lessons and attended the Three R School where she will enter the fifth grade this fall — two grades ahead for her age.

"This was an amazing year, I don't know how she did it." her mother said. She rehearsed every day since she was picked to go on this tour in February and came home at 8:15 to do homework until 11 or 12. And she was still on the honor roll and made straight As."

Johanna wouldn't mind being an actress some day either. She goes to all the American Conservatory Theater productions in San Francisco. (Her father is extension director of ACT.) And she'd also like to some more ice skating.

In the meantime — when she has time — she plays with her cats, one of which just had kittens, and reads Nancy Drew mysteries — just like any other kid on the block.

A Record Setting Actress

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Television has its flying nun. It also has its flying actress, and for real.

Susan Oliver, the actress seen in "Peyton Place" and other television series, is a licensed commercial pilot. Just recently she co-piloted a single engine Piper Comanche 260 with the veteran flyer, Margaret A. Mead, to victory in the annual Powder Puff Derby, the for-women-only transcontinental race flown this year from Monterey, Calif., to Bristol, Pa. Miss Mead, a Santa Barbara aircraft broker, is a previous winner.

Miss Oliver also holds five world records for men or women gathered on a New York-to-Copenhagen flight for single engine craft. That one was certified by the Federation Aeronautique International which also certifies the likes of the Charles Lindbergh historic transatlantic crossing.

THAT FLIGHT took six days but only 29 hours of actual flight time because weather grounded her for four days in Goose Bay, Newfoundland.

"Every pilot I met said they wouldn't give me a one in a million chance of making it," she said in an interview. She fought icing conditions most of the route.

The actress had hoped to fly on from Copenhagen into Moscow, but never could get Soviet permission for her plane although "Miss Oliver herself may come in."

She had been to Russia before, for a film festival, and then visited the Soviet with tour groups. She is studying Russian at UCLA "Just to keep my hand in."

Miss Oliver, who now makes her home in Hollywood, became interested in flying several years ago because "I was who was a pilot." Ultimately, dating a news commentator she said, "he flew his way and I flew mine," so she's still miss instead of missus.

THE ACTRESS, who's a trim, green-eyed blonde, is an honorary member of the American Fighter Pilots and now has more than 700 air hours logged. Once, she said, she thought she never would board a plane again. She was a passenger on that famous commercial flight that suddenly lost altitude and plunged from 37,000 to 6,000 feet before the crew could get it under control.

For two years she didn't go near a plane. Then a hypnotist convinced her she would love flying again.

The actress is the daughter of a newspaperman, George Gercke, and of Ruth Hale Oliver, a professional astrologer and writer on the subject.

The oldest of four children, Miss Oliver always had the acting yen and her parents finally agreed if she'd get at least one year of college (she did, at Swarthmore), she could try for the other.

She worked for the Circle in the Square Theater in New York, the Matinee Theater in California, and broke into movies with Warner Brothers. In all, she has made 10 movies, plus the television work.

Now she's starring in two movies shot on the Universal lot strictly for television. They'll be premiered in the fall.

Acting and flying weave together nicely, she said, and she knows several actors who are pilots.

"The kind of business we (actors) are in is so nebulous," she said. "You need a goal to achieve and flying gives it. Flying means functioning at a higher level than in everyday life."

Shade Cleaners

Better window shades are treated so that they can be wiped clean with mild soap and water. Those that are not washable usually can be refreshed with a good wallpaper cleaner. Soap and water care is not always necessary. If window shades are dusted or vacuumed at regular intervals, you won't have to use the wet treatment.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Man's Parents Should Visit Prospective Bride's Parents

DEAR HELEN;

We had an argument, and I bet my husband five dollars on it. I say the prospective bride's parents should go to visit the man's parents first after the engagement is announced. If I'm wrong he'll get scrambled eggs instead of steak because my bets come out of the housekeeping money. Please settle it for us. — MOTHER OF BOYS

DEAR MOTHER:

When is a winner not a winner? When he bets with his wife.

While your husband eats scrambled eggs, he can quote a well-known etiquette book which says, "After the acceptance of the engagement . . . correctly the parents of the man go to visit the parents of the girl . . . at least his mother goes to see hers at once."

Seems to me an invitation to an informal lunch or dinner might be friendlier but, at any rate, the parents of the future bridegroom make the first overtures. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

The other day I read (again) that the biggest cause of marriage failure is not sex, but finances. The latet survey, conducted by doctors among their patients indicated that financial problems accounted for 25 percent of marital failures, while sexual incompatibility rated last place on the list, with only three per cent of those queried indicating it was most responsible for their divorce or separation.

When my wife and I got married, we bought the regulation marriage manuals which we didn't need, because there was no problem in this department. But we soon discovered we were only compatible in bed. She thought money was crass. You should never discuss it — just spend it even if I didn't have it.

After five thousand fights, you begin to see that those manuals leave out all the imporantt things, such as physical doesn't make it unless you can get your minds together too. — OLIVER

DEAR OLIVER:

True. But if they put out marriage manuals about "getting your minds together," who'd buy 'em! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

All over the country these "population bomb" clubs are springing up, with members pledged to have no more than two children. Fine. I'm for it. But what if the word doesn't spread to the "welfare society" — those people whose lack of education or drive or whatever keeps them down?

It isn't enough to say "We'll have two or less," or stump for legislation that will tax large families (welfare people don't pay taxes). What we need is more free (even compulsory) birth control for the poor — everywhere, not just in the United States. — FRANCIS

DEAR FRANCIS:

Those "population bomb" people are working on this too — and so are the Ford Foundation, the Planned Parenthood and countless birth control clinics in depressed areas. Take heart, Francis, for the last few years our birth rate has been declining, with the largest percentage drop yet in 1969. Haven't you noticed the dearth of pregnant women in supermarkets? —H.

Personal to "Doubtful": Peg Bracken says true love is reading his horoscope before your own. Do you? — H.

A New Report On Life Insurance Costs Is Available— By Request

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — The life insurance industry is beginning to change its mind about how to describe policy costs to prospective customers. But it is trying hard not to let the word out because some large companies would not look quite as good as they do now.

The word is contained in a 32-page booklet titled "Report of the Joint Special Committee on Life Insurance Costs."

In efect, the booklet is a monumentous confession by leaders of the multi-billion-dollar industry. The committee includes representatives of 11 of the largest life insurance companies in the country.

Through the booklet, they confess that the so-called "traditional method" of determining life insurance costs doesn't tell enough of the story to prospective policyholders.

The traditional method used by agents and companies for years simply compares the amount of premiums paid over the years with the total of dividends and cash value built up during the same period. The difference is called the net cost of insurance.

Many agents and companies have implied that, since this difference may be very small, that the cost of life insurance is little or nothing. In cases where dividends and cash value eventually exceed premiums paid, they have said that policyholders actually "make money" on life insurance.

The booklet not only admits the falseness of these claims but proposes a "practical improvement over the traditional method."

The improvement is simply a formula that adds the matter of interest. The committee acknowledges that "the value of money in terms of interest it can earn is too important to ignore."

In other words, it says that in comparing policy costs, it is impontant to take in to account the interest that could be earned if the premium money were invested elsewhere.

Other factors to be considered in comparing policy costs are death rates and policy termination rates as they relate to each individual buyer. But the committee chose not to include these additional factors in its recommended method.

Even for the committee to include interest, however, represents progress. Comparatively few agents or companies now include interest in their cost presentations to prospective policyholders.

But despite the historic implications of the report and the many years of discussion that preceded it, it has been greeted in the industry by deafening silence.

The Institute of Life Insurance published the report a few months ago but issued no public announcement about it and gives out copies only on request. The two other industry associations to which the report is also addressed are saying nothing, apparently hoping it will go away if ignored.

Consumers can help get the truth out into the open by asking for copies of the committee booklet and asking their agents to explain what the booklet says. s.It could mean money in your pocket.

The publication is free from the Institute for Life Insurance, 277 Park Ave., New York, N.Y., 10017.

Aristocratic Plum

NEW YORK (UPI) —The plum tree has a long and distinguished geneology, living up to the distinction of its name. Authorities say it is an aristocratic cousin of the almond, apricot, cherry and peach, that it has been grown for over two thousand years in all places on the globe. Plums aren't just plum-colored. The fruit's range of colors includes reds, purple, blue, yellow and green.

EX-CHARLIE BROWN — Wendell Burton, 23, of Novato, smiles at his first show business co-star, Snoopy. Wendell later catapulted to fame playing opposite Liza Minelli in the movie "The Sterile Cuckoo," but his real start came when he played Charlie Brown for 15 months in the San Francisco production of "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown."

Overnight Celebrity From Novato Regrets Not Taking Some Roles

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Wendell Burton, 23, exemplifies the dreams of perhaps a million young persons to attain overnight acceptance as a celebrity.

Burton co-starred with Liza Minnelli in the "Sterile Cuckoo" and won acclaim as a fine young actor.

It was a mistake.

"I was offered some parts, Wendell said wistfully. "But they were the same straight-laced square who doesn't say more than a few words. I was also under the impression it was not wise to accept television parts.

"Now I know it's better to be working in any medium that not working at all. It's called survival."

Burton is of slight build. He is a sensitive young man who is anxious to continue his studies at San Francisco State College where he is majoring in political science.

Recently he co-starred with Eve Arden in a local theater production of "Butterflys Are Free."

The theater, in fact, led to his first movie role. He starred for 15 months in the San Francisco production of "You're A Good Man Charlie Brown."

"I feel I'm not progressing fast enough," Wendell said.

"I'd like to make a lot of money so I can go back to school and get my degree. I would like to attend classes the rest of my life. The atmosphere on a campus is different. People are doing research, studying problems that need solving. The learning process never stops."

Burton's principal drive lies not with acting but a political career.

"I enjoy performing and I'm not against making a career of it. But I believe also that I owe something more to our government." Burton is an idealistic man with a practical turn of mind. As a politician he thinks he could work effectively to improve conditions in the United States.

"I'd like to do something substantial to provide clean air," he said. "If for no other reason just so I could live longer."

Wendell makes his home in San Francisco, an hour's flight from Hollywood. He prefers the San Francisco Bay area to the smog of Los Angeles.

"I'll spend six months or so in Hollywood lining up some work," he concluded. "If I'm lucky I can earn enough money to go back to school."

MUSIC REVIEW

'Virtuoso Winds' Name Accurate

By MALBELLE SPECKMANN

"Virtuoso" was well chosen as the key word in the name of the "Virtuoso Winds of San Francisco," for each of the nine musicians in the ensemble that presented a predominantly Beethoven concert yesterday afternoon in the Stinson Beach Community Center deserved that accolade.

An experiment sponsored by the Stinson Beach Allied Arts to determine whether a former Stinson Beach Chamber Music Series would be worth reviving, it was definitely a success, since some 150 very enthusiastic music lovers nearly filled the hall.

This was my first visit to the center, and I found it a most attractive setting for an informal concert with audience-performer rapport encouraged by the seating in a semi-circle around the musicians.

Adding to the enjoyment potential were refreshments served at two intermissions — reminiscent of the candlelight series in Mill Valley — and the obbligato of live birds in the trees outside.

But most important of all, acoustics were excellent.

Frealon Bibbins, that master clarinetist, headed the ensemble, mostly San Francisco Symphony musicians, composed of James Matheson and Robert Hubbard, oboes; Bibbins and Donald Carroll, clarinets; Robert Dickow and Max Mazenko, French horns; Raymond and Virginia Ojeda, bassoons; Raymond Duste, English horn.

So well integrated in the symphony orchestra are the woodwinds that one seldom gets to hear their individual color as well as in a concert of this type. Their full harmony, except for the English horn, was heard in the last two numbers, the octet, Opus 103, and a rondino.

In the presto of the octet, though they were nimble, the French horns were hard put to it to keep up with the fluency of the other instruments, especially the clarinets. This and an imprecise French horn passage in the allegro of the first movement of the sextet, Opus 71, for two each of clarinets, horns and bassoons, were the only flaws in the concert. This was the first major work after a brief opening march in B flat.

A real gem was the Duo No. 3 for clarinet and bassoon performed by Bibbins and Raymond Ojeda, in which Bibbins' superlative artistry was outstanding, and one was reminded again of how dextrous and lyrical the bassoon can be when it has a chance to do more than accent rhythm in its bass voice.

A personal favorite — because the aria "La Ci Darem La Mano" from Mozart's opera "Don Giovanni" is so beautiful — was the variations on that theme played by oboists Matheson and Hubbard and Duste on the English horn.

This year's program offers a cast which includes several Bay Area artists and many professional musicians from Marin.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION | SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1970 | 15

Saturday Ferry Opening Probable

Ferry service between Sausalito and San Francisco, contrary to gloomy predictions of delays because of a host of unexpected problems, should begin on Saturday.

The general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge District, which will run the daily service, said yesterday that the prospect of starting it on Saturday "looks awful good."

The district's 597-passenger vessel, renamed the M.V. Golden Gate after extensive refitting, still easily maintains a speed of 15 knots, Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring told the Independent-Journal.

Great care was taken during the refitting to weigh the net effect of each change on the vessel's weight, he said. The only change, discovered in weekend shakedown runs, was an improved balance that considerably improved handling and the vessel's ride, Luehring said.

The only possible roadblock to starting the service on Saturday was the need for starting feeder bus service at the same time. A proposal that a Greyhound bus be charatered temporarily will be considered by district directors on Friday, leaving barely enough time to get the bus the next day.

Luehring said that a preliminary speed check found the trip from Sausalito to the Ferry Building will take 22 to 23 minutes.

Schedules will be set this week, he said, adding the first run on weekends and holidays probably will be at 10 a.m., with a round trip each hour and a quarter until about 5:30 p.m.

Service on weekdays probably will start at 6 a.m. from Sausalito, with the last run from Sausalito at about 8 p.m. Service will be continuous on weekdays, except for one mid-day trip dropped to give time for maintenance.

Bridge crews worked all weekend on finishing touches, which should be complete by Wednesday, Luehring said. The interior of the three-decker has been painted in wide bands of white and three shades of bright blue, and the exterior will be all-white until a color design is completed.

The design is being done by Walter Landor of San Francisco.

Also nearing completion are the landing in downtown Sausalito and the parking lot in North Sausalito, Luehring said.

Alterations to the vessel included enclosing the second deck, adding a sun deck, and providing needed amenties for bay service — such as radar and a larger bar.

The district has invested about $730,000 in the single ferryboat system, which it hopes to expand into a full system with its main terminal at Corte Madera Creek.

HOUSE OF SLAIN OFFICER

20 Off-Duty Police In Attack— This Time With Paint Brushes

"You don't realize there are such good people in the world, but there really are."

Nancy Radetich, 26-year-old widow of Richard P. Radetich, slain San Francisco patrolman, was speaking warmly of the nearly 20 off-duty policemen who tooktime to paint her Ignacio house this weekend.

Radetich, a four-year veteran of the San Francisco force, was killed in a prowl car while writing out a traffic ticket in the Haight-Ashbury area July 19. Detectives are still looking for a suspect in the slaying, Joe Allen (Wesley) Johnson.

The policemen decided to paint the Radetich house as a gesture of esteem for their slain comrade.

"He never got to it," patrolman Paul Forslind explained bitterly. "Richy planned on painting it, and we just decided the job had to be done.

"He was an up and coming officer," said Thomas I. Zaragoza, police department traffice director, as he trimmed a bush in front of the Radetich house. "He had all the attributes — not only of a good police officer, but of a good citizen and a good person. He was well-liked, as you can see," said Zaragoza, pointing to the policemen attacking the house with paint brushes.

Inside, Mrs. Radetich was dressing her 10-month-old daughter, Jeanine, for a routine checkup with the doctor.

"I'm just going to have to try to go on and try to lead a normal life," she said, tying Jeanine's shoe. "I don't think I'll try to work. I'd like to take care of Jeanine and try to be a good mother.

"Everyone has just been no nice. The neighbors have been bringing in food for me and my family. When I went down to San Diego (to visit her parents), the neighbors took care of the house and the lawn for me.

"I don't have any definite plans yet. I'm going to give myself time to see if I'm going to be happy if I remain here in Ignacio.

"I'm glad I have people around me every day, otherwise . . . well, it wouldn't be too good."

Two-Car Accident Kills Marin Youth

Arrangements for a memorial service were pending today for Peter Jerome Sack, 21, of 341 Hazel Avenue, Mill Valley, a Sonoma State College student, killed in a dual traffic accident west of Guerneville, Sonoma County, Friday night.

California Highway Patrol officers said that Sack was thrown out of a car that flipped over on Highway 116, west of Austin Creek, at 11:15 p.m. and then, before traffic could be halted, was run over by a passing car.

Sack was a passenger in a car driven by Richard Lojko, 23, of Guerneville.

Officers said Sack, Lojko and Daniel Lojko, another passenger, all were thrown out when the car flipped over.

Then a car driven by Edward Jacobsen, 42, of Humboldt County, ran over Sack, who was lying in the middle of the roadway, officers said.

Sack, a native of San Francisco, had been a resident of Marin for 16 years.

He attended elementary schools in Mill Valley and Tamalpais High School and the College of Marin before entering Sonoma State College where he was majoring in psychology and English.

He was an amateur music composer and a former volunteer worker at Old Mill School in Mill Valley and a member of Open End.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Richard Angell of Mill Valley; his father, Jerome Sack of Berkeley; two half-brothers, Barnaby and Josh Angell and a half-sister Theresa Angell, all of Mill Valley.

Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel in Mill Valley is handling arrangements. The family prefers that memorial contributions be to Old Mill School, Mill Valley.

Marin Youths Hit By Scout Quarantine

I-J Special Report

CIMARRON, N.M. — Four Marin County youths were among nearly 4,000 Boy Scouts released from quarantine today at Philmont Scout Ranch after New Mexico health officials were satisfied that he death last week of a 12-year-old scout was not due to pneumonic plague.

Conditions at the ranch have now been restored to normal.

The quarantine was imposed after the death Thursday night of James Morris of Jackson, Mich. following a hike up a 9,000-foot ridge on the 130,000-acre camp.

Released from quarantine were Terry Halbert, John Head and Gary Richards, all of San Anselmo and Bernie Holman of San Rafael. All are members of San Anselmo Explorer Scout Post 15.

$34,000 Postage Stolen From Vault

Postage stamps and cash totaling about $34,000 were taken sometime Saturday or yesterday from San Rafael's Mission Post Office by burglars using pry bars and an acetylene torch to enter a walk-in vault.

Police said today the two-story, concrete building located at Third and D Streets was entered through the rear between 11:30 p.m. Saturday and 7 p.m. yesterday.

Post Office Inspector C. E. Michaelson said today from his San Francisco office that he was "confident more than one man was involved," but has no suspect.

"There was only a small amount of cash taken, most of the $34,000 was in postage stamps," Michaelson added.

According to San Rafael postal official Donald Baird, yesterday's theft was to his knowledge the first in San Rafael.

He said the burglars, after entering the building, had to cut through two steel doors of the 80-square-foot vault of get the stamps.

"I can't comment on whether there was a burglar alarm system in the vault," he said. "I just don't know."

"We have no way of telling what amounts of stamp denominations were taken," he continued explaining that the post office totals daily receipts for cash and stamps together.

He added that the post office carries stamps ranging in value from one cent to $5.

Ex-Marinite Gored To Death By Bull

I-J Special Report

SONOMA — A former San Rafael service station owner was gored to death by a bull Saturday afternoon while picking pears in a pasture on his brother's property, the Sonoma County Coroner has reported.

Killed was Willard O. Hall, 56, now of Sonoma, who co-owned and operated a service station at Third and A streets in San Rafael for 26 years before retiring in 1964.

His body was found face down near a pear tree. Before anyone could go near him, the large black bull had to be killed.

Hall, who had moved to Sonoma with his wife, Alice, a year ago, was taking care of the ranch belonging to his brother, Elroy M. Hall. His brother is on vacation.

Hall was instrumental through frequent appearances before the San Rafael City Council in establishing the city's first Little League baseball field.

He was a brother-in-law of San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini.

Hall was a director of Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn. before its sale to Fidelity Savings and Loan.

The dead man had reportedly tried to pick the pears from the same tree in the bull's pasture earlier and had been driven off.

There was no witness to the killing and a coroner's investigation was under way.

Thieves With Torches Burn Down Building

Thieves armed with torches burned down a $15,000 office building above the tennis courts at McNear's Beach Saturday night and stole about $200 in cash.

James Vande Weg, park development coordinator, said the thieves made an unsuccessful effort to break into the five-foot safe in the building by using blow torches. Heat from the resulting fire destroyed about $200 in currency inside the safe and melted the cions, fusing some of them together.

Vande Weg said the thieves stole about $200 that was kept in change boxes in the lockers used by the park caretakers. He said he does not know whether thieves deliberately set the building afire or burned it in the process of blow-torching the safe.

Hub Council Sets Hearing On Wall Job

The San Anselmo City Council will hold a public hearing at its 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow to discuss repair of a collapsed creek retaining wall at 23 Brookside Drive.

Other matters to be discussed are requests for signs from Guasco Market and College of Marin, appointment of an alternate member to the city-county planning council, an offer of sale to the city of the Tanner-property at 190 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and unspecified ballot propositions.

The council also is to consider ordinances appropriating an advertsing and publicity fund and rezoning 180 Tunstead Avenue for multifamily residential uses and a request for appointment of a police clerk-dispatcher.

The council also is to hear reports from the planning commission on a sign ordinance and a recommended definition of "structure" in city planning, an offer of community service by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and a report of a meeting with the elementary school district on a recreation agreement.

Drug Treatment Facility Plan Draws Hearing

A second public hearing on a proposed live-in and outpatient drug treatment facility at 401 First Street will eb held by the San Rafael Planning Commission tomorrow. The request drew opposition at an earlier hearing.

The commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. in city hall.

Other items on the agenda will include submission of a tentative map for 39 lots in the Quail Hill property on Northgate Drive, with 34 residential lots, Commerce Clearing House headquarters and an offic building and conference center.

TELEVISION REVIEW

'The Price' Rehearsal Has Unusual Theatrical Magic

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI) — It doesn't happen very often but when it does you have a memory to cherish like a family heirloom. In a rehearsal room in a grubby street on the wrong side of Central Park, Barry Sullivan and George C. Scott wove an afternoon of theatrical magic for the benefit of half a dozen onlookers.

Technicians do not applaud or they would have shaken the walls of the old hotel. All that anyone lucky enough to have been there can hope is that the same quality is caught by the NBC-TV cameras this week in London where Sullivan and Scott and David Burns and Colleen Dewhurst have gone to tape Arthur Miller's play "The Price".

Before the final rehearsal producer David Susskind was chatting about how bored he is with television and how he sees his future mainly in films.

Yet when Scott uttered the curtain line of the play the veteran producer, obviously moved, walked over to Sullivan and to the other members of the cast, and said, simply, "My thanks".

"Ths cast", he exulted later, "tops anything they had in the Broadway version. I'd rather do Miller than any other 10 playwrights in the world. He hits you between the eyes with truth."

Scott, he said, was the greatest actor in the world today and Sullivan had been lifted to the top of his form by "playing with the champ". And he went happily off to pack for the journey to London, where taping is cheaper, not as firm in his resolve to diminish his interest in TV as he had been.

Sullivan's own considerable gifts might be less underrated in some circles if he had the drive and ambition to match his abilities. But he prefers to loaf on his hilltop in California, working mostly under the pressure of alimony payments to two of his ex-wives. "I'm so lazy," he said, "that when I get a new role I ask myself, 'Can I do the part without shaving?'

"This play", he went on, "must be the document of the year. I didn't want to leave home but who can say no to an Arthur Miller play? He overwrites, but he disturbs you. He's the best American playwright alive. I would have been happy to do the part for nothing which, come to think of it, was what Susskind was trying to get me to do."

Sullivan, who is well remembered for the Caine Mutiny court martial and many other fine stage, screen and tv performances, has a thoughtful theory to explain why network efforts to run regular series of major plays have never succeeded.

"When you go to a play in the theatre that's your entertainment for the night", he said. "You think about it, digest it. But on TV it's only one item in a whole night of viewing. Your critical and perceptive sense is so diluted the play cannot register as it should. Too often it becomes just another program."

"The Price" is scheduled for Feb. 3 on the Hallmark Hall of Fame.

Book Reveals FBI Secrets About King

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., toned down his criticism of the FBI after its director, J. Edgar Hoover, presented King with wiretapped tapes indicating King's extramarital affairs, Time magazine said Sunday.

King met with Hoover in the FBI director's office in 1964, Time said, where Hoover "explained to King just what damaging private detail he had on the tapes and lectured him that his morals should be those befitting a Nobel prize-winner.

"He also suggested that King should tone down his criticism of the FBI. King took the advice. His decline in black esteem followed . . ." Time said.

The statements are in connection with a report of a new book on King called "The King God Didn't Save" by black novelist John Williams.

The book, with the conclusion that King was a failure, states that King "was a black man and therefore always was and always would be naked of power, for he was slow, indeed, unable to perceive the manipulation of white power, and in the end white power killed him."

Time said, "Most newspapers ignored the rumors and leaks to them of King's extramarital activities, but their existence undermined King's effectiveness just the same. The effect, says Williams, was one of slow political assassination; King was spared it only by the bullet of James Earl Ray."

The incriminating tapes came about, Time said, when the FBI, "suspecting that some of his associates had Communist connection . . . began taping King's telephone and bugging his hotel rooms in 1963.

"From a security viewpoint, the wiretaps uncovered nothing. They established no links between King and the Communists. But, Williams reports, they did turn up an astonishing amount of information about King's extensive and vigorous sexual activities," Time said.

Salamanders To Get New Swamp

A University of California zoologist, Dr. Robert Stebbins, pointed out that the division was planning to widen a highway which would destroy one of the two swamps left for the salamanders.

In reply, the division said Sunday it would put up $3,000 for a new swamp, complete with all the little wildlife goodies salamanders feed on. Dr. Stebbins, who had protested the reptiles would have been evicted with no place to go, doesn't have to be as big as a redwood or a whooping crane to receive protection."

Tokyo Smog Warning

House Odds Lose In Casino Theft

They left three employes locked in the casino's vault, which they had cleaned out at gunpoint. Two cashiers and a security guard were handcuffed together with their mouths taped.

Witnesses said the two men walked out of the casino into an adjacent parking lot and disappeared.

Big Sweep Rejuvenates Oakland Title Hopes

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Don Mincher really didn't want to admit it.

But he couldn't quite deny there was something special about collecting two homers and driving in six runs Sunday in the Oakland A's doubleheader sweep before the largest crowd of the season in Minnesota.

When the former Twin was asked if there was extra satisfaction in beating his old teammates, he smiled, "I can't say that, but anytime you hit two homers and drive in six runs in front of 40,000 screaming people, there is a certain amount of satisfaction."

Mincher was 2-for-3 in each game as the A's won by 3-0 and 6-3 margins before 41,339 Twin fans to keep the Twins from making a runaway of the Western Division race. The California Angels beat Chicago to move within seven games of the Twins and the A's are eight games back.

Until this sweep, the A's were 5-13 and 1-8 against the Twins the past two years, but manager John McNamara thinks things are going to change now.

PLENTY OF TIME

"I think we proved to a lot of fans and ourselves today that we can still beat this team. I know we're a long way back, but there's still plenty of time to go and today may have given us the confidence we need," he said.

Mincher played with the Twins from 1961 to 1966 and was the club's starting first baseman in the 1965 World Series. He was traded to California and picked up by Seattle in the expansion draft before being traded to Oakland last January.

He hit a run-scoring double and a run-scoring single in the first game to back Chuck Dobson's four-hit pitching. In the second game, he hit a three-run homer and then snapped a 3-3 tie with a solo homer in the seventh for the deciding run.

Two other former Twins, Jim Roland and Jim (Mudcat) Grant, helped in the second game. Roland relieved starter John Odom in the sixth and got the victory with 2 1-3 innings of no-hit relief ball. Grant pitched the final 1 1-3 innings and got the save.

CAL SWEEP

In other games, California beat Chicago twice 5-0 and 6-3, New York topped Baltimore 6-4 in 11 innings but lost the second game in 11 innings, 12-9, Milwaukee edged Kansas City 4-2, Boston topped Detroit 7-4 and Washington beat Cleveland 7-3, then lost the second game, 6-3.

California took advantage of the Oakland sweep by winning two from Chicago to remain in the West race. Clyde Wright and Mel Queen combined on a three-hitter to win the first game. In the second Bill Voss, Tom Egan and winning pitcher Tom Murphy walked with the bases loaded in the second inning to give the Angels a 3-0 margin. Eddie Fisher saved the second game with a three-inning relief stint.

Baltimore maintained its 9½ game lead over New York by splitting a doubleheader with the Yanks. Roy White tied the first game with a two-out single in the ninth and won it with his 15th home in the 11th.

The Yanks also tied the second game in the ninth—this time on Jerry Kenney's run-scoring single. But Baltimore won it in the 11th with a three-run rally started by Don Buford's run-scoring single. Baltimore used six pitchers in the first game and New York came back with eighti n twelve and the two-game total of 21 tied an A.L. record.

San Rafael Li'l League Stars Go Down Swinging

END OF THE LINE — San Rafael's Jeff Knotts (12) was thrown out at home plate in first inning and it signalled the beginning to the end for the Marin County Little League champions as they lost to Concord, 9-2, in Sectional Tournament finals at Novato. Making the putout is Concord catcher Mark Spanka.

Concord Wins Tournament

"You have to be 'up' for every game and get all the breaks to go all the way in Little League tournament play. Well, today we just weren't up for it, but we're proud of the boys for as far as they got."

With that, Manager Henry Knotts stored away the bats and balls for the 1970 baseball season after his San Rafael American League All-Stars were eliminated from the Little League Sectional Tournament at Rancho School, Novato, by the Concord National League, 9-2

A capacity crowd saw the Concordians spot San Rafael a 2-0 lead in the first inning, then come roaring back with five runs in the bottom of the first. They punctuated the run-away with three home runs producing the final four markers.

FINE PLAYS

"Yes, they were a good hitting team," said Knotts, "and they also turned in some fine defensive plays. Particularly by that boy Rick Lambert at second base." Lambert made two fine plays that robbed Jim Bell out of base hits in the first and sixth innings.

"That seemed to be one of our problems," Knotts added. "We hit the ball well, but most of the time right at somebody. We went down swinging."

San Rafael, which had won five consecutive games to get to the Sectional finals, started with a bang Saturday when Jeff Knotts and starting pitcher Gary Johns drove home Bryan Shelly and Danny Helms for a 2-0 first inning lead. Knotts was thrown out at the plate and Lambert's sparkling play at second base deprived San Rafael of at least two more runs.

SHUTS DOOR

After that, Concord's Kurt Schneider shut the door on San Rafael while his mates roared back with five runs in the first on three hits, a walk, a hit batter and two errors.

Concord continued the assault with Schneider's two-run home run in the second inning and back-to-back homers by Carl Allen and Tim Trice in the fourth providing the cushion.

Concord advances to the Divisional Championships next weekend at Concord.

San Rafael collected five hits Saturday — a double and single by Johns and singles by Shelly, Knotts and Leoncini.

Rincon Valley of Santa Rosa won third place in the tournament Saturday by edging Washington of the Sacramento region by a 6-4 margin.

He sank a 20-foot putt to save par on the first hole of the final round in the $50,000 American Golf Classic and that seemed to do the trick.

From then it was downhill for Beard as he pocketed the $30,000 first prize money for his 276 total over the 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club course, two shots better than Jack Nicklaus, Tommy Aaron and Bruce Crampton.

"I guess if anything won the tournament for me," Beard said, "it was that putt on the first hole. It took what was getting to be a pretty big lump out of my throat."

Beard hit his tee shot into the rough. His second went into a trap at the left of the green and he blasted out 20 feet short. With a bogey five and the possibility of losing his one shot lead stareing him in the face, the Louisville, Ky. golfer calmly drilled in the putt.

It was his putting again that Beard gave credit for the win.

"The good putting continued," Beard said. "I didn't play too well, but my putting picked me up."

AARON'S TROUBLES

Beard and Aaron, his playing partner, played on even terms until Aaron ran into trouble midway through the back nine.

Aaron's downfall actually came on the par four, 460-yard 13th hole when his second shot hit a cart path and went into some trees. He took two shots to get on the green from there and wound up with a double bogey six.

"Although I was shooting some good scores," Aaron said. "I hadn't been hitting the ball good all week. You can get away with that with your short irons, but it shows up in your long irons.

"I came to the course two hours early today to try to work something out," Aaron said.

FRANK BEARD
$30,000 gulp

Nicklaus, who had several putts stop just short of the hole or spin in and out in the last round, was about the only other threat to Beard, although Crampton finished only two shots behind.

NO BIRDIES

Crampton, who won the $50,000 first prize in the Westchester Classic the previous week, never made a birdie in the final round and finished with a one over 71.

Nicklaus' putt on the 18th hole from about 20 feet away hit the center of the cup and spun out.

"I think 99 out of 100 times that ball would have stayed in," Nicklaus said, "but it didn't. It wasn't going that fast.

Unser, Smothers Win At Ontario

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI)—A team of former Indianapolis champion Bobby Unser and comedian Dick Smothers Sunday captured the pro-am celebrity race over the Ontario Motor Speedway's 3.19-mile road course. The race—with each team driving Porsche 914s—was watched by a crowd of 10,891, which was in attendance for dedication ceremonies for the $25.5 million raceway.

The track will open with the California 500, a U.S. Auto Club event, Sept. 6.

THE SEASONED ROOKIE

Raiders' Stabler Sharp

By STEVE TOOMAJIAN

OAKLAND (UPI)—Ken Stabler is making a strong bid to become the first pro football player to earn the five-year pension plan without ever becoming a veteran.

The lefthanded quarterback, embarking on his third year with the Oakland Raiders, is the sole possessor of a unique category best described as "seasoned rookie."

Stabler made the second debut of his rookie career Saturday night, throwing three touchdown passes as the Raiders lost their pre-season opener 33-21 to Baltimore.

The performance was even more impressive than his original debut in 1969 when he fired a pair of scoring passes in a rookie contest against the Dallas Cowboys.

The Raiders had waited anxiously for that 1969 showing, since Stabler was forced to sit out 1968 following knee surgery. After the one-game initiation last August, he left the Raiders for well hidden "personal reasons."

BACK AGAIN

Finally, the rookie is back again. His immediate goal is to earn the reserve quarterback job behind Daryle Lamonica. He has the physical tools to contest Lamonica's supremacy, but that challenge will have to wait until Stabler has gained

San Rafael, Drake Win DiMag Titles

Holiday Magic of San Rafael in the Northern Division and Drake in the South are the final winners of the 1970 Marin County Joe DiMaggio Baseball League, but it took make-up games over the weekend to settle both races.

Terra Linda, which had led the Northern Division most of the season, lost a continuation of a protest game with Annex Motors of Novato Friday, 6-5. Holiday Magic cinched the championship that evening with a 6-0 win over San Marin.

In the South the Drake Pirates sat by while the Italian Club blew a chance to tie for the title by losing Saturday to the Presidio, 1-0.

Giants Gain On The Wrong Team In Race For Second

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Unfortunately for the San Francisco Giants they picked up ground on the wrong ball club.

The Giants, who feel they have a chance to finish second, gained ground on first place in the National League West Sunday by splitting a doubleheader with the Houston Astros, winning the nightcap behind Gaylord Perry, 6-1, after the Astros took the opener, 7-5 in 10 innings.

The Giants started the day seven games behind the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers and a distant and almost uncatchable 21 games behind the first-place Cincinnati Reds, but the Dodgers beat the Reds twice Sunday and today the Giants are eight games behind second.

"That doesn't bother me," said Giants skipper Charlie Fox before taking his club on a nine-game road trip which starts in Chicago on Tuesday afternoon. "If we can stay healthy and play the way we have the last two weeks I think we can finish second."

While Perry rolled on to his 16th victory with an eight-hit, five-strikeout performance, Juan Marichal stumbled again.

The Astros reached Marichal for nine hits and three runs in seven innings, widened their lead to 5-1 against Don McMahon in the eighth, and then saw the Giants almost steal it from them in the ninth, the way they had Saturday.

Willie Mays, who won Saturday's game with a two-run ninth-inning single, got the Giants close this time with a two-run homer in the eighth, his 22nd. Then, run-scoring singles by Tito Fuentes and Willie McCovey, who had six hits in nine at-bats during the doubleheader, tied it at 5-5 in the ninth.

Kenny Henderson followed McCovey's hit with a walk to fill the bases but Jack DiLauro, the fifth Houston pitcher, got Dick Dietz on a fly to center which almost fell in.

Dietz was caught in a rundown after leaving third, but got back when Hart was nailed coming in from second. Dietz then stepped off the bag momentarily, and Gladding got him too. 'Shoe' Passes Milestone, Nears Record

DEL MAR, Calif. (UPI)— With No. 6,000 under his belt at the age of 38, Bill Shoemaker has to be considered a threat to become the first man ever to ride 7,000 winners.

The veteran jockey recorded the 5,999th and 6,000th victories of his illustrious career at Del Mar Saturday to move to within 32 of Johnny Longden's all-time record set in 1966.

Shoemaker, who will celebrate his 39th birthday on Aug. 19, said he wanted to continue after breaking Longden's record.

"I still enjoy it out there," he said. "Maybe not as much all the time as I once did but it's fun for me. I plan to keep it up a few more years at least."

Shoemaker's 6,000th winner came aboard Shining Count in the final race Saturday after he piloted Swift Savage to a win in the fifth event.

Recovered from a broken leg at Santa Anita in 1968 and a fractured pelvis at Hollywood Park in 1969, Shoemaker has accomplished in 22 years what it took Longden 40 years to achieve.

"John's record is the toughest of them all to crack," the veteran jockey admitted.

"It takes so long to get there and you have to be so lucky. I guess this has to be the biggest record."

Shoemaker rode his first winner at Golden Gate Fields in 1949. Since then he has captured five national riding titles and set an all-time record of 485 winners in 1953.

Suyderhoud Sets Water Ski Mark

By U. P. International

The effort eclipsed Suyderhoud's own mark of 162 feet, set last year at Callaway Gardens, Ga.

"It's over with and I'm glad it is," Andrie said. "I'm here to play football."

During the contract dispute both Andrie and the Cowboys agreed they were $2,000 apart on terms. Neither side would say Sunday whether Andrie got all, part or none of the $2,000 he was holding out for.

NEWPORT, R.I. — The minor damage to America's Cup challenger Gretel II of Australia, suffered Saturday on arriving at Newport, has been repaired and the 12-meter yacht will have her first trials this week.

Robert A. Byron of Sydney, a Calif., overcame some difficulty with an unfamiliar alternate shot, alternate drive style of partner in the firm which manufactured the vessel's mast, said the tab on the Gretel's rudder cracked Saturday while she was being hauled out of the water.

Gretel II is scheduled to meet the France, the French challenger, in a best-of-seven series beginning Aug. 21.

MOVE OVER, DIZZY AND PAUL

Here Come The Red Hot Perry Boys

By STU CAMEN
UPI Sports Writer

Move over Dizzy and Paul. Here come Gaylord and Jim.

The Dean brothers, Dizzy and Paul, gained a place in the record books as baseball's best brother pitching duo when they combined for 49 victories for the 1934 St. Louis Cardinals. Dizzy won 30 games that season and Paul chipped in with 19. The Deans also combined for 47 triumphs in 1935 with Dizzy collecting 28 of them.

The Perry brothers, Gaylord of San Francisco and Jim of Minnesota, are within reach of the Dean boys' mark if they continue at their current pace. Jim leads all American League pitchers with 17 victories while Gaylord posted No. 16 Sunday with an eight-hit, 6-1 triumph over Houston in the second game of a doubleheader. The Astros beat the Giants in the opener, 7-5, in 10-innings.

While every victory notched by Jim moves Minnesota another step closer to the American League's West Division title, the only thing Gaylord gains when he pitches is possibly a fatter contract for next season as the Giants, trailing first place Cincinnati by 20 games in the National League west, have only next season to look forward to.

Gaylord became only the third pitcher in the NL to win 16 games this season, the other two are Tom Seaver of New York and Jim Merritt of Cincinnati, as the Astros could reach him for only Jim Wynn's 19th homer.

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh beat New York 8-3, Los Angeles beat Cincinnati twice, 7-3 and 13-3, Chicago and Philadelphia split with the Cubs winning the opened 4-1 and the Phils taking the nightcap, 6-1, Montreal and St. Louis also divided as the Expos won the first game 7-6 and the Cardinals took the second 4-0, and San Diego topped Atlanta, 4-2.

Willie Stargell continued his hitting spree against his Mets' "cousins" with an RBI single and a towering homer as the Pirates' victory moved them 3 1-2 games ahead of New York in the East Division. Stargell has a career batting average of .328 against the Mets and .270 against the rest of the league while 32 of his 188 career homers have come against New York. Luke Walker hurled the first seven innings for Pittsburgh to pick up his ninth win.

Los Angeles' double victory over Cincinnati cut the Dodgers' once insurmountable deficit in the West from 14 games to a still nearly insurmountable 12 games back. Ted Sizemore drove in three runs in each game as Los Angeles rapped out a total of 35 hits, 20 of them in the second contest. Reliever Jim Brewer got the win in the first game and Alan Foster went the distance for the triumph in the nightcap.

GIANTS

open the 10th against Rich Robertson and two outs later little Joe Morgan lined his third homer of the season over the rightfield fence at the foul pole to win it.

Robertson, having difficulty getting people out these days, suffered his eighth loss in 14 decisions and left Fox babbling to himself at why he suddenly can't pitch effectively.

The nightcap was a different story. While Perry pitched well he was helped immeasurably by four doubleplays, and by the hitting of Russ Gibson, Frank Johnson and McCovey.

Gibson drove in three runs with a double and two singles, Johnson drove in two with a double and McCovey hit two doubles and a single, drove in one run and scored two.

"We are hitting at the right times again," said Fox. "If our pitching stays together on this road trip we should finish up in good shape."

Frank Reberger, who pitched well against the Reds last week, will open the Cubs series Tuesday and will be followed by Ron Bryant and Skip Pitlock. The Cubs are expected to counter with Fergie Jenkins, Bill Hands and Milt Pappas.

Jesus Alou came home to Candlestick Park this past weekend to enjoy another fine series against his former club. Alou improved his batting average from .305 to .321 with 11 hits in 21 at-bats.

"I always liked to hit in this park," said Alou, which after the weekend sounds like the understatement of a mixed-up season for both the fifth-place Astros and third-place Giants.

UPSET — Tony Roche goes after the ball during his upset victory over fellow Australian Rod Laver in the finals of the $50,000 U.S. Professional Tennis Championships at Chestnut Hill, Mass. Roche came from the brink of defeat to hand Laver a stunning, five set loss. (UPI Telephoto)

Big Tennis Upset: Roche Jolts Laver

Those were the words of Tony Roche, the 25-year-old Australian who is the new U.S. Professional tennis champion—and he should know.

Tony was speaking of Rod Laver, the acknowledged king of the tennis world whom Roche beat in Sunday's finals, 3-6, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2, 6-2, to win the $12,000 first prize.

Roche went into the clubhouse for a 10-minute break following the third set, down two sets to one, and few in the overflow crowd of 5,000 at the Longwood Cricket Club expected Roche to last beyond the fourth set, let alone win.

FOUR STRAIGHT

Laver, who had won four straight U.S. pro titles and five of the last six, is especially tough when he is ahead. Few opponents come from behind to defeat the 5-foot-9, 150-pound redhead.

But Roche, seven years younger than Laver, did it Sunday, spoiling Laver's 32nd birthday and picking up his biggest paycheck as a pro.

To do so, however, Roche got a big assist from Laver himself, whose game fell apart in the last two sets.

Incredibly, Roche broke Laver's serve five straight times and six times altogether in those two sets. Laver had lost only two service games in winning nine straight sets in reaching the finals of the tournament for the eighth straight year.

LOST RHYTHM

"I lost my rhythm," Laver said. "It happens to all tennis players sometimes."

"I couldn't believe he was having so much trouble with his shots," Roche said. "When Rod's serve goes, his game goes too."

Not only did Laver have trouble getting his serve in with anything on it, but his usually flawless ground strokes and volleying abandoned him.

Laver recovered in his following doubles match. He and fellow Aussie Roy Emerson defeated Torben Ulrich of Denmark and Ismail El Shafei of Egypt, 6-1, 7-6, to win the doubles title.

PRO GRID ROUNDUP

Dallas Dilemma: Two Good Quarterbacks In Opener

By NEIL HERSHBERG
UPI Sports Writer

Bay played to a 31-31 tie, New Orleans edged Minnesota 14-13, and Miami downed Pittsburgh 16-10.

The arm of Craig Morton and the legs of Roger Staubach carried the Dallas Cowboys to a 20-10 National Football League exhibition win over the San Diego Chargers Saturday night.

When Don Meredith retired prior to the 1969 season, Morton received the starting assignment after serving a four-year apprenticeship. He showed remarkable 37 per cent passing accuracy in the early going, but suffered a shoulder separation that plagued his effectiveness the remainder of the season. Staubach, known primarily for his scrambling, is giving every indication he intends to challenge Morton for the starting assignment.

Staubach, a Heisman trophy winner out of the Naval Academy whose pro career was delayed while he served his four year Navy duty, lacks the experience Morton can claim by watching Meredith from the sidelines.

Morton and Staubach both excelled in their 1970 debut against the Chargers. Each guided the Cowboy's potent offensive attack—in their respective ways—for a half.

Morton carried the Cowboys to a 10-3 halftime lead, completing 8 of 11 passes for 77 yards. Staubach took over in the second half and ran for 71 yards in six tries, including a four-yard roll-out for a third quarter touchdown.

In other NFL action Los Angeles defeated Cleveland 30-17, Cincinnati beat Washington 27-12, Chicago downed Houston 23-13, Baltimore trounced Oakland 33-21, Kansas City tamed Detroit 30-17, the New York Jets defeated the Buffalo Bills 33-10, the New York Giants and Green The world champion Chiefs, stung by a 3-0 halftime deficit, fired back in the second half on touchdown interceptions by Jim Marsalis, Jerry Mays and Emmitt Thomas in manhandling the Lions.

Roman Gabriel, the most valuable player in the NFL last season, passed 37 yards to tight end Bob Klein and plunged over from six inches for third quarter touchdowns as the Rams broke open a tight game.

Jet quarterbacks Al Woodall and Babe Parilli, getting their chance in place of a missing Joe Namath, passed the Jets to a convincing win over the Bills.

The Packers, down 31-10 early in the third quarter, struck behind the passing combination of Don Horn to Jack Clancy to salvage the tie. The Giants had mounted their lead with the help of a spectacular 95-yard touchdown run with a pass interception by rookie linebacker Jim Files. A second touchdown was also set up by Files on another interception.

Doug Watt raced 50 yards with a recovered fumble in the final seconds to give New Orleans the win in the annual pro football Hall of Fame game. Watt, a rookie from Tulsa, picked up the fumble by George Kemp and scored with just four seconds remaining.

Little Cecil Turner returned a punt 66 yards for one touchdown and southpaw quarterback Bobby Douglass passed to newcomer Craig Bainham 29 yards for another to give the revamped Chicago Bears the win.

The Miami Dolphins gave new head coach Don Shula a winning debut with a victory over the punchless Pittsburgh Steelers. The Dolphins used a 10-yard touchdown burst by fullback Larry Csonka and three field goals to sink the Steelers before a rain-soaked crowd at the Gator Bowl.

Defense backs Lamar Parrish and Sandy Durko gave the Bengals their first win in new Riverfront Stadium. They capitalized on both fumble and an interception to score.

The former All-American from the University of Alabama displayed a smooth and confident manner as he connected on 17 of 27 attempts and threw touchdown passes of 46, 22 and 17 yards. He also fired three interceptions and fumbled once, with two of his mistakes helping Baltimore take a 10-0 lead.

"It was good experience," Stabler said following the game. "I really need to improve my play calling in the crucial situations—the third downs. But I never was uncertain out there about what to call, and my arm felt fine right from the beginning."

Madden was pleased but cautious in his appraisal.

"In three years he played only one football game, and that was against a rookie team," Madden said. "Kenny has a lot of making up to do. In general, he called a good game. And three touchdown passes isn't too bad of a night."

Morrall came in with Baltimore behind 21-17. He directed touchdown drives of 43 and 49 yards in the fourth quarter to give the Colts the victory.

The win came in Don McCafferty's first game as head coach of Baltimore. His defensive unit, particularly the line and linebackers, showed alert reactions and determination.

McCafferty may have trouble, however, finding a capable youngster to groom as an eventual successor to his two aging quarterbacks. Neither Jim Ward, Jeff Beaver nor Gordon Slade looked sharp against the Raiders.

SELLOUT CROWD

A sellout crowd of 53,519 at the Oakland Coliseum got a couple of pleasant surprises. The most significant was the brief appearance of running back Hewritt Dixon. Slowed by injuries throughout 1969, Dixon carried four times for 18 yards and showed the quickness and power which earned him 865 yards in 1968.

Larry Todd, another veteran runner, broke a tackle and outraced the secondary in completing Stabler's 46-yard touchdown play. Don Highsmith, a seldom publicized rookie from Michigan State, was the best of the first-year running backs.

The Raiders went through a routine day of drill Sunday while Madden and his assistants prepared to make deletions from the roster. The Oakland roster, now numbering 77, must be cut to 60 by Thursday.

Swedes Probe Auto Speedway Tragedy

KARLSKOGA, Sweden (UPI) — Sweden's Minister of Communications Bengt Norling has asked for a detailed report on Sunday's accident in the Swedish Motor Grand Prix.

The accident, the worst in the Swedish Motor history, cost the lives of five persons while another 37 were badly or slightly injured.

The minister said he had asked for a report of the tragic accident to find out if security needs were fulfilled.

"It seems to me that too many accidents during motor races have occurred during the last period," the minister said. "I will study the report to look at the security needs for the crowd."

The crash happened during the first lap of the first heat in the standard car race.

The cars of Swede Rune Tobiassons and Finn Pekka Virtanen hooked onto each other on a straight after an S-Curve. Both cars jumped three yards into the air before whirling over a high earth bank through a barrier. They smashed into the crowd like rockets killing four persons including 19-year-old Hans Petter Strand of Oslo, Norway. The other three killed were Swedes. A fifth victim died later at the Hospital of Oerebro.

Both drivers escaped almost uninjured.

Ashland Oil Shares Should Climb Again

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Should I hold shares of Ashland bought two years ago at 37½? — A.P. Q. I inherited 3,500 shares of Ashland Oil. My goal is growth. What do you suggest? — J.V.

A. Aside from a generous 5 per cent yield and limited further downside risk, Ashland appears to have above-average growth prospects. In addition to the prolonged bear market in oil equities, Ashland shares were further undermined by a shaky domestic gasoline price structure. With near-term prospects for a firmer tone for gas prices poor, exploration results could be a major factor in share recovery. At this time, drilling activities in Indonesia have a greater practical significance than those being carried on in Libya and offshore Ghana. Plans call for the completion of nine wells on its 60,000-acre Indonesian concession by the end of the year. A hit could be of major importance to production-weak Ashland. For the year to end September 30, earnings are expected to reach $2.30 a share, up from $2.15 in fiscal 1969. A. P. should hold for recovery. J. V. might consider reducing his top-heavy position in these shares on any further rebounds.

Q. As a result of a take-over I came into warrants of National General. I am a senior citizen, know little about securities, and less than nothing about these. What do you suggest I do with the warrants? — B. R.

A. Warrants are primarily of interest as a trding vehicle, offering the more speculative investor greater leverage with his funds. They are certainly not a suitable holding for a person in your situation. Although you have not asked, I will offer the opinion that the 4 per cent convertible subordinated debenture, which you received in the same package, is an equally inappropriate holding for you. Suggested as replacements are Boston Edison and Standard Oil of New Jersey, if income is of paramount importance, and Coca-Cola or Plough, Inc. if capital growth is your goal.

Fortune Magazine Apology Due On Penn Central Blast

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fortune Magazine announced Monday it will print an apology in its September issue for the charges made in its August issue concerning the accounting methods of the bankrupt Penn Central Railroad.

Fortune also said it would publish in full a letter from Penn Central's tuditors, Peat, Marwick & Mitchell & Co. refuting in detail the allegations in the August article entitled "The Penn Central Bankruptcy Express" and an accompanying editorial entitled "It's Time To Call The Auditors To Account."

The Peat, Marwick letter, signed by Walter E. Hanson, senior partner, said the Fortune article had misinterpreted the auditor's approved statements by the Penn Central for 1968 and 1969 and that, far from presenting the picture of a company operating in the black, the statements had shown Penn Central to have consolidated net loss of $122 million for 1969 and a consolidated working capital deficiency of $206 million.

The announcement by Fortune conceded that the article was in error on all the points raised in Hanson's letter and expressed regret therefor.

U.S. Electronics Peril To Britain's Industry

LONDON (UPI) — Imports of low priced American electronics components are threatening the British industry and the chief executive of one of the big firms int he field, said the danger was that U.S. firms might win total control of parts of the British market.

The last British government failed to take action to prevent this, but the new government might change Britain's antiquated anti-dumping laws, he said.

Stock Market Volume Light As Blue Chips Lead Decline

S.F. Real Estate Exchange Moves Its Headquarters

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The Pacific Coast Real Estate Exchange was officially opened for trading Monday at 9 a.m. in its new headquarters at 140 Sansome Street.

The clearing house for major nonresidential properties in northern California, the exchange lists five major property types: industrial; commercial; income investment; agricultural; raw land.

Through the exchange, real estate brokers, large property owning corporation, utilities, railroads and institutions list their properties in a computer data bank which is used to match buyers and sellers of large blocks of land and major investment properties.

According to Gerald J. Jackson, president, PCREE now has 35 members and 34 account holders who have committed approximately $1½ billion worth of inventory to the exchange.

"Of special note is the fact that our average listing has climbed to more than $500,000, or double our original projection of $250,000," Jackson said.

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Papercraft Corp. said a hearing examiner for the Federal Trade Commission has upheld the FTC staff contention that Papercraft's purchase of CPS Industries, Inc., at the end of 1967 violated the Clayton Antitrust Law. Papercraft said it will appeal to the courts.

FUNERAL CORTEGE — Massed ranks of Marin County's law officers turned out in this morning's tribute to slain Judge Harold J. Haley. The funeral procession also included long lines of patrol cars, as well as autos of county and cities' dignitaries. Some 60 uniformed officers marched in San Rafael preceding the hearse which carried Haley's casket to the church for Requiem Mass.

'MAN AMONG MEN'

Haley Praised By Man He Jailed

Judge Harold J. Haley today was described as a "man among men" by a San Anselmo man who had been sentenced to a year in jail by Judge Haley.

Neils H. Hansen, 48, of 404 San Francisco Boulevard, in a letter to the Independent-Journal, said he "was able to see the kindness in Judge Haley's eyes even as he pronounced my sentence."

Hansen said in his letter that at the time he stood before the judge for sentencing, the judge "could have destroyed me as a human being . . . Instead, he had a way of letting one know that he cared, and his caring gave me strength."

Hansen stabbed two men during a tavern scuffle in 1968. Judge Haley sentenced him to state prison, but suspended the sentence and placed him on five years of probation and a year in jail.

Hansen described the judge's death as a "very personal loss. I wanted so much to prove to him that his judgment was sound" for not imposing a prison sentence.

"He was kind," Hansen said. "He beat me emotionally on my backside with a two-by-four but he smiled at me.

"Tough as he tried to be, he couldn't hide the twinkle of kind understanding in his big heart.

"I haven't looked at the records," Hansen said, "but I suppose he sent many men to prison. But if those men didn't understand and see the twinkle of kindness, they must have been blind because I know men and Judge Haley was a man among men."

Hansen, who signed his letter "a once upon a time criminal," said he had thought of Judge Haley many times since his day in court. "I don't see his name on a courtroom door, but in the ledger of my heart."

Any man up for sentencing, if he ever felt kindness himself, Hansen said, "could look into Judge Haley's eyes as he pounded the gavel and get down on his knees and say 'thanks . . . Your Honor.'

Several Weeks Needed To Choose New Judge

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Appointment of a successor to Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court will take from four to six weeks, Gov. Ronald Reagan's office reported today.

Prospective candidates will be screened by a committee of Marin citizens, with its recommendations made to the governor, his staff said.

Such committees, under the system adopted by Reagan, usually include three persons, a judge, an attorney selected by the local bar, and a lay member. The membership of such committees is not disclosed.

Municipal judges are one traditional source of candidates for superior court, but this source appeared to be ruled out this time for two reasons.

First, only one incumbent municipal judge is staying on the bench. He is Peter Allen Smith, a Democrat. Governor Reagan has appointed mostly Republicans as judges, which would diminish Judge Smith's candidacy if he were interested in the job.

Political party affiliation, of course, is not the only consideration. Judge Haley, for example, a Republican, was appointed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, a Democrat.

The second barrier to Judge Smith's appointment would be that his appointment would leave all three lower court positions filled with freshmen judges.

Nixon Urges Congress Action To Avert Peril Of 'Ecology Disaster'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Warning of possible "ecological disaster," President Nixon sent Congress an unprecedented report today calling for sweeping changes in American life to protect mankind against its own assaults on the land, air and water.

"We must seek nothing less than a basic reform in the way our society looks at problems and makes decisions," Nixon said in his message forwarding the 326-page report by the White House Council on Environmental Quality. "...In dealing with the environment we must learn not how to master nature but how to master ourselves, our institutions,and our technology."

The report did not predict doom. Nor did it single out scapegoats or propose panaceas. The solutions it suggested were within the framework of American capitalism, and the report specifically rejected the theory that economic growth must stop if the environment is to be saved.

But it said Americans—6 per cent of the world's population consuming 40 per cent of its resources and energy—must begin paying the price of their wants and wastes. Through governmental programing, policies and incentives, the report said, long-term environmental considerations must be weighed in decisions affecting the location of a person's home, his means of transport and even the size of his family.

"Paying taxes and falling back on government programs is not enough," the council said. "People may ultimately have to forego some conveniences and pay higher prices for some goods and services." It said even the price of water may have to increase so waste can be discouraged.

The report went far beyond pollution of the air and water. Warning that unchecked population growth crowds cities and compounds pollution problems, the council suggested steps to

Mourners Line Up, Pay Haley Tribute

Law Officers Form Path For Cortege

By C. P. McCARTHY

Flowers, guitar music and a priest speaking words of joy contrasted today with the quiet of the mourners at the funeral for Judge Harold J. Haley.

Rev. John P. Tierney, pastor of St. Sylvester's Catholic Church, urged hundreds of persons who had jammed inside for a funeral Mass of the Resurrection to rejoice with Judge Haley "on his entrance into eternal life."

CORTEGE FORMS

The funeral cortege formed at Keaton's Mortuary at Fifth Avenue and E Street in San Rafael where dozens of law enforcement officers stood in two lines to salute Judge Haley as the casket was carried to the hearse.

The bells in the tower of the First Presbyterian Church, across the street from Keaton's, tolled as the hearse pulled slowly away — preceded down Fifth Avenue by a line of 25 police cars, their flashing red lights emphasizing the silence of their sirens.

In a limousine behind the hearse rode Judge Haley's wife, Gertrude, and his three daughters, Patricia Davis, Carol Atkinson and Joan Fennone.

ARMED POLICEMAN

A policeman armed with a rifle stood watch atop San Rafael City Hall on Fifth Avenue, which was closed to traffic this morning until the funeral procession had passed.

Judge Haley's parish church in Peacock Gap was already crowded as the hearse and line of cars made their way out San Pedro road, through the hills and along the bay the Judge had known all his life.

The casket was met at the door of the church by Father Tierney, and Reverends Thomas I. Kennedy, pastor of St. Raphael's Church, and John J. O'Connor, director of Catholic Social Services in Marin.

Judge Haley was a longtime parishioner of St. Raphael's.

Among those already in the church as the casket arrived were San Francisco Mayor Joseph L. Alioto, Judge Joseph A. Rattigan of the State Court of Appeals in San Francisco and

PROBE CONTINUES

Some Questions Still Unanswered

Questions to be answered are: Whether Judge Haley would have died if the gunmen had been allowed to make their getaway with hostages; if lack of communication between San Quentin guards manning a roadblock and Sheriff Louis P. Mountanos's office affected the case; the effect of San Quentin policy never to let convicts loose on the community even with hostages; who fired the first shot?

Sheriff's Inspector Ronald Retano is in charge of the overall investigation; he was in the field on the case following Judge Haley's funeral today.

Thomas was in "fair" condition today at Marin General Hospital, "considerably better than he was, but not out of the woods yet," according to his surgeon, Dr. Bradford Simmons. Thomas' spine was severed by a bullet; he is permanently paralyzed from the waist down.

Magee was moved under heavy guard yesterday from Marin General Hospital to the San Quentin prison hospital, where he is in fair condition.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park today reiterated his opinion that Judge Haley was as good as dead the minute three convicts and an outside accomplice took over the courtroom Friday.

"I'm almost certain the two men (Haley and Thomas) would have been executed," Park said, but he was less certain of the fate of three women hostages, Maria Elena Graham of San Rafael, Joyce Rodoni of Point Rayes Station and Joyce Wittmer of Mill Valley.

The four men who took the hostages were James D. McClain, 37, San Quentin inmate on trial for a prison guard's stabbing; William A. Christmas, 27; Ruchell Magee, 31 — both fellow inmates and witnesses in McClain's trial, and an outside accomplice, Jonathan P. Jackson, 17, of Pasadena.

McClain, Christmas and Jackson died in the shoot-out. Thomas, whose wife Maureen is Judge Haley's niece, has told officials he grabbed a gun inside the escape van and shot three of the plotters.

The van's stopping by a roadblock manned by prison guards apparently was the fault of a communications breakdown.

Peruvian Airliner Crashes, Killing 49 U.S. Students

CUZCO, Peru (UPI)—A Peruvian airliner crashed and exploded in the Andes Sunday, killing 49 U.S. high school students and 52 other persons. There was one survivor.

The plane had just taken off fro[m] the tourist city of Cuzco when the pilot reported engine trouble,

Among the dead were high school students from throughout the United States who arrived in Peru a month ago under sponsorship of International Fellowship, Inc., a cultural exchange organization of Buffalo, N.Y.

The students were returning to Lima from Cuzco after visiting one of South America's most dramatic tourist sights, the ruins of Macchu Picchu, the ancient mountain top capital of the Inca civilization outside Cuzco, 365 miles southeast of Lima.

The pilot of the Lockheed Electra propjet of LANSA Airlines radioed Cuzco airport that he was having trouble with one of the four engines and was returning to Cuzco.

The plane apparently lost altitude as it made a turn and smashed into a hill near the village of San Jeronimo, 11 miles from Cuzco. It exploded and burst into flames.

Juan Loo, a student pilot, survived. He was found in a tree, critically injured.

It was the worst air crash in Peruvian history. The worst previous crash had been that of a Brazilian Varig jet that crashed otside Lima Nov. 27, 1962, killing 93 persons.

LANSA said 100 persons were aboard the plane, 92 passengers and eight crewmen.

Indian potato farmers and government national guards men gathered bodies from the rocky hillsides of the Andes today and a Peruvian government Civil Aeronautics investigation team flew to Cuzco.

Witnesses said the bodies and wreckage were scattered for 600 yards and most of the bodies were badly burned. Bodies of some students were clad in brightly-colored ponchos and other clothing bought as mementos of the trip.

The Minstry of Transport said the crash occurred at 2:46 p.m. (3:46 p.m. EDT).

The American students had been studying Spanish in Lima schools and made the trip to Cuzco to visit Macchu Picchu. They had been staying in Peruvian homes while in Lima and were scheduled to return to the United States Sept. 2. They were part of a group of 120 American students in Peru in connection with the program. Not all made the trip to Cuzco.

The American students had arrived in Cuzco Thursday and on Friday they took a four-hour train trip to the ruins of Macchu Picchu, outside Cuzco, an 11,270-foot high city where Indians still herd llamas through the streets.

Hitler Regarded Stalin Highly, Ex-Nazi Says

NEW YORK (UPI)—Adolf Hitler regarded Josef Stalin as the best man to handle the Russians and had the Nazis won the war, Stalin may have been kept on as leader of the Soviet people, according to one of Hitler's closest confidants.

"In general, he (Hitler) regarded Stalin as a kind of colleague," says Albert Speer, Hitler's architect and later his Minister of Armaments and War Production.

In his book, Inside The Third Reich (MacMillan), published this month, Speed writes that Hitler felt more and more respect for Stalin as the war ground on.

Hitler remarked "with jesting tone of voice that it would be best, after a victory over Russia, to entrust the administration of the country to Stalin, under German hegemony, of course, since he was the best imaginable man to handle the Russians," Speer writes.

"Did Hitler think that his real enemy lay in the west?" the author asks. "Did he feel solidarity with, let alone sympathy for, Stalin's regime? I recall a good many earlier remarks of his which could possibly be interpreted in that sense and which might be seen as the motivation for his conduct at this time."

—Herman Goering, a dope addict and a glutton who describes Hitler's dinner menu as "too rotten for my taste."

—Heinrich Himmler, the SS chief who thought the Allies would demand his services as police chief of Germany once they won the war.

Speer, who was sentenced to 20 years in prison for his part in the building of the Nazi war machine, recalls that Hitler once told him: "There are two possibilities for me: To win through with my plans or to fail. If I win, I shall be one of the greatest men in history. If I fail, I shall be condemned, despised and damned."

Alioto Greets Visiting Congolese President

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — President Joseph Desire Mobutu of the Congo was greeted Friday by Mayor Joseph L. Alioto and other dignitaries as he arrived for a brief visit.

Mobutu, 39, and his wife were taken by motorcade to the St. Francis Hotel, where he met during the afternoon with executives of Kaiser Industries.

Rock Festival Ends Early In Pot Smog

GOOSE LAKE, Mich. (UPI) —The Goose Lake rock festival closed early today with final amplifier blasts piercing the marijuana fog and last warnings to the crowd of about 200,000 to avoid police on the way home.

"Don't take your dope with you, the police are waiting outside," announcers urged the crowd. "Share it."

The crowd cheered and across the darkened amphitheater youths leaped beside huge bonfires, twirled sparklers, yelled and threw rockets and fire crackers into the air.

Some of the young people had left for their Midwest and Canadian homes earlier in the day. But most spread their tarps and sleeping bags to end the sun and drug-drenched festival with a third night of rock music.

They left behind mounds of empty beer and pop cans, wine bottles, popsicle sticks, watermelon rinds and other debris. Garbage pickup was provided by the park.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

Against Mergers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., warning of a breakdown in the nation's transportation system, called today for suspension of all railroad mergers and action to stop the trend toward transportation conglomerates.

The chairman of the Senate Antitrust subcommittee urged the Interstate Commerce Committee to "suspend all railroad merger proceedings except in cases of extreme financial emergency." He said the ICC should recommend dissolving the merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central Railroads as a long-term solution to the bankrupt Penn Central's financial crisis.

Travel Curbed

MOSCOW (UPI) — Authorities imposed travel restrictions and antiepidemic measures today because of a cholera threat in the Soviet Union's southern regions.

The Health Ministry informed western embassies that a number of major cities from Odessa to Baku were closed to tourist travel.

Performers Call Disneyland Strike

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — About 20 members of the American Guild of Variety Artists maintained a weekend picket line in front of Disneyland to support demands for pay raises from the "Magic Kingdom."

Penny Singleton, AGVA president, said the group had not heard from management. Miss Singleton, a former actress who played Blondie in the Dagwood and Blondie movies, said the walkout was for "decent livable salaries."

The strike was called Saturday after two-month-old contract negotiations broke down Friday. A Disneyland spokesman said the pickets affected certain live shows but had no impact on the park's operating hours or other attractions.

Trust Fund

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI) — Philanthropist John Hay Whitney has estblished a $15 million trust fund to finance new housing units at Yale University.

The university said it is one of the largest donations ever made by an individual to Yale.

The gift, Yale said, would help ease overcrowded conditions in the school's resident colleges and relieve the pressure on private housing in New Haven resulting from the admission of women last year. The fund will finance resident units for some 600 men and women undergraduates.

Kunstler Booked

TORONTO (UPI) — Chicago Seven lawyer William Kunstler was booked on assault charges stemming from an earlier appearance as he arrived here Sunday to deliver a speech.

Kunstler was released on a $500 bond on his own recognizance and was to appear in court today.

Three assault charges were placed against the lawyer by two members of the rightwing Edmond Burke Society after a fracas broke out during his appearance June 22 at the University of Toronto.

Kunstler Sunday night, after his arrest, said the reason he returned to Toronto to face the charges was that by not doing so other speakers and audiences might feel intimidated in the future.

Suspect Guarded In Oakland Killing

OAKLAND (UPI) -- Police maintained a hospital watch today on a man they say shot and killed Mrs. Dorothy Bridges, 47, Oakland's first female high school principal.

The body of Mrs. Bridge, who became Castlemont High School's principal July 9, was found Saturday in her backyard.

Tillman was taken to Highland Hospital in critical condition and police inspectors say they know no cause for the shooting.

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Warren Marchialetti, 19, Los Angeles, was returned here from Las Vegas, Nev., after authorities who arrested him on a burglary charge learned he was wanted in Los Angeles in connection with a homicide.

Marchialetti, arrested Sunday on the burglary charge, was booked in city jail. Police said it was discovered Marchialetti was beng slought by Los Angeles police in connection with the slaying of Robert Dumas of North Hollywood last July 31.

The suspect waived extradition Friday.

Cambodians Battling Cong In Phnom Penh

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Cambodian defenders battled Viet Cong infiltrators today two miles from downtown Phnom Penh in the Communists' closest penetration to the capital yet. The din of battle awoke the city before dawn.

Field reports from Saigon said Viet Cong and North Vietnamese units shelled 25 Allied installations overnight and ground fighting, plane crashes and mine and booby trap explosions killed -0 Americans and wounded 41.

It was the heaviest one day casualty toll in more than two weeks.

Spokesmen said U. S. troop strength in Vietnam dropped by 350 men last week to 406,350 as part of the Nixon administration's 50,000-man withdrawal to be completed by Oct. 16.

Three Americans were killed today when an Air Force C123 cargo plane crashed into the South China Sea as it came in for a landing at Cam Ranh Bay, 185 miles northeast of Saigon.

Cambodian field commanders said today the defenders of Phnom Penh engaged the Communist troops shortly before midnight a half mile from the far end of a bridge across the Tonle Sap River into downtown Phnom Penh. The span is 1-1-2 miles from the city's center.

A series of explosions rattled windows and caused buildings in the capital to tremble shortly after 11 p.m. Sunday night. Residents ran onto balconies and shouted to passersby, asking whether the city was under bombardment.

Newsmen werre barred from crossing the bridge but an officer in a jeep returning from the scene of the fighting said Cambodian Marines were firing on the infiltrators with 75mm recoilless rifles a half-mile away.

It was the second time in four days Communist troops had attacked government positions near the capital. In action late last week, an estimated 300 Communist troops attacked Cambodian defensive positions four miles from the center of Phnom Penh.

The Cambodian command said previous defeats of the infiltrators confirmed that Phnom Penh's defenses were alert and adequate. Nevertheless, security was tightened. Government checkpoints screened traffic at all major intersections and travel near Mekong River docks was prohibited.

Train Wreck In Spain Kills 38, Hurts 183

BILBAO, Spain (UPI) — A train packed with holidaymakkers on the way home from the beach smashed head-on into an empty train near Bilbao in northern Spain Sunday night, killing nearly 40 persons.

Police said 38 bodies had been spotted or recovered from the wreckage and 183 persons were injured.

Rescuers used blow torches and crowbars today to pry through the wreckage in search of more victims.

A railway spokesman said the wreck was apparently caused by a signalman accidentally switching the empty train onto the track used by the loaded one. The collision occurred near a tunnel slightly more than a mile from the Plencia train station just after 8 p.m.

Volunteer worker Domingo Murcia said it looked like "Dante's Inferno."

There were several children among the dead, and confusion everywhere," Murcia said. "The trains were nothing but a mountain of junk."

Governors Reject Road Fund Power

LAKE OF THE OZARKS, Mo. (UPI) — The National Governors conference today rejected a plan to give states more power over federal transportation money.

The governors voted 23-12 to strip trat proposal from the report of its transportation committee, headed by Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington.

Fears were expressed by some governors that their states would lose highway construction money to mass transit systems.

Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe had endorsed the general language of the proposal and said no state would lose money. Instead, he said, some states might be allowed to spend more money for highways, if Congress went along with the idea and those states wanted to spend the money available for airports or mass transit on roads.

Evans said no state would lose money under the plan and that it would meet a fear that money now going into the highway trust fund, financed by gasoline taxes, might eventually be used for purposes other than transportation.

Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller of Arkansas offered a motion, which carried on a show of hands, to recommit that section of the report for further study and clarfiication.

Some governors grumbled today that a communications gap was developing between the states and the disciples of "new federalism" in the Nixon administration.

They may have felt snubbed. Neither President Nixon nor Vce President Spiro T. Agnew was expected to appear at the 62nd annual national governors' conference which opened Sunday at this central Missouri lake resort.

Both addressed the 1969 conference to extoll the virtues of the new federalism program, which the President had outlined a month earlier with its proposals for sharing federal revenue with the states without strings on its use, for welfare reform and for job training.

Gov. Warren E. Hearnes of Missouri, a Democrat, told a news conference Sunday that Agnew, who first was named by Nixon to deal with the governors, apparently had been moved to new assignments. He said Nils Boe, director of the White House Office of Intergovernmental Relations and former governor of South Dakota, lacked the power of men who dealt with the governors during the Johnson administrations.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado, conference chairman and a Republican, said he did not agree completely about difficulties in reaching the administration. But he did say there was "difficulty in structure" but that the governors' conference also was weak in its relations with Congress.

One senior Republican said privately Boe did not speak with the authority of three officials who represented the Johnson administration in relations with the states. The three were Buford Ellington, Price Daniel and Farris Bryant, all former governors when they served as directors of what is now the Office of Emergency Management.

"But I can't call the vice president of the United States every time I have a problem involving the Department of Health, Education and Welfare," this Republican governor said.

Speculation was heard at the conference that the Nixon administration may want to create a new mechanism for dealing with relations between the state and national governments.

Hijack Fear Means Extra Dulles Stop

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A New York to San Juan airliner with 120 aboard made an unscheduled stop of more than an hour at Dulles International Airport today when a 34-year-old passenger made a remark which raised fears of a hijacking.

The passenger, identified by the FBI as Angel DeVila Jr. of 1158 Colgate Ave., the Bronx, N.Y., was taken from the Eastern Airlines plane moments after it landed and questioned by FBI agents. (Eastern spelled his last name with two L's). No charges apparently were placed against him immediately.

He was not armed. According to an Eastern spokesman, a stewardess on flight 923 overheard him make several remarks about Cuba and reported to the pilot.

It was the pilot's decision to divert to Dulles, the spokesman said.

According to an official of the Federal Aviation Administration (FAA), the pilot reported to the traffic control center that the man was quoted as saying the plane "would never make their destination."

There were 112 passengers and a crew of eight aboard the airliner when the episode began over the Atlantic.

20 U.S. Students Safe After Czech Incident

SCHWANDORF, Germany (UPI)—Twenty American high school students returned to their German studies today after being involved in a weekend border incident.

The students, living with families in this Bavarian village near the Czechoslovak border for a four week intensive course in the German language, were detained a little more than 11 hours by Czech border guards when they unknowingly strayed across the frontier along with their tour leader and three West Germans at about 5 p.m. Saturday.

The group, affiliated with "Phoenix International Classrooms Incorporated," were turned over to Bavarian border police at 4:15 a.m. Sunday at a road crossing point at Warzenried, a few miles distant from the main West German-Czechoslovak border check point of Furth-Im-Wald.

News of the border incident spread fears among the students' parents back home. A U.S. consulate spokesman in Munich reported calls from worried parents in Denver and Minneapolis at 4 a.m. Sunday.

But the students passed over the incident lightly and one of them described it as "kind of fun."

The student, John R. Mahoney, 18, of Robbinsdale, Minn., said from the home of his Schwandorf hosts the group did not know the edge of a wood marked the border with Czechoslovakia and a white warning sign had been knocked over and therefore was not noticed by the group.

"We thought the border was the big barbed wire fence. We walked up and looked at it but we never went too close," Mahoney said.

He said on their way back "two soldiers came up to us. We didn't understand what they were saying but they wanted us to go with them."

He said the soldiers took them to an outpost and then took their names, addresses and birthdates. Mahoney said the guards were "very nice. They gave us little souvenirs and built us a fire and kept gathering wood to put on it. I thought it was kind of fun."

Bill Is Added To Assembly Tax Package

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — In an effort to get Gov. Ronald Reagan's stalled tax program moving again, Assembly floor managers have added a third bill to the package.

With AB 1001 stopped in the Senate for lack of one vote, and AB 1000 awaiting technical approval in the Assembly, a dormant bill which has already passed the Senate was revived, to delay the effective date of the change the amount of withholding-tax "forgiveness" contained in the other bills.

The original package had Aug. 1 as the date the sales tax increase would go into effect, and the newly-revived bill changes it to Sept. 1.

This represents a difference of about $40 million in revenues, which would throw the whole package out of balance.

To overcome this, the bill would also reduce the forgiveness feature under witholding by $40 million, from $435 million to $395 million.

California Reports Nation's Hot Spots

NEW YORK (UPI)—The highest temperature reported Friday by the U.S. Weather Bureau, excluding Hawaii and Alaska, was 117 degrees at Blythe, Imperial and Thermal, Calif.

Assembly Committee Again Kills Bill Against Emissions

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — For the second year in a row, the Assembly Transportation Committee killed a Senate bill intended to rule the internal combustion engine off California highways.

The bill, SB 66 by Sen. Nicholas Petris, D-Oakland, went a step further than his last year's bill, which referred specifically to the internal engines that power approximately 12 million vehicles owned and driven by Californians.

SB 66 would have ruled off the road by 1975 any engine that put any emissions of any kind in any quantity into the atmosphere.

The Air Resources Board opposed the measure, and its spokesman said the effect of SB 66 would be to discourage research into reducing emissions from conventional engines as well as into steam, gas turbine and natural gas engines.

He said it would limit propulsive power to electric motors, but another witness countered that even the batteries that power electric motors give off emissions and they too would be banned by the bill.

Mourners In Long Line To Pay Haley Tribute

Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken.

The archbishop gave absolution of sins following the Mass.

The police departments of every Marin city were represented, as were the Marin County Sheriff's office, California Highway Patrol, San Quentin guards, Alameda police and Sacramento sheriff's deputies.

The three priests, dressed in white robes of joy, led the casket up the center aisle of the church and the service began.

During the Mass, Father Tierney described the slain judge as a man "who held Christ first in everything he did" and as a man "who listened attentively to the voice of truth."

In a biblical reference the priest spoke of "Harold, the rare person, the rare man, who could say 'Yes, Master, I believe.' "

Father Tierney said the "festive, even triumphal tone" of the Mass's liturgy did not drown out the voice of Judge Haley; the flowers and candles surrounding the altar did not block the sight of Judge Haley, and the crowd packed into the church did not erase the memory of Judge Haley praying alone after Mass.

The judge was described by the priest as a man who respected mankind, who was "kind and careful" not to offend. He quoted the judge's last recorded words, "Remember, there are human lives at stake."

prison official Park said. The guard's car radios use a different frequency than the sheriff's department.

Sheriff Mountanos said he had ordered his men to allow the gunmen to escape with the hostages, with a tail of unmarked deputies' cars.

Park explained that prison guards are indoctrinated never to let prisoners escape with hostages, for two reasons:

"Our obligation in a prison setting is not to allow" dangerous men to escape into the community, and "if you let a hostage deal" succeed, "you're going to have to deal with it forever more."

"When our officers report to an outside agency" as on Friday, "they are under command of the outside agency," Park said. But if — as they reported after Friday's violence — they get no orders to the contrary, the guards are trained to follow their standard procedures.

Park said, "as far as I'm concerned," the prison guard did not fire the first shot. But he noted many conflicting eyewitness accounts.

Exact sequence of the shooting — whether the gunmen triggered the shotgun against Judge Haley's head first, whether San Quentin guard John Wells fired first to halt the van, still are being straightened out in Retano's investigation.

That Judge Haley died and not one of two other superior court judge's was the result of the play of fortune.

The superior court clerk said today that the case was to have been handled by Judge E. Warren McGuire, but he was too busy. Next in line was Judge Samuel W. Gardiner, but he was on vacation. The fateful case fell to Judge Haley.

Two Juveniles Returned To Hall

Two Marin juvenile Hall escapees were returned to the center yesterday afternoon when a San Rafael woman spotted the pair in her yard and phoned police.

Police said they found Kenneth D. Brown, 15, of 9 Laurel Place, San Rafael, and Carl D. Anger, 15, of 81 Graceland Drive, San Rafael, in the backyard of the Joan Constance Erwin residence, 1440 Lincoln Avenue.

Officials at the center said Brown escaped Aug. 1 from the hall's preplacement section and Anger ran from a counselor Saturday while on a garbage detail outside the center.

Both will face hearings in juvenile court for the escapes.

Novatan Hurt In Fall Off Roof In Petaluma

Michael Weigner, 30, of 1690 Hill Road, Novato, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Hillcrest Hospital with injuries suffered is a fall from a roof Friday.

The Petaluma fire department said Weiger fell from a roof at 811 Stony Point Road north of Petaluma when he was struck by a sliding five-gallon bucket.

Panel Vetoes English Pub Zoning Plea

Commercial zoning for an English pub at the entrance to Muir Beach lost by a 3-to-2 vote of the Marin County Planning Commission today.

Charles Felix, who owns a half-acre parcel at the corner of Shoreline Highway and Pacific Way, wanted to build a small English-pub type of restaurant. "It will be a tudor type of house, with parking among the trees," said Felix.

But he met an almost solid opposition from residents of the Beach community of 170. Mrs. J. Paul Oppenheim of Muir Beach said the residents met about three weeks ago and opposed any type of commercial enterprise. She was backed by three other speakers and four who wrote letters, all opposing commercial zoning.

Commissioner Eugene R. Trombley moved for approval, backed by John F. West. West explained that commercial will come eventually and it is better to plan a commercail zone now than "Let it develop willy nilly." Furthermore, said West, planned commercial zoning allows strict control over what type of enterprise will be permitted.

However, they were outvoted by Hugh Dougherty, Edward Hageman and Jack G. Nixon.

"Cars are already illegally parked on Shoreline Highway," said Dougherty. "Because of the small size of the community, there is no reason that commercial is necessary."

Both chairman Walter F. Freitas and commissioner Margaret B. Azevedo were absent this morning. Nixon served as chairman.

Panels To Discuss Park Land Swap

Members of Mill Valley's parks and recreation and planning commissions will meet at Sycamore Park at 7:30 p.m. today to inspect the property which the city is considering trading for the park.

Trans-Marin Properties had proposed swapping about an acre of the park for a slightly larger parcel near La Goma Street and Miller Avenue. The firm would build an apartment development on the former parkland.

Commissioners will meet at 8 p.m. at City Hall to discuss the trade and a preliminary feasibility study of the city's small craft harbor.

Tiburon District To Weigh Study Tonight

Directors of the Tiburon Sanitary District will hold a specal meeting tonight to consider a resolution opposing the district's inclusion in an improvement district being formed by the Marin Municipal Water District to finance a pre-engineering study of waste disposal in Southern Marin.

Secretary Robert A. Sterling said the meeting will take place at 6:30 p.m. at the treatment plant at Trestle Glen and Tiburon boulevards.

Two-Panel Parley To Discuss Creek Plans

The Bel Marin Keys Community Services District board will meet with county and flood control representatives at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday to discuss improvements to Novato Creek.

Donald R. Frost, county director of public works, and members of the Novato Flood Control Zone board will attend the meeting at the community center.

School Board Agenda

Sale of the Stinson Beach School site will be discussed by Trustees of the Bolinas-Stinson School District today at 8 p.m. in Bolinas School. Hiring of two teachers for next year will also be considered by the board.

Ernest C. Zunino and Robert A. Smallman are opposing one another in the November general election for the seat being vacated by Municipal Court Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr.

And Judge Hadden W. Roth has resigned, effective on Sept. 1, opening the possibility that Reagan will appoint one of the two candidates to Roth's position so the other can run unopposed in November.

The Governor's office noted today that an appointment to replace Roth would not be announced until after Roth has left the bench.

Appointment of a temporary judge to the seat left vacant by Judge Haley's slaying would be up to the presiding judge, the governor's office said.

A 29-year-old convict from Los Angeles died Friday in San Quentin Hospital of a cerebral hemorrhage, prison authorities reported.

Larry B. Taylor, committed to San Quentin in 1969 for armed robbery, burglary and possession of marijuana, was hospitalized three weeks ago for cardiovascular ailments, according to Associate Warden James W. L. Park.

Plans Begun On Mideast Peace Talks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt met with top advisers in Cairo today to plan for peace talks with Israeli, and a cease-fire stilled guns on major Arab-Israeli fronts despite a Palestine guerrilla call for "a second Vietnam" against the Jewish state.

There was guarded optimism that peace talks under the auspices of U. N. mediator Gunnar V. Jarring could begin soon. The time, place and level of representation remained to be worked out.

Israel's ambassador to the United States, Yitzhak Rabin, headed back to Washington from talks in Tel Aviv with Premier Golda Meir. He said he thought the details of the Jarring talks would be determined in the next few days.

Diplomatic sources have said that Foreign Minister Abba S. Eban may represent Israel. Nasser met in Cairo today with his foreign minister, Mahmoud Riad, and Mohammed Hassan El-Zayyat, Egypt's chief U. N. delegate.

Jarring worked at U. N. headquarters in New York, awaiting word from the Israelis and Arabs on how soon, where and at what level talks for peace can begin.

Meanwhile, the Soviet Union has rejected the idea of a big power Middle East arms embargo as part of the current Arab-Israeli peace effort, diplomatic sources said today.

The Russians said that an arms embargo—if at all—could not be considered by them before a political settlement is reached in the embattled Middle East region, the sources said.

The problem of halting the flow of arms to the belligerents in the Middle East has been one of the key issues in the past international efforts to scale down the fighting in the area and to force the contestants in the conflict to try to come to negotiated terms.

Guerrillas Kill U.S. Adviser In Uruguay

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UPI)—The body of Dan Mitrione, a U. S. adviser to Uruguay's police was found today 10 days after he was kidnaped by the Tupamaro guerrilla organization that had demanded the release of all political prisoners in the country as ransom.

President Jorge Pacheco Areco, who had refused the ransom demands, responded to Mitrione's murder by asking Congress to give him dictatorial powers as a means of saving another American and a Brazilian diplomat, also kidnaped and held by the Tupamaros.

Congress was scheduled to meet this afternoon to act on Pacheco Areco's request, which would drastically alter the traditional social democracy of this smallest nation in South America.

The Tupamaros announced Saturday they would execute Mitrione because the government had not responded to the ransom demands, but there has been no further word on the other two kidnap victims—U. S. agriculture consultant Claude Fly and Brazilian Consul Aloysio Dias Gomide.

Police said Mitrione's body was found in the back of a stolen car parked on a Montevideo street. He had been bound, gagged and shot twice in the head, police said.

The Tupamaros announced their ransom demand a week ago after kidnaping Mitrone and the Brazilian on July 31. Fly was kidnaped last Friday. Police sources estimated the number of political prisoners in Uruguay at 150, most of them suspected members of the Tupamaro group.

An anonymous telephone caller told a Montevideo radio station Sunday afternoon that Mitrione was "executed" because the Uruguayan government refused to release all of its political prisoners — a number estimated 150 — as ransom.

The caller said the terrorists would kill the other two hostages unless Uruguay met the demands.

Mitrione and Dias Gomide, 41, were kidnaped July 31 and Fly, 65, was seized Friday.

Mitrione put up a struggle and was shot in the chest before he was finally subdued by 10 kidnapers.

U.S. Judicial System Needs Big Overhaul Job, Burger Tells Bar

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said today the federal judicial system must be overhauled to reduce crime and cope with new laws generated by changing times.

"Today I place this burden squarely on you, the leaders of the legal profession, in common with all judges," Burger told the opening session of the American Bar Association's 93rd annual convention.

The judicial process have remained essentially static for 200 years, he told the lawyers, and Thomas Jefferson would need only "a quick briefing" to step into a federal court today and do very well.

In the first speech ever given by a chief justice on the "state of the judiciary," Burger said "The most simple and obvious" way to deter criminal conduct is "to give the courts the manpower and tools, including the prosecutor and defense lawyers, to try criminal cases within 60 days after indictment and let us see what happens."

"I predict it would sharply reduce the crime rate," he said.

Congress, he continued, is inclined to enact new laws—to meet legitimate needs—without recognizing how the courts will be affected.

"This is dramatically illustrated in the current budget of the Office of Economic Opportunity," he said. "Congress has granted . . . $58 million for legal services. That $58 million is a sound commitment to an underprotected segment of our people whose rights have suffered because they could not afford a lawyer . . . We should applaud Congress for taking that step. But cases cannot always be settled by lawyers and the burden thus falls on the court."

The entire cost of the federal judicial system is $128 million, he told the lawyers, while one C5A aircraft costs $200 million.

The chief justice recommended an infusion of trained administrators or "traffic managers" to allow judges more time to hear cases.

"We are almost half a century behind the medical profession in this respect," he said.

Burger suggested creation of a judiciary council of perhaps six members, one-third from each government branch, to report to the President, Congress and the Judicial Conference on matters affecting the judiciary. The judicial conference is the administrative arm of the federal system. He said the council could, among others things, repot on the impact of proposed legislation on the courts; study proper allocation of jurisdiction between state and federal courts, and conditions whether federal courts should continue to try automobile collision cases when the parties live in different states.

Other recommendations:

—The entire structure of administering bankruptcy and receivership matters should be studied.

—The whole process of appeals should be re-examined to remove cumbersome and costly factors.

—Crime prevention should include the needs of the prison system and probation and parole services.

Burger said, "A sense of confidence in the courts is essential to maintain the fabric of ordered liberty for a free people."

This confidence could be destroyed, he said, if Americans come to believe inefficiency will delay and prevent a judgment, if people "who have long been exploited come to believe that courts cannot indicate their legal rights from fraud and over-reaching in the smaller transactions of daily life."

Confidence could also be destroyed, he concluded, if people come to believe that the law "cannot fulfill its primary function to protect them and their families in their homes and on the public streets."

Closed Bank's Official Says No Losses Suffered So Far

EATONTOWN, N.J. (UPI)—A vice president of a bank ordered closed by federal officials because of a missing $3 million said today the institution had not yet suffered a loss.

Eugene Landy, vice president and reportedly the largest stockholder of the Eatontown National Bank said bank president Douglas J. Schotte had opened accounts for 15 brokerage firms and signed cashier checks totaling $5 million issued to the firms payable by the bank.

But Landy said because the accounts were never authorized by the bank it could not be held responsible for the checks, dated between July 11 and Aug. 5.

All the brokerage firms involved were members of the New York Stock Exchange, he said.

The bank was ordered closed by federal officials Friday when an audit disclosed $3 million was missing.

Over the weekend 23 agents of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. (FDIC) moved into the bank to check records.

The FBI also has begun an investigation, apparently because of the possibility of embezzlement. But no charges have been made and police refused to discuss who, if anyone, was suspected.

The FDIC insures the 13,000 depositors of the bank to a limit of $20,000. George W. Hill, assistant chief of the FDIC, said instructions for depositors to get their money back would be released about midweek. Reimbursement was expected within 10 days of the bank's closing.

Depositors remained calm on hearing the news, although, of course, some expressed disappointment. "The people who are hurt most are those who deposit their checks and then write checks," Charlene Foster, 21, said. "They can't send those checks out now."

2 Sentenced To Watch Autopsies

SEATTLE (UPI)—You may be watching an autopsy if you drive recklessly in Judge Gil Duckworth's jurisdiction.

The judge, who has sentenced two youths to watch human autopsies because of bad driving, said Sunday he considers it an extreme measure.

But he added that ordinary fines and jail sentences are often ineffective.

One youth, so sentenced, said it made him ill but changed his mind about driving recklessly.

"I think it changed this young fellow's view considerably," said the judge who has been on the bench for 16 years.

Our Ancestors Really Ones To Blame For Creek Project

The Army Corps of Engineers flood control project on Corte Madera Creek in the vicinity of College of Marin campus is an ugly thing to behold.

Below Kent Avenue where the giant concrete flume is largely completed, it is a visually shocking successor to the rather picturesque, tree-lined tidal creek which it replaces.

Upstream, where construction activities are in full swing, the view is even more shocking. What only a few short months ago was a very beautiful tree-lined stream is now a barren tumble of upturned earth. No sign of the former beauty is left. It is as if some fairy-tale giant had run his plough through the area and just turned everything under.

Who is to blame for all this?

It would be simple to blame the Corps of Engineers or the College District trustees, as some do. Simple, that is, in the dictionary sense of the word: "uneducated, mentally retarded, half-witted, credulous, naive, unsophisticated."

The plain fact is that the old natural creek, or what was left of it, just could not carry peak flows of water. Periodic floods were inevitable.

Every flood brought grave personal loss to those who live in areas subject to flooding.

THE HISTORY OF GRANTON Park in the past generation has been tragic. One family after another bought homes there because when they shopped the Marin market it seemed to be the most they could get for the money — which usually was all (or slightly more) than they could afford.

When the first flood came, what a shock! Some lost their automobiles. Most lost household articles. Yards were covered with a layer of mud and silt. Waters rose six or more feet above the street. It would be terrifying to the newcomer.

Then would come the realization that he had contracted to make payments on this flooded property for the next 20 or more years. What a prospect!

In such a situation there is only one thing to do. The damage must be repaired. Signs of the flood erased by cleaning and painting. In the spring the place goes on the market for whatever it will bring; it must be sold.

Someone else got a "bargain" and the cycle would start again.

Fortunately, the trustees of the College foresaw the growing need for additional property and began a program of acquiring Granton Park property whenever it became available. (When the College bought it with taxpayers' money, however, they never seemed to get much of a "bargain.")

WHEN THE CORTE MADERA Creek flood control project is complete, we should see no more floods in along the waterway, thank God.

But we will have forevermore to look at the unattractive concrete flume and be reminded of the beautiful tree-lined creek it replaced.

Why couldn't we have left nature alone?

The creek flooded naturally. In order to retain it in its natural state, it would have been necessary to forbid development anywhere in the whole bottom of the lower Ross Valley from Sir Francis Drake on the north to Magnolia and Kent avenues on the south.

Unfortunately, the Indians, the Spanish and the Mexicans had no planning restrictions when they occupied Marin. And the Anglos built here for 80 years before a planning commission was established.

In short, we should blame our ancestors and not the Corps of Engineers for the ugly concrete flume which is replacing picturesque Corte Madera Creek.

THE DRUMMONDS

When Reds Ready To Negotiate At Paris, Their Rhetoric Will End

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON — You will soon be seeing conflicting reports on the Paris peace talks.

Some will be hopeful, some hopeless. These guidelines will help keep things straight:

1 — Ignore subtle shifts in Communist rhetoric. A soft phrase one day, a harsh word the next mean next to nothing. That's not the way the Communists signal their intentions.

2 — Bear in mind that when the Communists want it known that they wish to begin serious negotiations or are ready to break a deadlock, they disclose it succinctly and visibly: The signal is loud and clear. Then will be the time to pay strict attention.

THESE GUIDES to understanding the Paris talks do not come from the ivory tower. They are based on solid negotiating experience since the end of World War II.

In all the diplomatic dealings which the United States has had with the Communists — the Austrian treaty, the Korean armistice, the nuclear test ban — two things have invariably been evident: When the Communists don't want to negotiate, they use muddy and meandering language as a diplomatic ploy. When they want to negotiate, they put aside diplomatic verbiage and come out with the straight truth.

Dr. Fred Charles Ikle, social science head at Rand Corp., documented these points in recent testimony before the Senate subcommittee on national security and international operations.

HE POINTED OUT, for example, that in the Korean war, when the Communists were ready to begin armistice negotiations, "Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik clearly and simply said so in the United Nations and there were no precursors to his announcement to be discovered between the lines of Soviet or North Korean propaganda statements. Indeed, prior to the Communist proposal for armistice talks, all the rhetoric and verbiage from China and North Korea pointed in the opposite direction."

There are numerous other instances which reinforce this. There were long periods during which the Communists shunned serious negotiations to end the Allied occupation of Austria, to bring about the underground nuclear test ban and to control the strategic arms race. The long preliminaries were full of double talk; when the Soviets were ready for business, plain talk.

THERE IS GOOD reason to assume that when Hanoi wants to negotiate a settlement of the Vietnamese war — if it ever does — we don't have to speculate about Communist intentions. They'll say so and quietly get down to serious talks.

Some Americans appear to accept the view that the North Vietnamese wouldn't negotiate because chief negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge had been withdrawn from the U.S. side. Not plausible. They didn't negotiate when he was present, and they said they wouldn't negotiate while he was absent.

Some Americans appear to believe that the North Vietnamese wouldn't negotiate just because they didn't like our proposals for negotiation. Hardly plausible. We have offered to discuss any proposals they offer and vice versa. We get plenty of words, no negotiation.

SOME AMERICANS are prematurely hopeful that the appointment of Ambassador David Bruce to replace Lodge will quickly get productive talks going. Hardly plausible. The Communists are not interested in the personality of the U.S. negotiator.

When will the North Vietnamese negotiate? When they decide that the South Vietnamese are going to be able to defend themselves effectively and that they — the North Vietnamese — can do better for themselves at the conference table than at the battle front.

Reader Rips Cartoon On Farm Subsidies

On what is your reputaion based? Honesty of reporting? Impartiality? Fairness? If you subscribe to these tenents, then why did you publish the cartoon of the be-minked, diamond-studded farmer and his wife standing in front of a government building labeled $35 billion crop subsidy program?

What do you know about this program? Could you inform the readers of your paper about this bill from beginning to end in a succinct viable fashion? Please tell me on what you base your facts, your impartiality, your fairness? I and the rest of your readers have a right to know. We are paying the taxes to finance this program that you picture as being totally unworthy . . . if it is worthy, then it is so only for your contempt.

The farmer has to — by law of our country — take over half his land out of production. How would you like to take over half your equipment out of production? You would still have to pay taxes on all your equipment — and the taxes would rise and less and less equipment would be used to publish your paper. At mind you, at the same time, you would have to charge less for your paper instead of more. Ah! But this is not the case. YOU have EXPANDED! You have INCREASED THE PRICE OF YOUR PAPER! Why?

I recall my uncle having to sell his wheat for 25¢ per bushel in 1933. The price of wheat is approximately $1.08 per bushel. This is the equivalent of depression prices. Yet he has to pay more for labor and equipment. I know of no farmer who buys new tires. When he needs one for his tractor, he gets a re-tread for he can't afford to spend $200 for a new tire.

If farming is so all-fired profitable, then why are so many young men leaving the farms?

If subsidies did not exist, then a fantastic segment of our economy would collapse. The farmers I know— and I know many for I was born and reared in the heart of the wheat country — are barely keeping their heads above water.

Why don't you run a cartoon of the subisidies given the airlines, the shipping lines and the aircraft factories? Spread your cleverness and omniscience around a bit!

You descredit a segment of our working population — a segement that consumes more per capita than any other in the United States by a cheap tawdy inaccurate cartoon.

I don't think anyone minds the truth — but dammit — YOU LIE!!!

Planning Chairman In Fairfax Praised

We, as property owner, taxpayers and residents of Fairfax feel that the chirman of the planning commission is doing a fine job. In watching him in meetings, it is obvious that he is sincerely interested in the welfare of Fairfax and its residents.

Let's face it, up to now Fairfax has not been the jewel of Marin County! Any planning commission will make enemies no matter what its decisions.

Many of the unhappy complainers appear to be out-of-towners owning property here. Their only interest is money in their pockets. They don't have to live here.

Is our planning commissioner being used as a scapegoat for someone's political ambitions? Ir is his exit and replacement going to help someone gain financially by having "friends" on the commission? When all the facts are weighed, don't you honestly feel that a town like Fairfax needs an intelligent, qualified man like our present chairman?

There is no "blatant" conflict of interest here, only a genuine interest in his hometown, where he and his family reside. Why must we slap honest well meaning men in the face with trivia! . . .

What Title For New Auditorium?

Though I am a Frank Lloyd Wright fan, I do wonder what "short title" is to be affixed to the new Veterans Memorial Auditorium.

San Francisco has its "Cow Palace." New York City has its "Garden."

Is Marin to have its "silos," or perhaps its "elevators" (grain), or perhaps its "barn?" The building may be more functional than we think. Visiting farm folk will ask "Where are the ladders?"

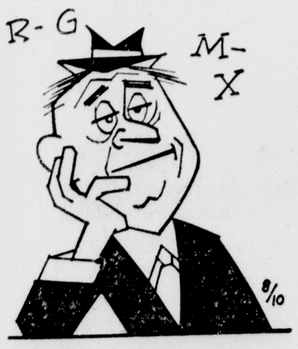
TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

If you are puzzled by the ratings now indicated by initials on current movie releases, you may find enlightenment in this explanation by the irreverent editors of the Harvard Lampoon. "G" stands for gratuitious; "M" for mediocre; "R" for regrettable, and "X" for high box-office returns.



Of all the rollicking tidbits in Tom Wood's book, "The Bright Side of Billy Wilder," I like best the account of the filming of one scene in "Irma La Douce," in which a miniature poodle named "Coquette" had to lap up the entire contents of an overturned bottle of champagne at a single sitting. To entice the dog, a prop man supplied some lukewarm chicken soup with which to fill an empty bottle of Mumm's best Cordon Rouge champagne. After the dog had lapped it up greedily without a stop, Billy Wilder picked up the bottle, examined it carefully, then confessed "I didn't know 1957 was such a good year for chicken soup."

Is Russia's Fate Tied To Ukraine's Productivity?

By PHIL NEWSOM, UPI Foreign News Analyst

". . .the fate and power position of the Soviet Union will be decided by what happens in the fields and pastures of the Ukraine. . .and not in Prague or Peking or Washington or the moon," declared the Zurich, Switzerland, newspaper Neue Zurcher Zeitung.

Josef Stalin forced the reluctant peasants into the collectives and exploited them for the benefit of Soviet industrialization.

OFFICIAL CENSUS figures show that as of July, 1970, the Soviet population stood at 242,-.8 million, an increase of around 40 million since the census of 1959.

Yet despite the addition of millions of mouths to feed and grandoise schemes to increase Soviet agricultural output to a needed 200 million tons per year, Soviet farm production increased by only half the planned figure in 1968, and in 1969 actually declined.

In the decade of the 1960s, the Soviets poured billions of rubles into agriculture, "Yet," wrote the respected London Economist, "a ruble put into Soviet farms still proves a distinctly poor investment."

It accounts for the massive new effort being poured into agriculture by Khrushchev's successors under the personal direction of party leader Leonid Brezhnev and probably for the delay until next March of the Communist party congress.

MANY REASONS may be ascribed for the failures of Soviet agriculture and the failure of Soviet industry in general to meet Khrushchev's pie-in-the-sky promise that Soviet per capita production would equal or surpass that of the capitalistic West by 1965, and the more sober promises of Brezhnev and Premier Alexei Kosygin.

One may be drawn from latest available figures comparing the Soviet worker's productivity as compared to his American counterpart.

These figures showed that as of 1967, the Soviet industrial worker produced only 40 to 45 per cent as much as his American opponent. Soviet agricultural workers produced only 20 to 25 per cent as much and Soviet construction workers 60 per cent as much.

Soviet agriculture accounts for 20 per cent of the country's output yet uses up between 33 and 40 per cent of its manpower.

The low yield per man hour, unharvested crops in the fields and a golden trail of grain running between the railroad tracks from leaking boxcars are testimony both to inefficiency and lack of incentive. The latter is a quality the Soviet system never has been able to instill in its workers.

THE REASONS apply both to agriculture and industry.

Once more to quote the London Economist: "Today the educated youth of Russia looks out at the dreadfully inefficient factories in which it works, run by unenterprising old bureaucrats, and the result is what Brezhnev calls 'an irresponsible attitude toward the implementation of state plans.'"

Personalized License Plates Bill Uses Ecology, A Magic Formula

By JACK COOPER

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The Assembly passed and sent to the governor SB 262, by Sen. Milton Marks, R-San Francisco.

Section 9 of the bill says that it "shall be known and may be cited as the Marks-Badham Environmental Protection and Research Act."

Section 9 of this bill says that it "shall be known and cited as the Badham-Marks Environmental Protection and Research Act."

SECTION 10 of both bills proclaims that each "is an urgency statute necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health or safety within the meaning of Article IV of the Constitution and shall go into immediate effect."

Which means that a bill is in force as soon as the governor signs it, instead of sometime in the middle of November as is the case with measures of less weight and substance.

Well, maybe.

BOTH BILLS set up a fund to be used to be spent on "All phases of research into the sources, dynamics and effects of environmental pollutants generated by motor vehicles . . ."

It is when you learn whence comes the money to fund this program that you begin to realize you are getting back on some familiar old ground.

Because the money is to come from the revenues produced by the sale of personalized license plates which the state will sell you for either $25 under the Marks bill or $35 under the Badham bill.

This, of course, is in addition to the fees you pay now. The annual renewal fee is $10 and to keep your personal plates when you change cars, you will have to pay a $12 transfer charge.

THUS, IF THE governor signs either of these bills, you can pay $25 or $35 to have your personal plate for about three or four months, at which time you can pay another $10, and if you trade in the old heap in February you can put another $12 on top of that.

Badham estimates his bill will pull in from 5.5 to $12 million dollars a year, and Marks, more modestly predicts 2 to 6 million dollars.

Texas, which has had these vanity plates for three years, has sold only 40,000 sets in that time, at $15 a set, for a gross of $600,000, and Texans are not noted as shrinking violets.

IF THE TEXAS production cost is $6 as it is expected to be in California, that state netted $360,000 in three years. At a net of $30 a set under the Badham bill, we calculate it would take 400,000 vain Californians to make his $12 million revenue estimate stand up. Or 30,000 to make Mark's low estimate of $2 million.

None of which is probably the point, anyway. Marks and Badham (or Badham and Marks) have carried personalized license plate bills for some time around here, and until somebody invented ecology, they usually lasted about 30 seconds when they hit the Senate Transportation Committee.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By JEFF GREER

It Was A Very Bad, Black Friday For Substitute Court Reporter

It is being written on a very black Friday afternoon.

Since 11 o'clock this morning everyone in the Marin County Civic Center had been buffeted by a storm of death and the everwidening waves radiating from it.

The whole terrible story — the death of Judge Harold J. Haley and all the others — started only a few feet from where I was, in the courtroom next door.

I was sitting in for the I-J's regular courthouse reporter, Mrs. Mary Leydecker, covering the murder trial of a Novato youth and worrying whether things were going on elsewhere in the bustling Hall of Justice that I also should know about.

LITTLE DID I know.

I was just getting ready to leave the courtroom to send in the morning developments of the trial I was covering, and to glance in on the four-day-old trial in Judge Haley's courtroom, when a court reporter entered from behind the bench, looking pale and worried.

She sat awhile in the jurors' box, then told Judge Thomas F. Keating that armed prisoners had taken over the court next door. But, she thought, bailiffs had it under control by then.

The handful of men in Judge Keating's court, including the judge, made for the door. Defense Counsel Robert D. Carrow suddenly halted in his tracks.

BACKING AWAY from the door, he softly said, "There's a man looking at me with a gun."

Judge Keating cautiously peered out, then softly said, "There's a man looking at me with a gun."

Judge Keating cautiously peered out, then announced he could see a line of armed men with Judge Haley, Deputy Dist. Atty Gary Thomas and others being herded down the hall at gunpoint.

Folks in Judge Keating's courtroom first scattered, then huddled, and after hurried whispered consultation, it was decided that the safest thing to do was to lock all doors, turn out the lights and hide in the side room in which prisoners are held pending their appearance in the courtroom. Reverberations of the first gunshots hastened the hiding.

I was frantic to telephone my city desk; the judge let me use the court clerk's phone, but warned I would be locked out of the holding cell until I identified myself.

Sprawled on the floor beneath the clerk's desk, in semidarkness, I talked to a rewrite man. Doors at both ends of the courtroom were being rattled, I couldn't see by whom.

After spilling out, sotto voce, what few skimpy details I knew, and hearing more gunfire, I joined the crowd in the holding cell. We waited and worried awhile, then came out —to learn of the tragic finale to the morning.

THIS AFTERNOON, the Hall of Justice first surged with a high tide of newsmen and a few thrillseekers. Then, far earlier than normal, it began to empty.

The steps of the few remaining county workers and the reporters faced with the task of untangling all the grisly threads are echoing hollow in a ghost town.

JUDGE HALEY was a man who tried very hard to give justice to McClain.

Justice?

S.F. Arguments End In 2 Deaths

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Fred Weston, 27, was shot to death on a busy Fillmore District street Sunday and police arrested his long time friend for questioning.

Detectives said Jerome Gillum, 23, pulled a gun and fired while the pair was arguing.

Weston was hit by four bullets.

The victim of another San Francisco slaying was Carl Burns, 24, who police said was killed after an argument at 1270 Egbert St. Detectives said they were hunting for an unidentified guest at the house.

Management To Attack Supervisors

The Marin County Board of Supervisors will face bitter criticism tomorrow from management employees who got no salary raises this year.

The employees contend they are being forced to join unions or bargaining units. Employees represented by such units were given raises.

The supervisors' all-day meeting will start at 9 a.m. on the third floor of the Civic Center.

Other items on the supervisors' agenda include a tour of the Fairchild Semiconductor plant at Northgate Industrial Park at 11:15 a.m. and a report on illegal dumping of concrete debris on the Tom E. Nowell property just northeast of the county heliport in Richardson Bay.

Tomorrow's agenda is relatively brief because the supervisors had originally planned to visit Washington, D.C., this week, and many hearings set for tomorrow were postponed. The Washington trip was canceled.

Desalination Plant Moved To New Site

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A large-scale experimental desalting unit to cost about $4 million will be built in Orange County instead of San Diego as originally planned, Interior Secretary Walter J. Hickel has announced.

Hickel said Friday the plant would be constructed on a site adjacent to the Santa Ana River under an agreement with the Orange County Water District.

The district is providing the site, utilities, buildings and other facilities. Water produced at the plant will be used in the district's water program.

A total of $4.4 million was earmarked in the Office of Saline Water's fiscal 1971 budget for the experiment which is intended to pave the way for large-scale desalting plants.

The unit will combine two existing desalting processes— the vertical tube evaporator (VTE) and multi-stage flash (MSF) desalting.

It was originally to be built at the OSW's test site at San Diego but there were problems due to lack of available land.

Tiburon Owners Sue For Damage Caused By Flood

Owners of eight homes in the Bel Aire Estates neighborhood in Tiburon have filed suit in Marin Superior Court against the county, City of Tiburon and private land developers over a drainage problem.

The public agencies and Reedland Woods Unit 1 subdividers Spero P. Spiliotis and Lorraine Spiliotis, along with Lytton Savings and Loan Association as developers of Reedland Woods Unit 2, are being sued for $20,000 damages to each plaintiff.

The suit contends that the storm of last Dec. 20 caused flood damage and depreciated value of their homes, when drainage from the Reedland Woods units overloaded drainage installed by Bel Aire Estates builders.

The plaintiffs are Paul Breitkopf, Peter and Despina Bournazos, Heny and Orrie LeClerc, Marie Rickets and Carolyn Senske, Holis V. Roberts, Anthony and Roma Tucciarelli, Mary Jane Winterhalter and Mr. and Mrs. Kurt Schucker.

SECRET'S OUT: ANTS REALLY AREN'T BUSY

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — Science finally has caught up with ants. They're lazy, not busy, industrious workers.

Dr. George Wheeler, University of California entomologist, declared Sunday that "individual ants spend a great deal of time just loafing.

"And, worse than that, the worker ants, who are all females, spend a lot of time primping," he added after research at the school's desert research center.

"Whenever we view an anthill we get the impression of a tremendous amount of activity, but that is merely because there are so many ants and because they all look alike," he said.

KKK Chief Airs Beatnick Warning

BENSON, La. (UPI)—Imperial Wizard Robert Shelton, recently released from federal prison, advised 300 Ku Klux Klansmen to "whale the living tar" out of "hipnick beatnicks," hauling down the American flag.

The Tuscaloosa, Ala., KKK leader, who recently served nine months in prison for refusing to turn over Klan membership records to a congressional committee, criticized the national television networks for promoting insurrection, sex perversion and the collapse of law and order.

"If you are the loyal American you profess to be," Shelton said, "anytime you see one of those hipnick beatnicks pulling the American flag down, I don't care who they're around, whale the living tar out of them."

Shelton was the main attraction at a weekend "Klanvocation" sponsored by the Louisiana Klan.

Strike Begins Against Firm Near Salinas

SALINAS (UPI)—Picketing has started in a dispute between the Teamsters Union and the AFL-CIO United Farm Workers Organizing Committee over which will represent California agriculture employes.

The strike by Cesar Chavez' UFWOC against Freshpict Foods, Inc., in the Salinas area came as an association of firms who supply workers to farms announced Sunday it was recognizing the Teamsters as bargaining agent.

Previously more than 30 vegetable growers in the Salinas Valley had signed with the Teamsters as bargaining agent for their employes. The walkout started when about 250 Freshpict employes refused to join the Teamsters.

Chavez' organization said the men previously had joined his group.

Freshpict, a major produce grower which was one of the 30 signing with the Teamsters, said it was illegally being made the victim of a jurisdiction dispute and obtained a court order against the strike.

Chavez' organization said it would appeal and that the walkout would continue since the court order technically had not been served.

At Fresno, the Natonal Farm Labor Contractors Association's president Guinn Sinclair announced his group had voted to recognize the Teamsters.

The association, he said, includes 425 of the 850 licensed labor contractors in California and had been asked by the Teamsters to enter into a collective bargaining agreement that would involve 80,000 workers

"Based upon what the Teamsters told us, we had no alternative but to agree with them that they do represent the farm workers now," he continued.

Any agreement with the Teamsters, Sinclair said, "would in no way interfere with the grape contracts signed by Cesar Chavez."

In 1776 a committee of Benjamin Franklin, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson suggested the United States adopt "e Pluribus Unum" as the motto for its great seal.

In 1833 Chicago, with a population of about 200, was incorporated as a village.

EAST GOES UP

Bob Wolff, playing the South cards for he United States, took the ace of diamonds, drew two rounds of trumps and led a diamond from the dummy. East stepped up with the king of diamonds and led a low spade.

Declarer won in dummy with the jack of spades and returned a spade. East took the ace of spades and got out safely with a spade. By the play up to this point South felt sure that West had started with five diamonds and five clubs.

WHAT DIFFERENCE?

You may wonder what difference this makes. South must limit the club loss to one trick, and he cannot fail since West has the ace-quee-nine of clubs. Any finesse will work.

East had shown up with the ace of spades and the king-queen of diamonds. In view of has the ace-queen-nine of clubs. have the ace of clubs. But West had also kept silent with two five-card suits. Surely West could not have both the ace and the queen of clubs.

FANS HORRIFIED

After deep thought Wolff led the jack of clubs. West played low, and declarer played dummy's king while a few dozen American rooters watched in horror. Then he returned the low club from dummy.

It would have been a triumph for Wolff if East had held the queen of clubs. He would have won this trick, but then he would have been obliged to lead a spade or a diamond. Either way, dummy would ruff while declarer discarded his last club.

Instead, West took two club tricks. "You can't win 'em all," Wolff said philosophically, as his partner smiled sympathetically.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two clubs or four hearts.

There is no sensible bid for this kind of hand in Standard American bidding systems. It is too strong for two hearts, but not strong enough for three hearts, and the distribution is wrong for four hearts, but not strong enough for three hearts, and the distribution is wrong for four hearts. Perhaps the best course is to bid a short suit and raise hearts at your next turn.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Physicians Required On Vessels With More Than 12 Passengers

Do all ships at sea have a physician on board? No. Maritime requirements specify that any vessel on long runs carrying more than 12 passengers must provide a ship's surgeon. Therefore, to keep within regulations, many freighters provide accommodations for 12 or fewer passengers.

Ships without passengers (excluding navy vessels), regardless of the size of the crew, seldom carry physicians. However, they have ample medical and first aid equipment. When a major emergency arises, they radio for help. By tradition, the nearest ship carrying a physician responds. If the personal attention of a medico is needed, such as an operation, a rendezvous is arranged and the two vessels race toward each other.

ON MEETING, the sick crewman and his baggage are hoisted aboard and the vessels return to their courses. Meanwhile, he receives medical or surgical care and is put ashore at the next port of call with hospital facilities.

Cruise liners with hundreds or thousands aboard may have one surgeon for the passengers and another one for the crew. They have X-ray facilities, an operating room, pharmacy, orthopedic devices, and a number of cabins for hospital care. Sick call is held daily in the sickbay.

IN THE PAST, scurvy and lead poisoning, due to the endless painting that goes on, were the scourges of sailors. Today seasickness and an erysipeloid skin infection are the most common ailments. But most of the hazards faced by the crew occur on land, not at sea. Sailors on shore leave resort to excessive drinking and brawling resulting in bloody noses and occasional broken bones. These are busy times for the ship's surgeon who usually remains in the sickbay.

But despite these shenanigans, hand injuries are perhaps the most common accidents among the crew; cuts, bruises, and burns also occur.

LACKS CONFIDENCE

A reader writes: I've been having strong feelings of insecurity and find myself worrying over things I say and do. Is this part of the menopause?

REPLY

Many persons become emotionally disturbed at this time of life even though the menopause is not directly responsible for the symptoms. This is particularly true if they have a nervous temperament, have not learned to become self-reliant, or have a lack of confidence. Stay calm and concentrate on turning this defect into an asset.

CHOLESTEROL AND ARTERIES

H.S. writes: Does a high cholesterol level necessarily mean arteriosclerosis?

REPLY

No, but an association may exist. Persons who develop heart attacks as a result of hardening of the coronary arteries frequently have a high blood cholesterol level.

NAUSEA FROM VITAMINS

M.T. writes: No matter what types of vitamins my doctor prescribes, they make me sick. I have an expensive collection of these unusable products. Do you know why they cause distress?

REPLY

Vitamin tablets, to some people, are distasteful and nauseating. In a way, these people are lucky because they must resort to a balanced diet, as nature intended.

Corte Madera Planners Tell Tonight's Agenda

Two hearing on requests for a use permit to operate a mortuary at 601 Tamalpais Drive will be held tonight by the Corte Madera Planning Commission.

The meeting will begin at 8 o'clock in the town council chambers.

Nicholas P. Daphne of San Francisco is seeking permission to open a mortuary. A hearing on his conditional use application will follow a hearing on a proposal to amend the municipal code to allow mortuaries as a conditional use in shopping center zones.

Other hearings are set on an application to add six feet to a previously approved freestanding sign for the Cinema I Theater and on a request for relocation of a Co-op Market freestanding sign.

Colin Beaty of San Rafael has requested informal discussion on proposed use of a building at 305 Montecito Drive for an English-style pub.

Best-selling print in Marin

Unlike most popular prints, each edition of the I-J is strictly an "original" . . . fresh with the impress of today's news.

To compose it, our writers and editors draw from the world-wide palette of UPI wire services. They also examine all of Marin and Southern Sonoma County, putting the facts, with local color, in detailed perspective.

And to enrich the total picture, I-J newsmen add a full spectrum of features, cartoons, comment, entertainment. They paint in schools, the Civic Center, the field of sports, world of women, vital statistics, even the weather. They squeeze the tube for every bit of information!

Result: with the I-J, you're an art collector! Got your own gallery! Art of Information; Art of Perspective; Art of Humor; Art of Citizenship.

All from an original print.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

In tests using 53 well-maintained 1964-69 Orange County Department of Transportation vehicles

F-310 reduced

Hydrocarbon emissions 12.4%

Carbon monoxide emissions 27.5%

A significant test involving 1964-1969 vehicles of two major makes reveals further new proof—Chevron gasoline with F-310 significantly reduces hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions from dirty engines.

Results showed an average reduction in hydrocarbon emissions of 12.4%. Carbon monoxide emissions were reduced an average of 27.5%.

Fifty cars and 3 trucks were selected by officials of the Orange County, Calif., Department of Transportation from its county fleet of over 1,000 cars and trucks, to represent a cross-section of high and low mileage vehicles of various model years—all well-maintained and previously using a major brand premium grade competitive gasoline.

All cars were switched from the competitive gasoline to Chevron with F-310 as they were, with no adjustments to the engines, carburetors or emission control devices.

The test was conducted between March and July, 1970, by Scott Research Laboratories, an independent research laboratory, with the cooperation of Orange County. Exhaust emission measurements were made on each of the 53 test vehicles before the change-over to Chevron Supreme with F-310, and again after approximately 2,000 miles of routine driving.

The results of this scientifically conducted test are highly significant—further dramatic proof that Chevron with F-310 reduces exhaust emissions of unburned hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide.

Other tests are now in progress as part of a continuing series to demonstrate the contribution of Chevron with F-310 toward cleaner air.

F-310 also keeps clean engines clean.

F-310 Polybutene Amine Gasoline Additive was developed to reduce exhaust emissions from dirty engines. The degree of improvement, of course, depends on the condition of the car. In a new car or a car with a clean engine, F-310 will keep the clean engine clean—keep total exhaust emissions at a minimum. That, too, is a genuine contribution to cleaner air.

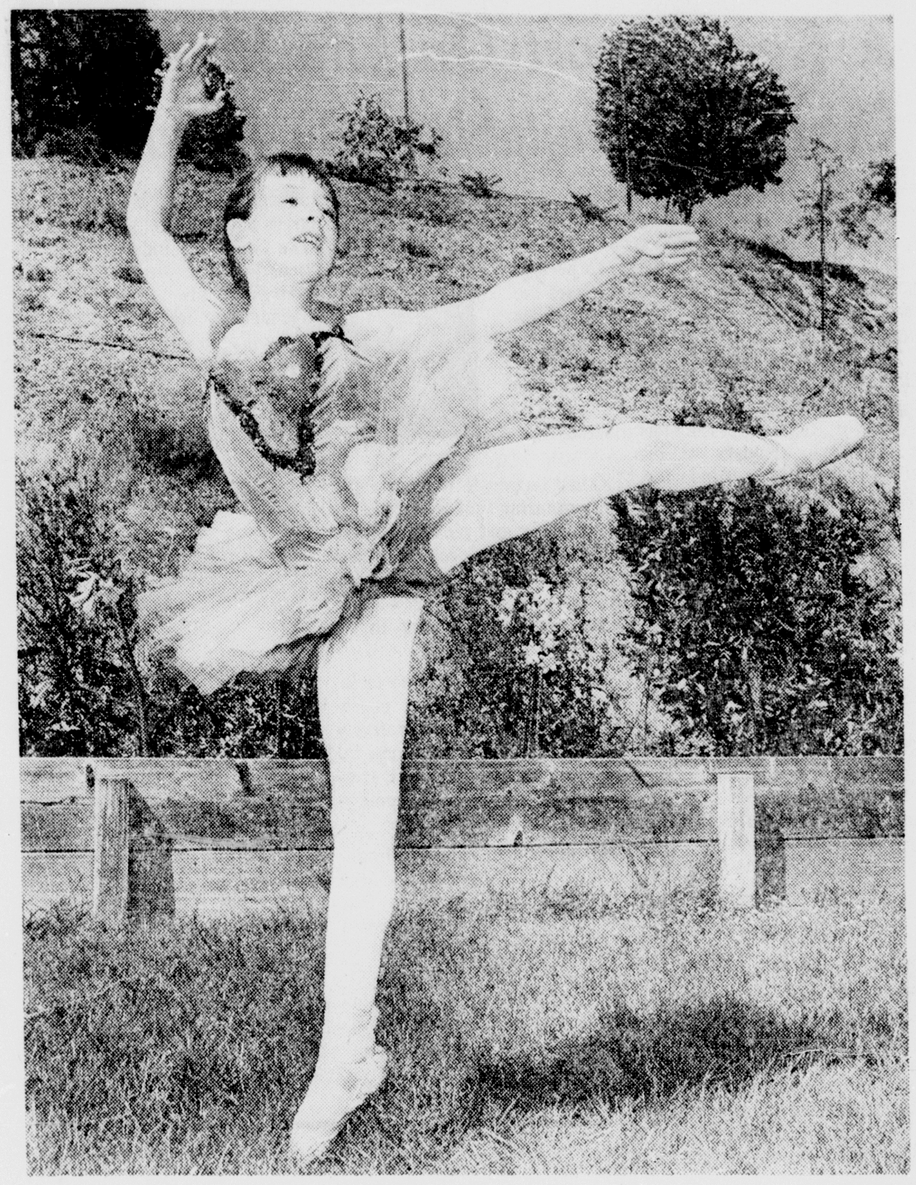
JOHANNA BAER

Over 10 Toe Shoes Later She's Dancing In Japan



A NEW pair of toe shoes is required for every performance and Johanna Baer, eight, of Marinwood has been going through about 12 to 15 pair a month rehearsing for the San Francisco Conservatory of Ballet's tour of Japan and the Philippines. She left Friday for Hong Kong and will return at end of the month. She is wearing the royal blue costume she wears for the part of the duck in "Peter and the Wolf."
(Independent-Journal photos)

By BETH GAEDDERT

"But if it's just Valentine's Day, forget it!" she says.

The past three weeks she has been rehearsing for eight hours a day her parts in 16 full ballets the San Francisco Conservatory of Ballet took on tour of Japan and the Philipines Friday.

As a member of Ballet Celeste (the Conservatory's junior company) Johanna will spend August performing in Hong Kong, at Expo '70 and in the Philippines.

Johanna, who started ballet lessons in San Francisco on her fifth birthday, has already made dancing tours of Canada, Oregon, Utah and Nevada, and at the age of six she was chosen to perform the child leads in the Bolshoi Ballet's productions at the San Francisco Opera House.

The only child of Mr. and Mrs. William Baer of Marinwood, Johanna Elizabeth sat in the living room of their home last Wednesday after the last day of rehearsals before the tour and talked about her first ballet lessons and why she soon changed schools.

"That was terrible. We learned how to walk," she said and illustrated by jumping up to imitate a teacher saying, "Now point your toe and then put your foot down."

Since she was six Johanna has known that she wanted to be a prima ballerina.

"Oh yes I want to be a prima ballerina" she says in a rather deep but still childlike voice. "The most important thing is technique — you have to work and work and work and work," she said pounding a tiny fist on her thigh.

Besides dancing Johanna has done over 50 radio and television commercials, industrial films and has modeled for several national advertisements. In a recent commercial for Grodin's department store she sang and surprised her mother who teaches music theory, voice and piano to young children.

"I thought, at least I could sing. She can dance — now she does both!" Mrs. Baer said.

Since she has been rehearsing so much lately she has gone through 12 to 15 pair of toe shoes a month. "And that's at $12 a pair," her mother adds. Her commercials apparently help pay.

Johanna was also taking piano lessons and attended the Three R School where she will enter the fifth grade this fall — two grades ahead for her age.

"This was an amazing year. I don't know how she did it," her mother said. She rehearsed every day since she was picked to go on this tour in February and came home at 8:15 to do homework until 11 or 12. And she was still on the honor roll and made straight As."

Johanna wouldn't mind being an actress some day either. She goes to all the American Conservatory Theater productions in San Francisco. (Her father is extension director of ACT.) And she'd also like to some more ice skating.

In the meantime — when she has time — she plays with her cats, one of which just had kittens, and reads Nancy Drew mysteries — just like any other kid on the block.

A Record Setting Actress

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Television has its flying nun. It also has its flying actress, and for real.

Susan Oliver, the actress seen in "Peyton Place" and other television series, is a licensed commercial pilot. Just recently she co-piloted a single engine Piper Comanche 260 with the veteran flyer, Margaret A. Mead, to victory in the annual Powder Puff Derby, the for-women-only transcontinental race flown this year from Monterey, Calif., to Bristol, Pa. Miss Mead, a Santa Barbara aircraft broker, is a previous winner.

Miss Oliver also holds five world records for men or women gathered on a New York-to-Copenhagen flight for single engine craft. That one was certified by the Federation Aeronautique International which also certifies the likes of the Charles Lindbergh historic transatlantic crossing.

THAT FLIGHT took six days but only 29 hours of actual flight time because weather grounded her for four days in Goose Bay, Newfoundland.

"Every pilot I met said they wouldn't give me a one in a million chance of making it," she said in an interview. She fought icing conditions most of the route.

The actress had hoped to fly on from Copenhagen into Moscow, but never could get Soviet permission for her plane although "Miss Oliver herself may come in."

She had been to Russia before, for a film festival, and then visited the Soviet with tour groups. She is studying Russian at UCLA "Just to keep my hand in."

Miss Oliver, who now makes her home in Hollywood, became interested in flying several years ago because "I was who was a pilot." Ultimately, dating a news commentator she said, "he flew his way and I flew mine," so she's still miss instead of missus.

THE ACTRESS, who's a trim, green-eyed blonde, is an honorary member of the American Fighter Pilots and now has more than 700 air hours logged. Once, she said, she thought she never would board a plane again. She was a passenger on that famous commercial flight that suddenly lost altitude and plunged from 37,000 to 6,000 feet before the crew could get it under control.

For two years she didn't go near a plane. Then a hypnotist convinced her she would love flying again.

The actress is the daughter of a newspaperman, George Gercke, and of Ruth Hale Oliver, a professional astrologer and writer on the subject.

The oldest of four children, Miss Oliver always had the acting yen and her parents finally agreed if she'd get at least one year of college (she did, at Swarthmore), she could try for the other.

She worked for the Circle in the Square Theater in New York, the Matinee Theater in California, and broke into movies with Warner Brothers. In all, she has made 10 movies, plus the television work.

Now she's starring in two movies shot on the Universal lot strictly for television. They'll be premiered in the fall.

Acting and flying weave together nicely, she said, and she knows several actors who are pilots.

"The kind of business we (actors) are in is so nebulous," she said. "You need a goal to achieve and flying gives it. Flying means functioning at a higher level than in everyday life."

PRESS GUIDE IS AVAILABLE

A guide for press chairmen of organizations interested in getting news to the Marin Women's Section of the Independent Journal is available at the San Rafael main office and the Novato, Mill Valley and Southern Sonoma I-J offices.

The booklet, "Getting News Into Your Newspaper," is issued as a service of the Independent-Journal Women's Section to assist press chairmen for women's organizations.

The booklets at the San Rafael office may be obtained from the switchboard on the main floor.

Shade Cleaners

Better window shades are treated so that they can be wiped clean with mild soap and water. Those that are not washable usually can be refreshed with a good wallpaper cleaner. Soap and water care is not always necessary. If window shades are dusted or vacuumed at regular intervals, you won't have to use the wet treatment.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Man's Parents Should Visit Prospective Bride's Parents

DEAR HELEN:

We had an argument, and I bet my husband five dollars on it. I say the prospective bride's parents should go to visit the man's parents first after the engagement is announced. If I'm wrong he'll get scrambled eggs instead of steak because my bets come out of the housekeeping money. Please settle it for us. — MOTHER OF BOYS

DEAR MOTHER:

When is a winner not a winner? When he bets with his wife.

While your husband eats scrambled eggs, he can quote a well-known etiquette book which says, "After the acceptance of the engagement . . . correctly the parents of the man go to visit the parents of the girl . . . at least his mother goes to see hers at once."

Seems to me an invitation to an informal lunch or dinner might be friendlier but, at any rate, the parents of the future bridegroom make the first overtures. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

The other day I read (again) that the biggest cause of marriage failure is not sex, but finances. The latet survey, conducted by doctors among their patients indicated that financial problems accounted for 25 percent of marital failures, while sexual incompatibility rated last place on the list, with only three per cent of those queried indicating it was most responsible for their divorce or separation.

When my wife and I got married, we bought the regulation marriage manuals which we didn't need, because there was no problem in this department. But we soon discovered we were only compatible in bed. She thought money was crass. You should never discuss it — just spend it even if I didn't have it.

After five thousand fights, you begin to see that those manuals leave out all the imporantt things, such as physical doesn't make it unless you can get your minds together too. — OLIVER

DEAR OLIVER:

DEAR HELEN:

All over the country these "population bomb" clubs are springing up, with members pledged to have no more than two children. Fine. I'm for it. But what if the word doesn't spread to the "welfare society" — those people whose lack of education or drive or whatever keeps them down?

It isn't enough to say "We'll have two or less," or stump for legislation that will tax large families (welfare people don't pay taxes). What we need is more free (even compulsory) birth control for the poor — everywhere, not just in the United States. — FRANCIS

DEAR FRANCIS:

Those "population bomb" people are working on this too — and so are the Ford Foundation, the Planned Parenthood and countless birth control clinics in depressed areas. Take heart, Francis, for the last few years our birth rate has been declining, with the largest percentage drop yet in 1969. Haven't you noticed the dearth of pregnant women in supermarkets? —H.

Personal to "Doubtful": Peg Bracken says true love is reading his horoscope before your own. Do you? — H.

A New Report On Life Insurance Costs Is Available— By Request

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — The life insurance industry is beginning to change its mind about how to describe policy costs to prospective customers. But it is trying hard not to let the word out because some large companies would not look quite as good as they do now.

In efect, the booklet is a monumentous confession by leaders of the multi-billion-dollar industry. The committee includes representatives of 11 of the largest life insurance companies in the country.

Through the booklet, they confess that the so-called "traditional method" of determining life insurance costs doesn't tell enough of the story to prospective policyholders.

The traditional method used by agents and companies for years simply compares the amount of premiums paid over the years with the total of dividends and cash value built up during the same period. The difference is called the net cost of insurance.

Many agents and companies have implied that, since this difference may be very small, that the cost of life insurance is little or nothing. In cases where dividends and cash value eventually exceed premiums paid, they have said that policyholders actually "make money" on life insurance.

The booklet not only admits the falseness of these claims but proposes a "practical improvement over the traditional method."

The improvement is simply a formula that adds the matter of interest. The committee acknowledges that "the value of money in terms of interest it can earn is too important to ignore."

In other words, it says that in comparing policy costs, it is important to take in to account the interest that could be earned if the premium money were invested elsewhere.

Other factors to be considered in comparing policy costs are death rates and policy termination rates as they relate to each individual buyer. But the committee chose not to include these additional factors in its recommended method.

Even for the committee to include interest, however, represents progress. Comparatively few agents or companies now include interest in their cost presentations to prospective policyholders.

But despite the historic implications of the report and the many years of discussion that preceded it, it has been greeted in the industry by deafening silence.

The Institute of Life Insurance published the report a few months ago but issued no public announcement about it and gives out copies only on request. The two other industry associations to which the report is also addressed are saying nothing, apparently hoping it will go away if ignored.

Consumers can help get the truth out into the open by asking for copies of the committee booklet and asking their agents to explain what the booklet says. It could mean money in your pocket.

The publication is free from the Institute for Life Insurance, 277 Park Ave., New York, N.Y., 10017.

Aristocratic Plum

NEW YORK (UPI) —The plum tree has a long and distinguished geneology, living up to the distinction of its name. Authorities say it is an aristocratic cousin of the almond, apricot, cherry and peach, that it has been grown for over two thousand years in all places on the globe. Plums aren't just plum-colored. The fruit's range of colors includes reds, purple, blue, yellow and green.

EX-CHARLIE BROWN — Wendell Burton, 23, of Novato, smiles at his first show business co-star, Snoopy. Wendell later catapulted to fame playing opposite Liza Minelli in the movie "The Sterile Cuckoo," but his real start came when he played Charlie Brown for 15 months in the San Francisco production of "You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown."

Overnight Celebrity From Novato Regrets Not Taking Some Roles

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Wendell Burton, 23, exemplifies the dreams of perhaps a million young persons to attain overnight acceptance as a celebrity.

Burton co-starred with Liza Minnelli in the "Sterile Cuckoo" and won acclaim as a fine young actor.

It was a mistake.

"I was offered some parts, Wendell said wistfully. "But they were the same straight-laced square who doesn't say more than a few words. I was also under the impression it was not wise to accept television parts.

"Now I know it's better to be working in any medium that not working at all. It's called survival."

Burton is of slight build. He is a sensitive young man who is anxious to continue his studies at San Francisco State College where he is majoring in political science.

The theater, in fact, led to his first movie role. He starred for 15 months in the San Francisco production of "You're A Good Man Charlie Brown."

"I feel I'm not progressing fast enough," Wendell said.

"I'd like to make a lot of money so I can go back to school and get my degree. I would like to attend classes the rest of my life. The atmosphere on a campus is different. People are doing research, studying problems that need solving. The learning process never stops."

Burton's principal drive lies not with acting but a political career.

"I enjoy performing and I'm not against making a career of it. But I believe also that I owe something more to our government." Burton is an idealistic man with a practical turn of mind. As a politician he thinks he could work effectively to improve conditions in the United States.

"I'd like to do something substantial to provide clean air," he said. "If for no other reason just so I could live longer."

Wendell makes his home in San Francisco, an hour's flight from Hollywood. He prefers the San Francisco Bay area to the smog of Los Angeles.

"I'll spend six months or so in Hollywood lining up some work," he concluded. "If I'm lucky I can earn enough money to go back to school."

Grape Boycott Film Scheduled Sunday

"Strike in Coachella," a British Broadcasting Corp. film on the grape boycott, will be shown at 8 p.m. Sunday in St. Raphael's Hall, 1100 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

The program, sponsored by the United Farm Workers Organizing Committee/Marin will include a discussion of UFWCC's dispute with the Teamsters Union in the Salinas Valley by Vivian Levine, Bay Area coordinator for UFWOC.

MUSIC REVIEW

'Virtuoso Winds' Name Accurate

By MALBELLE SPECKMANN

"Virtuoso" was well chosen as the key word in the name of the "Virtuoso Winds of San Francisco," for each of the nine musicians in the ensemble that presented a predominantly Beethoven concert yesterday afternoon in the Stinson Beach Community Center deserved that accolade.

An experiment sponsored by the Stinson Beach Allied Arts to determine whether a former Stinson Beach Chamber Music Series would be worth reviving, it was definitely a success, since some 150 very enthusiastic music lovers nearly filled the hall.

This was my first visit to the center, and I found it a most attractive setting for an informal concert with audience-performer rapport encouraged by the seating in a semi-circle around the musicians.

Adding to the enjoyment potential were refreshments served at two intermissions — reminiscent of the candlelight series in Mill Valley — and the obbligato of live birds in the trees outside.

But most important of all, acoustics were excellent.

Frealon Bibbins, that master clarinetist, headed the ensemble, mostly San Francisco Symphony musicians, composed of James Matheson and Robert Hubbard, oboes; Bibbins and Donald Carroll, clarinets; Robert Dickow and Max Mazenko, French horns; Raymond and Virginia Ojeda, bassoons; Raymond Duste, English horn.

So well integrated in the symphony orchestra are the woodwinds that one seldom gets to hear their individual color as well as in a concert of this type. Their full harmony, except for the English horn, was heard in the last two numbers, the octet, Opus 103, and a rondino.

In the presto of the octet, though they were nimble, the French horns were hard put to it to keep up with the fluency of the other instruments, especially the clarinets. This and an imprecise French horn passage in the allegro of the first movement of the sextet, Opus 71, for two each of clarinets, horns and bassoons, were the only flaws in the concert. This was the first major work after a brief opening march in B flat.

A real gem was the Duo No. 3 for clarinet and bassoon performed by Bibbins and Raymond Ojeda, in which Bibbins' superlative artistry was outstanding, and one was reminded again of how dextrous and lyrical the bassoon can be when it has a chance to do more than accent rhythm in its bass voice.

A personal favorite — because the aria "La Ci Darem La Mano" from Mozart's opera "Don Giovanni" is so beautiful — was the variations on that theme played by oboists Matheson and Hubbard and Duste on the English horn.

Car Hits Light Pole; Santa Rosan Injured

James L. MacIntire, 50, of Santa Rosa, was reported in satisfactory condition at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital with a broken neck, arm and head injuries suffered in an accident at 7:45 p.m. yesterday on Highway 101 at Lakeville Highway, Petaluma.

The California Highway Patrol said he was a passenger in a car driven by Leonard McCovey, 58, of Windsor, which struck a light pole on the freeway offramp.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION — SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY, AUGUST 10, 1970 — 15

Saturday Ferry Opening Probable

Ferry service between Sausalito and San Francisco, contrary to gloomy predictions of delays because of a host of unexpected problems, should begin on Saturday.

The general manager of the Golden Gate Bridge District, which will run the daily service, said yesterday that the prospect of starting it on Saturday "looks awful good."

The district's 597-passenger vessel, renamed the M.V. Golden Gate after extensive refitting, still easily maintains a speed of 15 knots, Gen. Mgr. Dale W. Luehring told the Independent-Journal.

Great care was taken during the refitting to weigh the net effect of each change on the vessel's weight, he said. The only change, discovered in weekend shakedown runs, was an improved balance that considerably improved handling and the vessel's ride, Luehring said.

The only possible roadblock to starting the service on Saturday was the need for starting feeder bus service at the same time. A proposal that a Greyhound bus be charatered temporarily will be considered by district directors on Friday, leaving barely enough time to get the bus the next day.

Luehring said that a preliminary speed check found the trip from Sausalito to the Ferry Building will take 22 to 23 minutes.

Schedules will be set this week, he said, adding the first run on weekends and holidays probably will be at 10 a.m., with a round trip each hour and a quarter until about 5:30 p.m.

Service on weekdays probably will start at 6 a.m. from Sausalito, with the last run from Sausalito at about 8 p.m. Service will be continuous on weekdays, except for one mid-day trip dropped to give time for maintenance.

Bridge crews worked all weekend on finishing touches, which should be complete by Wednesday, Luehring said. The interior of the three-decker has been painted in wide bands of white and three shades of bright blue, and the exterior will be all-white until a color design is completed.

The design is being done by Walter Landor of San Francisco.

Also nearing completion are the landing in downtown Sausalito and the parking lot in North Sausalito, Luehring said.

Alterations to the vessel included enclosing the second deck, adding a sun deck, and providing needed amenties for bay service — such as radar and a larger bar.

The district has invested about $730,000 in the single ferryboat system, which it hopes to expand into a full system with its main terminal at Corte Madera Creek.

HOUSE OF SLAIN OFFICER

20 Off-Duty Police In Attack— This Time With Paint Brushes

"You don't realize there are such good people in the world, but there really are."

Nancy Radetich, 26-year-old widow of Richard P. Radetich, slain San Francisco patrolman, was speaking warmly of the nearly 20 off-duty policemen who tooktime to paint her Ignacio house this weekend.

Radetich, a four-year veteran of the San Francisco force, was killed in a prowl car while writing out a traffic ticket in the Haight-Ashbury area July 19. Detectives are still looking for a suspect in the slaying, Joe Allen (Wesley) Johnson.

The policemen decided to paint the Radetich house as a gesture of esteem for their slain comrade.

"He never got to it," patrolman Paul Forslind explained bitterly. "Richy planned on painting it, and we just decided the job had to be done.

"He was an up and coming officer," said Thomas I. Zaragoza, police department traffice director, as he trimmed a bush in front of the Radetich house. "He had all the attributes — not only of a good police officer, but of a good citizen and a good person. He was well-liked, as you can see," said Zaragoza, pointing to the policemen attacking the house with paint brushes.

"I'm just going to have to try to go on and try to lead a normal life," she said, tying Jeanine's shoe. "I don't think I'll try to work. I'd like to take care of Jeanine and try to be a good mother.

"Everyone has just been no nice. The neighbors have been bringing in food for me and my family. When I went down to San Diego (to visit her parents), the neighbors took care of the house and the lawn for me.

"I don't have any definite plans yet. I'm going to give myself time to see if I'm going to be happy if I remain here in Ignacio.

Two-Car Accident Kills Marin Youth

Arrangements for a memorial service were pending today for Peter Jerome Sack, 21, of 341 Hazel Avenue, Mill Valley, a Sonoma State College student, killed in a dual traffic accident west of Guerneville, Sonoma County, Friday night.

California Highway Patrol officers said that Sack was thrown out of a car that flipped over on Highway 116, west of Austin Creek, at 11:15 p.m. and then, before traffic could be halted, was run over by a passing car.

Sack was a passenger in a car driven by Richard Lojko, 23, of Guerneville.

Officers said Sack, Lojko and Daniel Lojko, another passenger, all were thrown out when the car flipped over.

Then a car driven by Edward Jacobsen, 42, of Humboldt County, ran over Sack, who was lying in the middle of the roadway, officers said.

Sack, a native of San Francisco, had been a resident of Marin for 16 years.

He attended elementary schools in Mill Valley and Tamalpais High School and the College of Marin before entering Sonoma State College where he was majoring in psychology and English.

He was an amateur music composer and a former volunteer worker at Old Mill School in Mill Valley and a member of Open End.

Surviving are his mother, Mrs. Richard Angell of Mill Valley; his father, Jerome Sack of Berkeley; two half-brothers, Barnaby and Josh Angell and a half-sister Theresa Angell, all of Mill Valley.

Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel in Mill Valley is handling arrangements. The family prefers that memorial contributions be to Old Mill School, Mill Valley.

Marin Youths Hit By Scout Quarantine

I-J Special Report

CIMARRON, N.M. — Four Marin County youths were among nearly 4,000 Boy Scouts released from quarantine today at Philmont Scout Ranch after New Mexico health officials were satisfied that he death last week of a 12-year-old scout was not due to pneumonic plague.

The quarantine was imposed after the death Thursday night of James Morris of Jackson, Mich. following a hike up a 9,000-foot ridge on the 130,000-acre camp.

Released from quarantine were Terry Halbert, John Head and Gary Richards, all of San Anselmo and Bernie Holman of San Rafael. All are members of San Anselmo Explorer Scout Post 15.

$34,000 Postage Stolen From Vault

Postage stamps and cash totaling about $34,000 were taken sometime Saturday or yesterday from San Rafael's Mission Post Office by burglars using pry bars and an acetylene torch to enter a walk-in vault.

Police said today the two-story, concrete building located at Third and D Streets was entered through the rear between 11:30 p.m. Saturday and 7 p.m. yesterday.

Post Office Inspector C. E. Michaelson said today from his San Francisco office that he was "confident more than one man was involved," but has no suspect.

"There was only a small amount of cash taken, most of the $34,000 was in postage stamps," Michaelson added.

According to San Rafael postal official Donald Baird, yesterday's theft was to his knowledge the first in San Rafael.

He said the burglars, after entering the building, had to cut through two steel doors of the 80-square-foot vault of get the stamps.

"I can't comment on whether there was a burglar alarm system in the vault," he said. "I just don't know."

He added that the post office carries stamps ranging in value from one cent to $5.

Greenbrae Boy, 3, Hurt In Accident

A 3-year-old Greenbrae boy was taken to Novato General Hospital with unspecified injuries suffered when three cars collided at Diablo Avenue and Highway 101, Novato, at 7:45 p.m. yesterday, police reported today.

The hospital reported, however, that it had not record of treating Alan Dale Holoch of 88 Corte Lenosa, Greenbrae, who was a passenger in a car driven by Robert Dale Holoch, 28, of 2080 Mill Road, Novato.

Other drivers in the rear-end collision were Billy White Babb, 43, of San Jose, and Daniel Paul Whitehair, 22, of 24 San Felipe Way, Novato, police reported.

Ex-Marinite Gored To Death By Bull

I-J Special Report

SONOMA — A former San Rafael service station owner was gored to death by a bull Saturday afternoon while picking pears in a pasture on his brother's property, the Sonoma County Coroner has reported.

Killed was Willard O. Hall, 56, now of Sonoma, who co-owned and operated a service station at Third and A streets in San Rafael for 26 years before retiring in 1964.

His body was found face down near a pear tree. Before anyone could go near him, the large black bull had to be killed.

Hall, who had moved to Sonoma with his wife, Alice, a year ago, was taking care of the ranch belonging to his brother, Elroy M. Hall. His brother is on vacation.

Hall was instrumental through frequent appearances before the San Rafael City Council in establishing the city's first Little League baseball field.

He was a brother-in-law of San Rafael Mayor C. Paul Bettini.

Hall was a director of Northwestern Savings and Loan Assn. before its sale to Fidelity Savings and Loan.

The dead man had reportedly tried to pick the pears from the same tree in the bull's pasture earlier and had been driven off.

There was no witness to the killing and a coroner's investigation was under way.

A San Rafael man has refused medical treatment for undisclosed minor injuries suffered in an auto accident the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said a vehicle driven by David Ortiz, 22, of 25 Leafwood Circle, collided with an auto driven by Peter A. DeLucca Jr., 30, of Forestville, Sonoma County, on Highway 101 near Novato at about 5 p.m. Friday.

Thieves With Torches Burn Down Building

Thieves armed with torches burned down a $15,000 office building above the tennis courts at McNear's Beach Saturday night and stole about $200 in cash.

James Vande Weg, park development coordinator, said the thieves made an unsuccessful effort to break into the five-foot safe in the building by using blow torches. Heat from the resulting fire destroyed about $200 in currency inside the safe and melted the cions, fusing some of them together.

Vande Weg said the thieves stole about $200 that was kept in change boxes in the lockers used by the park caretakers. He said he does not know whether thieves deliberately set the building afire or burned it in the process of blow-torching the safe.

The other drivers, Bruce D. Akey, 33, of 124 Homestead Boulevard, Homestead Valley, and Pamela J. Weiner, 26, of New York City, were uninjured, the patrol reported.

Mrs. Violante was taken to Harbor Emergency Hospital for first aid and later transferred to St. Mary's, where a spokesman declined to disclose the extent of her injuries.

The man is described as black, about six feet tall, in his early twenties, of slender build, with short black hair and a mustache.

Book Reveals FBI Secrets About King

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., toned down his criticism of the FBI after its director, J. Edgar Hoover, presented King with wiretapped tapes indicating King's extramarital affairs, Time magazine said Sunday.

King met with Hoover in the FBI director's office in 1964, Time said, where Hoover "explained to King just what damaging private detail he had on the tapes and lectured him that his morals should be those befitting a Nobel prize-winner.

"He also suggested that King should tone down his criticism of the FBI. King took the advice. His decline in black esteem followed . . ." Time said.

The statements are in connection with a report of a new book on King called "The King God Didn't Save" by black novelist John Williams.

The book, with the conclusion that King was a failure, states that King "was a black man and therefore always was and always would be naked of power, for he was slow, indeed, unable to perceive the manipulation of white power, and in the end white power killed him."

Time said, "Most newspapers ignored the rumors and leaks to them of King's extramarital activities, but their existence undermined King's effectiveness just the same. The effect, says Williams, was one of slow political assassination; King was spared it only by the bullet of James Earl Ray."

The incriminating tapes came about, Time said, when the FBI, "suspecting that some of his associates had Communist connection . . . began taping King's telephone and bugging his hotel rooms in 1963.

"From a security viewpoint, the wiretaps uncovered nothing. They established no links between King and the Communists. But, Williams reports, they did turn up an astonishing amount of information about King's extensive and vigorous sexual activities," Time said.

Salamanders To Get New Swamp

A University of California zoologist, Dr. Robert Stebbins, pointed out that the division was planning to widen a highway which would destroy one of the two swamps left for the salamanders.

In reply, the division said Sunday it would put up $3,000 for a new swamp, complete with all the little wildlife goodies salamanders feed on. Dr. Stebbins, who had protested the reptiles would have been evicted with no place to go, doesn't have to be as big as a redwood or a whooping crane to receive protection."

Tokyo Smog Warning

Hub Council Sets Hearing On Wall Job

The San Anselmo City Council will hold a public hearing at its 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow to discuss repair of a collapsed creek retaining wall at 23 Brookside Drive.

Other matters to be discussed are requests for signs from Guasco Market and College of Marin, appointment of an alternate member to the city-county planning council, an offer of sale to the city of the Tanner-property at 190 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and unspecified ballot propositions.

The council also is to consider ordinances appropriating an advertsing and publicity fund and rezoning 180 Tunstead Avenue for multifamily residential uses and a request for appointment of a police clerk-dispatcher.

The council also is to hear reports from the planning commission on a sign ordinance and a recommended definition of "structure" in city planning, an offer of community service by Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. and a report of a meeting with the elementary school district on a recreation agreement.

Drug Treatment Facility Plan Draws Hearing

A second public hearing on a proposed live-in and outpatient drug treatment facility at 401 First Street will eb held by the San Rafael Planning Commission tomorrow. The request drew opposition at an earlier hearing.

The commission will meet at 7:30 p.m. in city hall.

Dr. Roger Smith and Tom Pinkson have applied to establish the countywide drug education, prevention and treatment facility, to be known as Marin Opera House, in a building owned by Timbric Corp. The facility is to provide live-in facilities for a maximum of 10 crisis-case patients plus one full-time staff member, and office space for three or four staff members and a clinic capable of caring for up to 25 outpatients.

Other items on the agenda will include submission of a tentative map for 39 lots in the Quail Hill property on Northgate Drive, with 34 residential lots, Commerce Clearing House headquarters and an office building and conference center.

'The Price' Rehearsal Has Unusual Theatrical Magic

By ROBERT MUSEL

NEW YORK (UPI) — It doesn't happen very often but when it does you have a memory to cherish like a family heirloom. In a rehearsal room in a grubby street on the wrong side of Central Park, Barry Sullivan and George C. Scott wove an afternoon of theatrical magic for the benefit of half a dozen onlookers.

Technicians do not applaud or they would have shaken the walls of the old hotel. All that anyone lucky enough to have been there can hope is that the same quality is caught by the NBC-TV cameras this week in London where Sullivan and Scott and David Burns and Colleen Dewhurst have gone to tape Arthur Miller's play "The Price".

Before the final rehearsal producer David Susskind was chatting about how bored he is with television and how he sees his future mainly in films.

Yet when Scott uttered the curtain line of the play the veteran producer, obviously moved, walked over to Sullivan and to the other members of the cast, and said, simply, "My thanks".

"Ths cast", he exulted later, "tops anything they had in the Broadway version. I'd rather do Miller than any other 10 playwrights in the world. He hits you between the eyes with truth."

Scott, he said, was the greatest actor in the world today and Sullivan had been lifted to the top of his form by "playing with the champ". And he went happily off to pack for the journey to London, where taping is cheaper, not as firm in his resolve to diminish his interest in TV as he had been.

Sullivan's own considerable gifts might be less underrated in some circles if he had the drive and ambition to match his abilities. But he prefers to loaf on his hilltop in California, working mostly under the pressure of alimony payments to two of his ex-wives. "I'm so lazy," he said, "that when I get a new role I ask myself, 'Can I do the part without shaving?'

"This play", he went on, "must be the document of the year. I didn't want to leave home but who can say no to an Arthur Miller play? He overwrites, but he disturbs you. He's the best American playwright alive. I would have been happy to do the part for nothing which, come to think of it, was what Susskind was trying to get me to do."

Sullivan, who is well remembered for the Caine Mutiny court martial and many other fine stage, screen and tv performances, has a thoughtful theory to explain why network efforts to run regular series of major plays have never succeeded.

"When you go to a play in the theatre that's your entertainment for the night", he said. "You think about it, digest it. But on TV it's only one item in a whole night of viewing. Your critical and perceptive sense is so diluted the play cannot register as it should. Too often it becomes just another program."

"The Price" is scheduled for Feb. 3 on the Hallmark Hall of Fame.

House Odds Lose In Casino Theft

They left three employes locked in the casino's vault, which they had cleaned out at gunpoint. Two cashiers and a security guard were handcuffed together with their mouths taped.

Witnesses said the two men walked out of the casino into an adjacent parking lot and disappeared.

Big Sweep Rejuvenates Oakland Title Hopes

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

But he couldn't quite deny there was something special about collecting two homers and driving in six runs Sunday in the Oakland A's doubleheader sweep before the largest crowd of the season in Minnesota.

When the former Twin was asked if there was extra satisfaction in beating his old teammates, he smiled, "I can't say that, but anytime you hit two homers and drive in six runs in front of 40,000 screaming people, there is a certain amount of satisfaction."

Mincher was 2-for-3 in each game as the A's won by 3-0 and 6-3 margins before 41,339 Twin fans to keep the Twins from making a runaway of the Western Division race. The California Angels beat Chicago to move within seven games of the Twins and the A's are eight games back.

Until this sweep, the A's were 5-13 and 1-8 against the Twins the past two years, but manager John McNamara thinks things are going to change now.

PLENTY OF TIME

"I think we proved to a lot of fans and ourselves today that we can still beat this team. I know we're a long way back, but there's still plenty of time to go and today may have given us the confidence we need," he said.

Mincher played with the Twins from 1961 to 1966 and was the club's starting first baseman in the 1965 World Series. He was traded to California and picked up by Seattle in the expansion draft before being traded to Oakland last January.

He hit a run-scoring double and a run-scoring single in the first game to back Chuck Dobson's four-hit pitching. In the second game, he hit a three-run homer and then snapped a 3-3 tie with a solo homer in the seventh for the deciding run.

Two other former Twins, Jim Roland and Jim (Mudcat) Grant, helped in the second game. Roland relieved starter John Odom in the sixth and got the victory with 2 1-3 innings of no-hit relief ball. Grant pitched the final 1 1-3 innings and got the save.

CAL SWEEP

In other games, California beat Chicago twice 5-0 and 6-3, New York topped Baltimore 6-4 in 11 innings but lost the second game in 11 innings, 12-9, Milwaukee edged Kansas City 4-2, Boston topped Detroit 7-4 and Washington beat Cleveland 7-3, then lost the second game, 6-3.

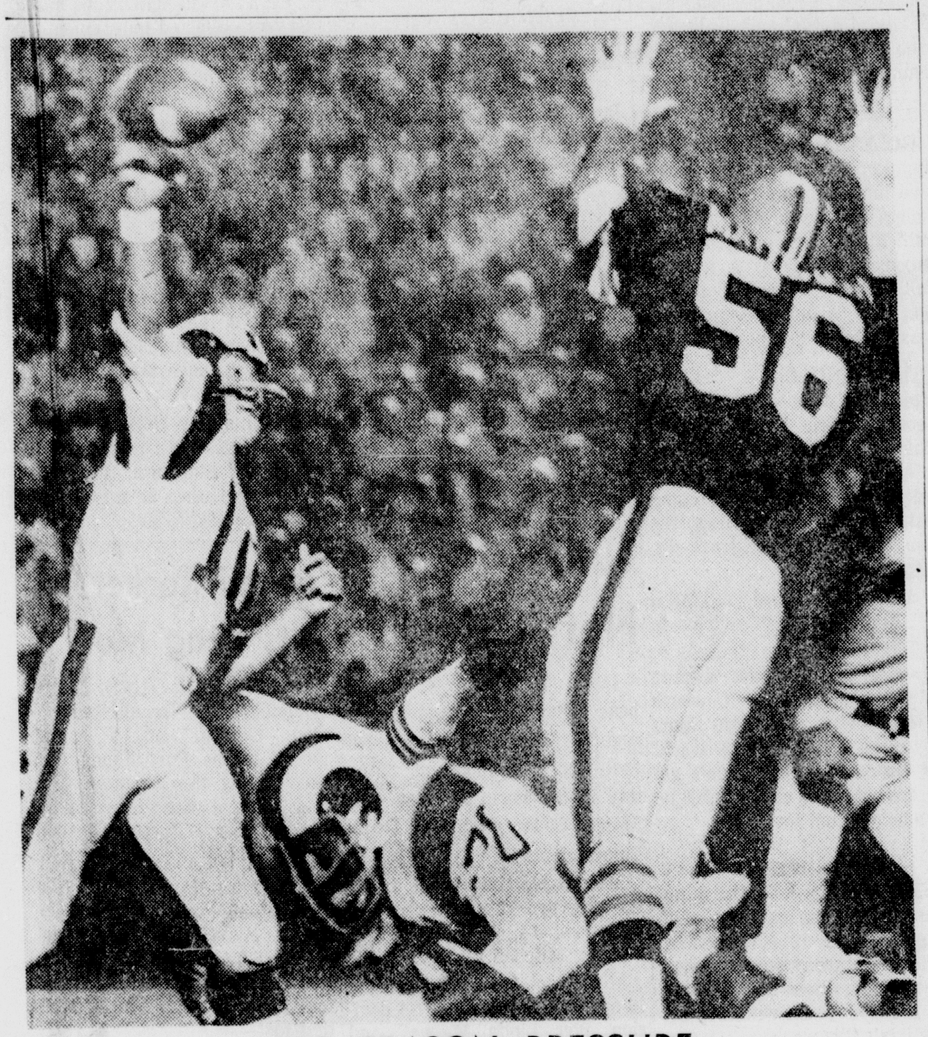
California took advantage of the Oakland sweep by winning two from Chicago to remain in the West race. Clyde Wright and Mel Queen combined on a three-hitter to win the first game. In the second Bill Voss, Tom Egan and winning pitcher Tom Murphy walked with the bases loaded in the second inning to give the Angels a 3-0 margin. Eddie Fisher saved the second game with a three-inning relief stint.

Baltimore maintained its 9½ game lead over New York by splitting a doubleheader with the Yanks. Roy White tied the first game with a two-out single in the ninth and won it with his 15th home in the 11th.

The Yanks also tied the second game in the ninth—this time on Jerry Kenney's run-scoring single. But Baltimore won it in the 11th with a three-run rally started by Don Buford's run-scoring single. Baltimore used six pitchers in the first game and New York came back with eighti n twelve and the two-game total of 21 tied an A.L. record.

San Rafael Li'l League Stars Go Down Swinging

END OF THE LINE — San Rafael's Jeff Knotts (12) was thrown out at home plate in first inning and it signalled the beginning to the end for the Marin County Little League champions as they lost to Concord, 9-2, in Sectional Tournament finals at Novato. Making the putout is Concord catcher Mark Spanka.
(Independent-Journal photo)



PRE SEASON PRESSURE

Concord Wins Tournament

"You have to be 'up' for every game and get all the breaks to go all the way in Little League tournament play. Well, today we just weren't up for it, but we're proud of the boys for as far as they got."

With that, Manager Henry Knotts stored away the bats and balls for the 1970 baseball season after his San Rafael American League All-Stars were eliminated from the Little League Sectional Tournament at Rancho School, Novato, by the Concord National League, 9-2

A capacity crowd saw the Concordians spot San Rafael a 2-0 lead in the first inning, then come roaring back with five runs in the bottom of the first. They punctuated the run-away with three home runs producing the final four markers.

FINE PLAYS

"Yes, they were a good hitting team," said Knotts, "and they also turned in some fine defensive plays. Particularly by that boy Rick Lambert at second base." Lambert made two fine plays that robbed Jim Bell out of base hits in the first and sixth innings.

"That seemed to be one of our problems," Knotts added. "We hit the ball well, but most of the time right at somebody. We went down swinging."

San Rafael, which had won five consecutive games to get to the Sectional finals, started with a bang Saturday when Jeff Knotts and starting pitcher Gary Johns drove home Bryan Shelly and Danny Helms for a 2-0 first inning lead. Knotts was thrown out at the plate and Lambert's sparkling play at second base deprived San Rafael of at least two more runs.

SHUTS DOOR

After that, Concord's Kurt Schneider shut the door on San Rafael while his mates roared back with five runs in the first on three hits, a walk, a hit batter and two errors.

Concord continued the assault with Schneider's two-run home run in the second inning and back-to-back homers by Carl Allen and Tim Trice in the fourth providing the cushion.

Concord advances to the Divisional Championships next weekend at Concord.

San Rafael collected five hits Saturday — a double and single by Johns and singles by Shelly, Knotts and Leoncini.

Rincon Valley of Santa Rosa won third place in the tournament Saturday by edging Washington of the Sacramento region by a 6-4 margin.

Beard Takes A Big Gulp For $30,000

He sank a 20-foot putt to save par on the first hole of the final round in the $50,000 American Golf Classic and that seemed to do the trick.

From then it was downhill for Beard as he pocketed the $30,000 first prize money for his 276 total over the 7,180-yard Firestone Country Club course, two shots better than Jack Nicklaus, Tommy Aaron and Bruce Crampton.

"I guess if anything won the tournament for me," Beard said, "it was that putt on the first hole. It took what was getting to be a pretty big lump out of my throat."

Beard hit his tee shot into the rough. His second went into a trap at the left of the green and he blasted out 20 feet short. With a bogey five and the possibility of losing his one shot lead staring him in the face, the Louisville, Ky. golfer calmly drilled in the putt.

It was his putting again that Beard gave credit for the win.

"The good putting continued," Beard said. "I didn't play too well, but my putting picked me up."

AARON'S TROUBLES

Beard and Aaron, his playing partner, played on even terms until Aaron ran into trouble midway through the back nine.

Aaron's downfall actually came on the par four, 460-yard 13th hole when his second shot hit a cart path and went into some trees. He took two shots to get on the green from there and wound up with a double bogey six.

"Although I was shooting some good scores," Aaron said, "I hadn't been hitting the ball good all week. You can get away with that with your short irons, but it shows up in your long irons.

"I came to the course two hours early today to try to work something out," Aaron said.

FRANK BEARD
$30,000 gulp

Nicklaus, who had several putts stop just short of the hole or spin in and out in the last round, was about the only other threat to Beard, although Crampton finished only two shots behind.

NO BIRDIES

Crampton, who won the $50,000 first prize in the Westchester Classic the previous week, never made a birdie in the final round and finished with a one over 71.

Nicklaus' putt on the 18th hole from about 20 feet away hit the center of the cup and spun out.

"I think 99 out of 100 times that ball would have stayed in," Nicklaus said, "but it didn't. It wasn't going that fast.

Unser, Smothers Win At Ontario

ONTARIO, Calif. (UPI)—A team of former Indianapolis champion Bobby Unser and comedian Dick Smothers Sunday captured the pro-am celebrity race over the Ontario Motor Speedway's 3.19-mile road course. The race—with each team driving Porsche 914s—was watched by a crowd of 10,891, which was in attendance for dedication ceremonies for the $25.5 million raceway.

The track will open with the California 500, a U.S. Auto Club event, Sept. 6.

THE SEASONED ROOKIE

Raiders' Stabler Sharp

By STEVE TOOMAJIAN

OAKLAND (UPI)—Ken Stabler is making a strong bid to become the first pro football player to earn the five-year pension plan without ever becoming a veteran.

The lefthanded quarterback, embarking on his third year with the Oakland Raiders, is the sole possessor of a unique category best described as "seasoned rookie."

ij Sports

Monday, August 10, 1970 Independent-Journal, 25

The performance was even more impressive than his original debut in 1969 when he fired a pair of scoring passes in a rookie contest against the Dallas Cowboys.

The Raiders had waited anxiously for that 1969 showing, since Stabler was forced to sit out 1968 following knee surgery. After the one-game initiation last August, he left the Raiders for well hidden "personal reasons."

BACK AGAIN

Finally, the rookie is back again. His immediate goal is to earn the reserve quarterback job behind Daryle Lamonica. He has the physical tools to contest Lamonica's supremacy, but that challenge will have to wait until Stabler has gained

San Rafael, Drake Win DiMag Titles

Holiday Magic of San Rafael in the Northern Division and Drake in the South are the final winners of the 1970 Marin County Joe DiMaggio Baseball League, but it took make-up games over the weekend to settle both races.

Terra Linda, which had led the Northern Division most of the season, lost a continuation of a protest game with Annex Motors of Novato Friday, 6-5. Holiday Magic cinched the championship that evening with a 6-0 win over San Marin.

In the South the Drake Pirates sat by while the Italian Club blew a chance to tie for the title by losing Saturday to the Presidio, 1-0.

Giants Gain On The Wrong Team In Race For Second

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Unfortunately for the San Francisco Giants they picked up ground on the wrong ball club.

The Giants, who feel they have a chance to finish second, gained ground on first place in the National League West Sunday by splitting a doubleheader with the Houston Astros, winning the nightcap behind Gaylord Perry, 6-1, after the Astros took the opener, 7-5 in 10 innings.

The Giants started the day seven games behind the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers and a distant and almost uncatchable 21 games behind the first-place Cincinnati Reds, but the Dodgers beat the Reds twice Sunday and today the Giants are eight games behind second.

"That doesn't bother me," said Giants skipper Charlie Fox before taking his club on a nine-game road trip which starts in Chicago on Tuesday afternoon. "If we can stay healthy and play the way we have the last two weeks I think we can finish second."

While Perry rolled on to his 16th victory with an eight-hit, five-strikeout performance, Juan Marichal stumbled again.

The Astros reached Marichal for nine hits and three runs in seven innings, widened their lead to 5-1 against Don McMahon in the eighth, and then saw the Giants almost steal it from them in the ninth, the way they had Saturday.

Willie Mays, who won Saturday's game with a two-run ninth-inning single, got the Giants close this time with a two-run homer in the eighth, his 22nd. Then, run-scoring singles by Tito Fuentes and Willie McCovey, who had six hits in nine at-bats during the doubleheader, tied it at 5-5 in the ninth.

Kenny Henderson followed McCovey's hit with a walk to fill the bases but Jack DiLauro, the fifth Houston pitcher, got Dick Dietz on a fly to center which almost fell in.

Dietz was caught in a rundown after leaving third, but got back when Hart was nailed coming in from second. Dietz then stepped off the bag momentarily, and Gladding got him too. 'Shoe' Passes Milestone, Nears Record

DEL MAR, Calif. (UPI)— With No. 6,000 under his belt at the age of 38, Bill Shoemaker has to be considered a threat to become the first man ever to ride 7,000 winners.

The veteran jockey recorded the 5,999th and 6,000th victories of his illustrious career at Del Mar Saturday to move to within 32 of Johnny Longden's all-time record set in 1966.

Shoemaker, who will celebrate his 39th birthday on Aug. 19, said he wanted to continue after breaking Longden's record.

"I still enjoy it out there," he said. "Maybe not as much all the time as I once did but it's fun for me. I plan to keep it up a few more years at least."

Shoemaker's 6,000th winner came aboard Shining Count in the final race Saturday after he piloted Swift Savage to a win in the fifth event.

Recovered from a broken leg at Santa Anita in 1968 and a fractured pelvis at Hollywood Park in 1969, Shoemaker has accomplished in 22 years what it took Longden 40 years to achieve.

"John's record is the toughest of them all to crack," the veteran jockey admitted.

"It takes so long to get there and you have to be so lucky. I guess this has to be the biggest record."

Shoemaker rode his first winner at Golden Gate Fields in 1949. Since then he has captured five national riding titles and set an all-time record of 485 winners in 1953.

GOLETA, Calif. — Kevin Hardy, San Francisco 49er defensive lineman, was to remain in Goleta Valley Hospital at least until today after being knocked unconscious during a workout Friday. He suffered a concussion and is being checked for possible heart injury.

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. — After two days of retirement, George Andrie has decided to make a comeback. The all-pro defensive end returned to the Dallas Cowboys training camp yesterday, after quitting the club Friday in a contract dispute.

"It's over with and I'm glad it is," Andrie said. "I'm here to play football."

During the contract dispute both Andrie and the Cowboys agreed they were $2,000 apart on terms. Neither side would say Sunday whether Andrie got all, part or none of the $2,000 he was holding out for.

NEWPORT, R.I. — The minor damage to America's Cup challenger Gretel II of Australia, suffered Saturday on arriving at Newport, has been repaired and the 12-meter yacht will have her first trials this week.

Robert A. Byron of Sydney, a Calif., overcame some difficulty with an unfamiliar alternate shot, alternate drive style of partner in the firm which manufactured the vessel's mast, said the tab on the Gretel's rudder cracked Saturday while she was being hauled out of the water.

Gretel II is scheduled to meet the France, the French challenger, in a best-of-seven series beginning Aug. 21.

MOVE OVER, DIZZY AND PAUL

Here Come The Red Hot Perry Boys

By STU CAMEN
UPI Sports Writer

The Dean brothers, Dizzy and Paul, gained a place in the record books as baseball's best brother pitching duo when they combined for 49 victories for the 1934 St. Louis Cardinals. Dizzy won 30 games that season and Paul chipped in with 19. The Deans also combined for 47 triumphs in 1935 with Dizzy collecting 28 of them.

The Perry brothers, Gaylord of San Francisco and Jim of Minnesota, are within reach of the Dean boys' mark if they continue at their current pace. Jim leads all American League pitchers with 17 victories while Gaylord posted No. 16 Sunday with an eight-hit, 6-1 triumph over Houston in the second game of a doubleheader. The Astros beat the Giants in the opener, 7-5, in 10-innings.

While every victory notched by Jim moves Minnesota another step closer to the American League's West Division title, the only thing Gaylord gains when he pitches is possibly a fatter contract for next season as the Giants, trailing first place Cincinnati by 20 games in the National League west, have only next season to look forward to.

Gaylord became only the third pitcher in the NL to win 16 games this season, the other two are Tom Seaver of New York and Jim Merritt of Cincinnati, as the Astros could reach him for only Jim Wynn's 19th homer.

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh beat New York 8-3, Los Angeles beat Cincinnati twice, 7-3 and 13-3, Chicago and Philadelphia split with the Cubs winning the opened 4-1 and the Phils taking the nightcap, 6-1, Montreal and St. Louis also divided as the Expos won the first game 7-6 and the Cardinals took the second 4-0, and San Diego topped Atlanta, 4-2.

Willie Stargell continued his hitting spree against his Mets' "cousins" with an RBI single and a towering homer as the Pirates' victory moved them 3 1-2 games ahead of New York in the East Division. Stargell has a career batting average of .328 against the Mets and .270 against the rest of the league while 32 of his 188 career homers have come against New York. Luke Walker hurled the first seven innings for Pittsburgh to pick up his ninth win.

Los Angeles' double victory over Cincinnati cut the Dodgers' once insurmountable deficit in the West from 14 games to a still nearly insurmountable 12 games back. Ted Sizemore drove in three runs in each game as Los Angeles rapped out a total of 35 hits, 20 of them in the second contest. Reliever Jim Brewer got the win in the first game and Alan Foster went the distance for the triumph in the nightcap.

open the 10th against Rich Robertson and two outs later little Joe Morgan lined his third homer of the season over the rightfield fence at the foul pole to win it.

Robertson, having difficulty getting people out these days, suffered his eighth loss in 14 decisions and left Fox babbling to himself at why he suddenly can't pitch effectively.

The nightcap was a different story. While Perry pitched well he was helped immeasurably by four doubleplays, and by the hitting of Russ Gibson, Frank Johnson and McCovey.

Gibson drove in three runs with a double and two singles, Johnson drove in two with a double and McCovey hit two doubles and a single, drove in one run and scored two.

"We are hitting at the right times again," said Fox. "If our pitching stays together on this road trip we should finish up in good shape."

Frank Reberger, who pitched well against the Reds last week, will open the Cubs series Tuesday and will be followed by Ron Bryant and Skip Pitlock. The Cubs are expected to counter with Fergie Jenkins, Bill Hands and Milt Pappas.

Jesus Alou came home to Candlestick Park this past weekend to enjoy another fine series against his former club. Alou improved his batting average from .305 to .321 with 11 hits in 21 at-bats.

"I always liked to hit in this park," said Alou, which after the weekend sounds like the understatement of a mixed-up season for both the fifth-place Astros and third-place Giants.

UPSET — Tony Roche goes after the ball during his upset victory over fellow Australian Rod Laver in the finals of the $50,000 U.S. Professional Tennis Championships at Chestnut Hill, Mass. Roche came from the brink of defeat to hand Laver a stunning, five set loss. (UPI Telephoto)

Big Tennis Upset: Roche Jolts Laver

Those were the words of Tony Roche, the 25-year-old Australian who is the new U.S. Professional tennis champion—and he should know.

Tony was speaking of Rod Laver, the acknowledged king of the tennis world whom Roche beat in Sunday's finals, 3-6, 6-4, 1-6, 6-2, 6-2, to win the $12,000 first prize.

Roche went into the clubhouse for a 10-minute break following the third set, down two sets to one, and few in the overflow crowd of 5,000 at the Longwood Cricket Club expected Roche to last beyond the fourth set, let alone win.

FOUR STRAIGHT

Laver, who had won four straight U.S. pro titles and five of the last six, is especially tough when he is ahead. Few opponents come from behind to defeat the 5-foot-9, 150-pound redhead.

But Roche, seven years younger than Laver, did it Sunday, spoiling Laver's 32nd birthday and picking up his biggest paycheck as a pro.

To do so, however, Roche got a big assist from Laver himself, whose game fell apart in the last two sets.

Incredibly, Roche broke Laver's serve five straight times and six times altogether in those two sets. Laver had lost only two service games in winning nine straight sets in reaching the finals of the tournament for the eighth straight year.

LOST RHYTHM

"I lost my rhythm," Laver said. "It happens to all tennis players sometimes."

"I couldn't believe he was having so much trouble with his shots," Roche said. "When Rod's serve goes, his game goes too."

Not only did Laver have trouble getting his serve in with anything on it, but his usually flawless ground strokes and volleying abandoned him.

Laver recovered in his following doubles match. He and fellow Aussie Roy Emerson defeated Torben Ulrich of Denmark and Ismail El Shafei of Egypt, 6-1, 7-6, to win the doubles title.

PRO GRID ROUNDUP

Dallas Dilemma: Two Good Quarterbacks In Opener

By NEIL HERSHBERG
UPI Sports Writer

The arm of Craig Morton and the legs of Roger Staubach carried the Dallas Cowboys to a 20-10 National Football League exhibition win over the San Diego Chargers Saturday night.

When Don Meredith retired prior to the 1969 season, Morton received the starting assignment after serving a four-year apprenticeship. He showed remarkable 37 per cent passing accuracy in the early going, but suffered a shoulder separation that plagued his effectiveness the remainder of the season. Staubach, known primarily for his scrambling, is giving every indication he intends to challenge Morton for the starting assignment.

Staubach, a Heisman trophy winner out of the Naval Academy whose pro career was delayed while he served his four year Navy duty, lacks the experience Morton can claim by watching Meredith from the sidelines.

Morton and Staubach both excelled in their 1970 debut against the Chargers. Each guided the Cowboy's potent offensive attack—in their respective ways—for a half.

Morton carried the Cowboys to a 10-3 halftime lead, completing 8 of 11 passes for 77 yards. Staubach took over in the second half and ran for 71 yards in six tries, including a four-yard roll-out for a third quarter touchdown.

Who'll get the starting call on September 20 in the season opener against the Philadelphia Eagles? That poses one of the more interesting questions of pro football, 1970 style.

In other NFL action Los Angeles defeated Cleveland 30-17, Cincinnati beat Washington 27-12, Chicago downed Houston 23-13, Baltimore trounced Oakland 33-21, Kansas City tamed Detroit 30-17, the New York Jets defeated the Buffalo Bills 33-10, the New York Giants and Green Bay played to a 31-31 tie, New Orleans edged Minnesota 14-13, and Miami downed Pittsburgh 16-10.

The world champion Chiefs, stung by a 3-0 halftime deficit, fired back in the second half on touchdown interceptions by Jim Marsalis, Jerry Mays and Emmitt Thomas in manhandling the Lions.

Roman Gabriel, the most valuable player in the NFL last season, passed 37 yards to tight end Bob Klein and plunged over from six inches for third quarter touchdowns as the Rams broke open a tight game.

Jet quarterbacks Al Woodall and Babe Parilli, getting their chance in place of a missing Joe Namath, passed the Jets to a convincing win over the Bills.

The Packers, down 31-10 early in the third quarter, struck behind the passing combination of Don Horn to Jack Clancy to salvage the tie. The Giants had mounted their lead with the help of a spectacular 95-yard touchdown run with a pass interception by rookie linebacker Jim Files. A second touchdown was also set up by Files on another interception.

Doug Watt raced 50 yards with a recovered fumble in the final seconds to give New Orleans the win in the annual pro football Hall of Fame game. Watt, a rookie from Tulsa, picked up the fumble by George Kemp and scored with just four seconds remaining.

Little Cecil Turner returned a punt 66 yards for one touchdown and southpaw quarterback Bobby Douglass passed to newcomer Craig Bainham 29 yards for another to give the revamped Chicago Bears the win.

The Miami Dolphins gave new head coach Don Shula a winning debut with a victory over the punchless Pittsburgh Steelers. The Dolphins used a 10-yard touchdown burst by fullback Larry Csonka and three field goals to sink the Steelers before a rain-soaked crowd at the Gator Bowl.

Defense backs Lamar Parrish and Sandy Durko gave the Bengals their first win in new Riverfront Stadium. They capitalized on both fumble and an interception to score.

Swedes Probe Auto Speedway Tragedy

KARLSKOGA, Sweden (UPI) — Sweden's Minister of Communications Bengt Norling has asked for a detailed report on Sunday's accident in the Swedish Motor Grand Prix.

The accident, the worst in the Swedish Motor history, cost the lives of five persons while another 37 were badly or slightly injured.

The minister said he had asked for a report of the tragic accident to find out if security needs were fulfilled.

"It seems to me that too many accidents during motor races have occurred during the last period," the minister said. "I will study the report to look at the security needs for the crowd."

The cars of Swede Rune Tobiassons and Finn Pekka Virtanen hooked onto each other on a straight after an S-Curve. Both cars jumped three yards into the air before whirling over a high earth bank through a barrier. They smashed into the crowd like rockets killing four persons including 19-year-old Hans Petter Strand of Oslo, Norway. The other three killed were Swedes. A fifth victim died later at the Hospital of Oerebro.

Both drivers escaped almost uninjured.

Full House Watches Colts Top Raiders

more experience as a play caller.

Oakland coach John Madden used Lamonica during a scoreless first quarter Saturday night and let Stabler take command the rest of the way.

The former All-American from the University of Alabama displayed a smooth and confident manner as he connected on 17 of 27 attempts and threw touchdown passes of 46, 22 and 17 yards. He also fired three interceptions and fumbled once, with two of his mistakes helping Baltimore take a 10-0 lead.

"It was good experience," Stabler said following the game. "I really need to improve my play calling in the crucial situations—the third downs. But I never was uncertain out there about what to call, and my arm felt fine right from the beginning."

Madden was pleased but cautious in his appraisal.

"In three years he played only one football game, and that was against a rookie team," Madden said. "Kenny has a lot of making up to do. In general, he called a good game. And three touchdown passes isn't too bad of a night."

Morrall came in with Baltimore behind 21-17. He directed touchdown drives of 43 and 49 yards in the fourth quarter to give the Colts the victory.

The win came in Don McCafferty's first game as head coach of Baltimore. His defensive unit, particularly the line and linebackers, showed alert reactions and determination.

McCafferty may have trouble, however, finding a capable youngster to groom as an eventual successor to his two aging quarterbacks. Neither Jim Ward, Jeff Beaver nor Gordon Slade looked sharp against the Raiders.

SELLOUT CROWD

A sellout crowd of 53,519 at the Oakland Coliseum got a couple of pleasant surprises. The most significant was the brief appearance of running back Hewritt Dixon. Slowed by injuries throughout 1969, Dixon carried four times for 18 yards and showed the quickness and power which earned him 865 yards in 1968.

Larry Todd, another veteran runner, broke a tackle and outraced the secondary in completing Stabler's 46-yard touchdown play. Don Highsmith, a seldom publicized rookie from Michigan State, was the best of the first-year running backs.

The Raiders went through a routine day of drill Sunday while Madden and his assistants prepared to make deletions from the roster. The Oakland roster, now numbering 77, must be cut to 60 by Thursday.

Ashland Oil Shares Should Climb Again

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Should I hold shares of Ashland bought two years ago at 37½? — A.P. Q. I inherited 3,500 shares of Ashland Oil. My goal is growth. What do you suggest? — J.V.

A. Aside from a generous 5 per cent yield and limited further downside risk, Ashland appears to have above-average growth prospects. In addition to the prolonged bear market in oil equities, Ashland shares were further undermined by a shaky domestic gasoline price structure. With near-term prospects for a firmer tone for gas prices poor, exploration results could be a major factor in share recovery. At this time, drilling activities in Indonesia have a greater practical significance than those being carried on in Libya and offshore Ghana. Plans call for the completion of nine wells on its 60,000-acre Indonesian concession by the end of the year. A hit could be of major importance to production-weak Ashland. For the year to end September 30, earnings are expected to reach $2.30 a share, up from $2.15 in fiscal 1969. A. P. should hold for recovery. J. V. might consider reducing his top-heavy position in these shares on any further rebounds.

Q. As a result of a take-over I came into warrants of National General. I am a senior citizen, know little about securities, and less than nothing about these. What do you suggest I do with the warrants? — B. R.

A. Warrants are primarily of interest as a trding vehicle, offering the more speculative investor greater leverage with his funds. They are certainly not a suitable holding for a person in your situation. Although you have not asked, I will offer the opinion that the 4 per cent convertible subordinated debenture, which you received in the same package, is an equally inappropriate holding for you. Suggested as replacements are Boston Edison and Standard Oil of New Jersey, if income is of paramount importance, and Coca-Cola or Plough, Inc. if capital growth is your goal.

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fortune Magazine announced Monday it will print an apology in its September issue for the charges made in its August issue concerning the accounting methods of the bankrupt Penn Central Railroad.

Fortune also said it would publish in full a letter from Penn Central's tuditors, Peat, Marwick & Mitchell & Co. refuting in detail the allegations in the August article entitled "The Penn Central Bankruptcy Express" and an accompanying editorial entitled "It's Time To Call The Auditors To Account."

The Peat, Marwick letter, signed by Walter E. Hanson, senior partner, said the Fortune article had misinterpreted the auditor's approved statements by the Penn Central for 1968 and 1969 and that, far from presenting the picture of a company operating in the black, the statements had shown Penn Central to have consolidated net loss of $122 million for 1969 and a consolidated working capital deficiency of $206 million.

The announcement by Fortune conceded that the article was in error on all the points raised in Hanson's letter and expressed regret therefor.
